ASHLAND LEGION HAS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE FOR WEEK

ASHLAND, Ore., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Ashland post of the American Legion has started a campaign for new members in harmony with the nation-wide effort to increase the membership of the organization during Armistice week. Hubert Bentley and Ralph Bowen are the captains, each having 10 teams of two men each. A separate team of disabled men will be captained by William Drummond of Siskiyou. The week before Thanksgiving a big turkey and chicken shoot will be staged under the chairmanship of William Greenbrenner.

The student body of the Southern Oregon normal school held a meeting at which Riley Pittenger submitted plans for a budget system which was adopted. It becomes effective at once and provides that 50 per cent of the funds shall go to athletic activities, 17 1/2 per cent for social activities, 7 1/2 per cent for oratory and debate, 7 1/2 per cent to the student loan fund, 5 per cent for publications and 8 per cent for miscellaneous expenses. The financial problems of the student body are expected to be solved by this plan and apportionment of the funds.

On Friday evening at the Congregational church on the Boulevard the members and friends of the church assembled for a social time and to welcome visitors from the northern part of the state. Rev. C. H. Harrison of Portland, Congregational superintendent for the state; Rev. H. C. Stover, pastor of Knight Memorial Congregational church at Salem; Rev. Chas. E. Ward, pastor of the First Congregational church at Salem, and Mrs. Ward were the visiting members of the denomination.

Mrs. Ward was formerly Miss Norma Minkler of Ashland and is a granddaughter of Mrs. Carrie Minkler on C street.

After a short business meeting at 5:15 a big covered dish dinner was served by the ladies of the church. At the tables sat about 100 friends and members of the local church.

Following the meal Rev. Harrison spoke briefly and introduced Rev. Stover, who gave a short and very interesting address on "Fellowship of the Churches." Next Rev. Ward spoke on the "History of Congregationalism," calling attention in a very entertaining manner to the beginnings and progress of the denomination, both with regard to religious and educational development.

Mrs. Ward responded to the call for a speech by saying she had come to visit again at her old childhood home and to meet so many of her friends. Mrs. Ward became affiliated with the local church at the age of three years and remained a member until she went away to school.

Various problems of the church at Ashland were considered for the coming year and a spirit of cheerful optimism prevailed throughout. Under the leadership of Rev. Chas. D. Gaffney the church has prospered with an ever widening influence. The church is particularly fortunate in having an unusually large body of young people actively interested in the work of the church and its subsidiary organizations.

The members of the Kiwanis club entertained about 33 of their friends at their regular weekly luncheon at the Liffala Springs hotel. The occasion was "Farmer's Day" and the speaker was Arthur B. Cordley, dean of the agricultural department of Oregon State college at Corvallis. The dean spoke in a very interesting manner of the new plan of education, illustrating it by saying that 25 years ago if anyone wanted to know how to handle a codlin moth situation, for example, the plan was to hunt up all the books that had been written on the subject and report, whereas the new plan is to get hold of the moth, study it from every angle and then make a report.

In the absence of President Fred Engle, who was at home with a mild attack of the "flu," Vice-President Wm. P. Walter acted as chairman of the meeting, introducing A. C. Joy, who in turn introduced the speaker. In all, about 70 were present at the luncheon.

Pat Hayes, a livestock man from Idaho, was in Ashland the past week looking up opportunities for engaging in the cattle business in this section.

Active People want and need sugar

The "Fuel of Preference" in the body

AN EMINENT food authority recently stated that any person who has a very active body is likely to be always on the edge of the sugar reserve in his body (glycogen). "That is why," he said, "the soldier and athlete wants and needs sugar. That is why the active child wants and needs sugar." He went on to explain that sugar is the fuel of preference in the body, that sugar can be more easily and quickly converted into energy than any other food. He emphasized the fact that sugar should form a part of the regular diet of every family and that any reducing diet, as well as any other diet, should contain sugar.

The best way for sugar to be eaten is as a flavorer of other foods. In that way, it serves the double purpose of furnishing energy to the body and also of adding appetizing delight to other healthful foods. Sugar added to healthful grain cereals makes them welcome and enjoyable to growing children. Think of how many health-giving fruits are objectionable to the taste without sugar. Scientists tell us that we need the daily roughage of salads as well as cooked fruits and vegetables. Any good cook knows that adding sugar makes all of these welcome and pleasant to the palate. In addition to being the best and cheapest fuel for the body, sugar is nature's perfect flavor. It makes nearly all other foods more enjoyable. For health and enjoyment, there is no substitute for sugar. The Sugar Institute.
