

JUNIOR NEGATIVES BEAT SOPHOMORE DEBATING TEAM

The sophomore affirmative, composed of Leneve Stinkins, Barbara Drury, and Robert Frye, were unanimously defeated by the junior negative, composed of Charles Barnes, Norris Porter and George Winne in a debate held at the junior high school at 1:49 o'clock this afternoon. The judges of this debate were: Mrs. Church, Mr. Netzel, and Mr. Keese. These debaters were from the senior high school.

The sophomore negative, composed of Earl Carlin, Fred Colvig and Doris Bundy, debated against the junior affirmative, William Daugherty, Bob Carter and Josephine Taylor at the senior high school. The sophomores were defeated in this debate by a 3 to 0 decision of the judges.

Earl Carlin, first speaker on the negative, brought out the points of vocational education; Fred Colvig, agriculture extension work and Doris Bundy the legality of the subject. Miss Bundy also gave the rebuttal speech for the negative.

William Daugherty, first speaker for the affirmative, discussed vocational education; Bob Carter, forest fire prevention, National guard, and public health, and Josephine Taylor brought out points on vocational rehabilitation and highway construction. William Daugherty gave the rebuttal speech for the affirmative.

The judges for this debate were Miss Mary Gilbert, Mr. C. D. Thompson and Mr. E. M. Husong. The names of the pupils chosen to represent the high school in interschool debates will be announced in a short time.

The subject that is being debated this year is resolved: "That federal subsidies to the states, with supervision, should be abandoned."

DUCK BAG LIMIT PROPOSAL MADE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—(AP) A proposal that Oregon and California join in reducing the bag limit on ducks to 15 a day and 30 a week was approved by the state game commission in session here. It was decided to submit the matter to the sportsmen throughout the state for comment before taking definite action, however. The present bag limit in Oregon is 25 a day and 30 a week.

A loaf of bread 60 feet long was baked in Minneapolis. In such a case half a loaf would be 30 feet better than none.

WATCH DIAL PAINT KILLS INVENTOR VON SOCHOCKY

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 14. (AP)—Dr. Sabin VonSochoky died today, a victim of the luminous paint which he had invented for the painting of watch dials in the plant of the United States Radium corporation, formerly located in Orange. Deaths of a half dozen women, who were employed in the plant to paint watch dials, have been attributed to the assimilation of radio active substances.

A plastic anemia was given as the cause of the inventor's death. He had been ill for several months and resorted to in an effort to save his life.

Last May the United States Radium corporation allowed five women, alleged to be suffering from the same poisoning, the sum of $10,000 each, annuities of $600 each and the cost of legal expenses and medical treatment.

The allowances were made in settlement of suits for $1,250,000. Physicians said today that deposits of radio-active matter in the bones of the victim had stilled the action of the blood supply agencies of the body and caused death.

Dr. VonSochoky was technical director of the United States Radium corporation. He had been associated for many years with institutions using radium in the treatment of disease.

He was 45 years old and a native of Austria. He came to the United States 12 years ago and invented his formula for luminous paint in 1920.

SNOW THREATENS TRAFFIC HOLDUP ON M'KENZIE PASS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Seven inches of snow was reported on McKenzie pass and the Oregon State Motor association expected momentarily to hear of cars being forced back before reaching the summit. Motorists bound for the Siskiyou were advised to carry chains.

With 21 inches of snow reported at Anna Spring camp and blocking the Medford Klamath Falls loop highway, the Crater Lake national park was well blanketed for the winter.

A light snowfall, the first of the season, was reported at Bend.

PORTUGUESE WOULD FLY TO AFRICAN DEPENDENCY

LISBON (AP)—Three aviators, Captain Pais Ramos, Captain Viegas and Lieutenant Esteve, are awaiting the permission of the Minister of War to fly from Portugal to the Portuguese West African colony of Angola. It is not yet decided who the fourth man will be.

carry on in every state the essential day to day maintenance of party organization.

"The assurance of Gov. Smith that the Democratic party is not merely a minority party, but stands so close to actual victory that a ten per cent change in the vote could have elected a Democratic president will do much to hearten the easily discouraged and assist in bringing unity to the rank to come."

Water Warns

Marvin also declared that had the lifeboats been sound and properly launched there would have been no loss of life, since the water, though rough from recent storms, was warm. However, he said, the sea was at no time so turbulent that the boats could not have been navigated.

Marvin indicated that many of the crew, still unaccounted for, might have gone down with the ship. She dropped suddenly, the old man said, and only a few of the boats were what he would call filled.

George Santanna of New York told the story of Captain Carey's disappearance.

Santanna asserted he tried to reach three lifeboats, but each denied him entrance. He couldn't swim and had put on a lifebelt before the ship sank.

"I found myself on the top side," he continued, "alone, save for Captain Carey. He was wearing a heavy top coat, but no lifebelt. The ship began sinking fast. You could feel her going down beneath you."

"Then we went down, it seemed a huge wave was pouring over us and the captain and myself were both in the water. We were drawn down by the suction. I came up and reached for a floating box. I didn't see the captain again. I don't know how long I floated, but finally was picked up by lifeboat number 5."

"I had been swimming after the boat for some time, but the negro members of the crew rowed away."

"Other people were begging to get aboard, too, but the negroes didn't seem to want any more aboard. But Chief Engineer Adams made them stop and we swam to the boat and were taken in."

P. A. Dana, South American representative of the Radio Corporation of America, and Mrs. Clara Ball of Pleasantville, N. Y.

a stewardess, had clung to debris for nearly 24 hours before they were picked up. It was these two whom Captain Schuyler Cummings of the American shipper had called "two of the luckiest people I ever met."

Dana was in the next to last lifeboat to leave the Vestris. The little craft turned over as it hit the water and its passengers, including 19 women and several children, were scattered by the waves.

Dana, himself, was swept a distance of 100 yards. Then he looked back and saw the women and youngsters clinging to the boat.

He tried to swim back, but at that moment the Vestris went down and he had to swim for his life to escape the terrific suction.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Only four lifeboats were lowered from the sinking steamer Vestris, one survivor reported today. One of those was stove in while being lowered and two others capsized, throwing their occupants into the water. A fifth boat broke away from the ship and many swimming passengers climbed into it. The information about the lifeboats was given by T. E. Mack, an electrical construction superintendent in Brazil whose home is in Teekla, Wyo., with his co-worker, O. L. Maxey of Richmond, Va., he was rescued by the steamer Berlin.

Mack said that the Vestris was battered by such a storm soon after she left New York Saturday last Sunday the waves washed the furniture in the dining saloon overboard. All that night the storm continued to rage.

"In the morning," Mack said, "the sea was calmer, but the ship continued listing more and more until by 10 o'clock the starboard rail of the promenade deck was under water. Then the captain ordered everybody up and the boats lowered away on the port side. It took two hours to lower four boats to within 10 or 15 feet of the water.

"The captain seemed calm enough," Mack said, "but very undecided as to what procedure to
