

OFFICERS SEEKING RUNAWAY GIRLS FROM WOLF CREEK

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Nov. 20.—(P)—Letha Munkers, Phyllis Daniels and Eva McIntosh, all 14-year-old Wolf Creek high school girls were found hiking along the highway six miles from home today, after having been missing since yesterday morning.

The girls, who started for school yesterday morning and did not report, state that they went for a hike in the mountains near their home and had stayed out all night, building a huge fire to keep warm. The girls were found by Sheriff W. M. Hayes of Josephine county.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 20.—(P)—Three 14-year-old high school girls of Wolf Creek, who disappeared yesterday after starting for school, were being sought today by officers of Douglas, Josephine and Jackson county. The girls were Letha Munkers, Edna McIntosh and Phyllis Daniels. They were last seen when they entered an automobile about a half mile from the schoolhouse, and reports at first feared they had been kidnaped. The car was traced as far as the road that turns off the highway into Glendale.

School mates of the girls today told officers that the trio had been planning for two weeks to run away from home. One girl said she had planned to go with them, but changed her mind when final preparations were considered. All of the girls had bundles of clothes with them, officers learned.

A young mill worker at Glendale who was said to have been keeping company with one of the girls was questioned last night but denied having met the girls.

Piece of Cheese

Proud Possession of Swiss Village

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 20.—(P)—The oldest cheese in existence is among the proud possessions of the village of Sierre.

It is a cheese of the Swiss persuasion, weighing 14 lbs. Its age, 150 years, is guaranteed by a declaration of the owner and an attestation of the communal authorities, which records the name of its maker and a list of the persons who have successfully inherited it.

It was made in the month of June, 1778, and created an heirloom in commemoration of a happy event in the family of its maker. Ever since it has been handed down from father to son.

PEIRY REVIEWS GAME

He slinked down behind John Butler and yelled: "Never say die, boys!"

How Mann would have enjoyed the contest. His absence was the only blue note of a very pleasant afternoon. But Peiria did more laughing than three ordinary men. The undersigned never saw a happier human. He was accompanied by William Lydiard.

There were many Medford women present. It beats all how good-looking they are—away from home!

The Portland papers give the game considerable prominence. The Journal headlined the result across its building edition. The Oregonian features it on its first edition sports section. The Portland Telegram is silent, but may speak loud later.

Stadleman, University of Oregon center, graced The Dalles bench. He was the first to congratulate Pink Callison. Stadleman is the idol of The Dalles.

The might and brain of the Medford squad was a revelation to all. The Callison crew played a cocky game. They came on the field that way. They walked, talked, and acted like champions. But they did not boast. As many remarked: "They are such gentlemen!"

People are talking about Medford's football team, and none of them ever heard of the fine fishing in the Rogue, of which one hears so much.

L. H. Gregory wrote in today's Oregonian:

Figures compiled by Paul McDonald, a Medford football enthusiast, show the extent of the southern Oregon team's superiority:

Medford gained 427 yards from scrimmage to 87 by The Dalles. Medford completed five forward passes in nine attempts for 174 yards, to two completions by The Dalles in 12 attempts for 53 yards. The Dalles fumbled five times, and three of the five fumbles were very costly. Medford converting them into touchdowns on a few plays. Medford fumbled twice, but was following the ball so closely that both were recovered.

All told, Medford made 601 yards on passes and scrimmage plays to The Dalles' 146. Medford made eight touchdowns first downs to four for The Dalles. This relatively small number of Medford first downs was due to the fact that so many of her long runs resulted in touchdowns.

Individual scrimmage gains were as follows:

For Medford: Melvin 34, Harrell 17, Cookie 11, Anderson 4, Garnett 3 and Applegate 12. For The Dalles: Ward 34, Miles 19, Westlund 17, Cyphers 4 and Morast 2.

SCENES OF JAPAN'S ENTHRONEMENT CEREMONIES

Lavishly decorated with golden chrysanthemums and silk hangings, the city of Kyoto was the scene of elaborate enthronement ceremonies for Hirohito, one hundred twenty-fourth emperor of Japan. Upper left: Shinto priests examining heads of sacred rice for great thanksgiving, most ancient rite of enthronement. Below are drums and gongs used in ceremony of ascending the throne. Upper right: Baron Tanaka, the prime minister, chief representative of emperor's subjects at ceremonies. Lower right: Costume worn by high officials at ceremony.

WINTER TOURISTS RUSH TO FLORIDA OVERSEAS ROUTE

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—The ever-increasing number of automobile tourists who do not let season nor weather deter them from roaming are pointing their cars now toward temperate climes. The new overseas highway from Miami to Key West is expected to get a heavy baptism as a result.

The overseas highway rides over the Gulf of Mexico, the southernmost link of America's Atlantic coastal highway system. It was completed last January after years of dreaming and civil engineering, and its real test of popularity is expected to come this winter.

For 130 miles it straddles the Florida Keys, cutting through forests of Madroa mahogany, the giant red and curly gumbo limbo, buttonwood and black mangrove over the beauty of changing tinted water and along the reaches of sparkling sand.

It winds its smooth way clear to Key West, and there the motorist can ferry across to Havana.

The first proponents of a motor highway running the Florida Keys to Key West were called visionary dreamers. But in 1916 a $100,000 bond issue made possible a start of the work. There was a second bond issue of $300,000 in October, 1923. Within a year the scoters were sold on the idea and a $2,650,000 bond issue was voted which financed the work to completion. The actual construction of the road was begun in August, 1924, so it was completed in little more than three years.

It is the only road of its kind in America, a tropical sea-going highway, and the motorist who "steps on it" over its well-oiled surface undoubtedly will never stop to think of the stupendous engineering problems that were surmounted in its construction—road bed fills in some places went to a 12-foot depth.

President Machado of Cuba in September, the American Automobile association points out, abolished customs duty on automobiles from the United States so Americans may take their own cars to Cuba for 30 days now with the minimum of details and without extra expense.

SHANGHAI.—(P)—The Chinese National Anti-Japanese association organization sponsoring the anti-Japanese boycott, resulted in the Sino-Japanese clashes in Shanghai last May, is attempting to inaugurate a campaign of ridicule against Chinese merchants who refuse to stop dealing in Japanese goods.

Governor Issues Proclamation for Thanksgiving Day

SALISBURY, Ore., Nov. 20.—(P)—Governor Patterson yesterday issued the annual Thanksgiving proclamation: "Let us on this day give thought to man's fellowship with nature in achieving the fruits of the harvest." It concludes: "Let us confirm and strengthen the ties of family life and renew the bond of health and home. Let us express our gratitude for peace by expending the spirit of good-will to all the world, and for prosperity by lending generous and kindly aid to those in sorrow of need; let us give thanks for man's J.J. material blessings by turning our minds and hearts to the things of the spirit."

Bull Throws Swords

MEXICO CITY (P)—A curious accident occurred at a recent bull fight here, in which a spectator was seriously injured. When the matador endeavored to drive his sword into the neck of the bull, the animal, holding the weapon from him with such force that it sailed into the grandstand, burying itself in the body of the spectator.

To Banish Beggars

MEXICO CITY (P)—Mexico City's streets are to be cleared of beggars. Inspector General of Police Rios Zertuche, holding that the many wars, cripples and others who seek alms in the capital's streets constitute an eyesore to the city, has ordered that they be rounded up and sent to the public poorhouse.

Having no other instruments at hand but W. W. Council removed a patient's tonsils with a jack knife at a remote settlement in Alaska.

MEXICAN SCRIBES PACK PISTOLS AS WELL AS PENCILS

MEXICO CITY (P)—It is no commonplace in a Mexican newspaper office for a reporter, when he sits down to his desk, to take out his pistol and cartridge belt as it is in the United States for a news hound to remove his coat when he starts to write.

Almost every reporter here carries a pistol, as do most men whose work requires them to be abroad at night—as well as a great many who have not that excuse for their armament.

Mexican reporters always have a good old standby to exercise their pen—and one no city editor in this land can scoff. "Sorry," says the reporter, "Got held up in the third ward. They took everything except my shirt. They got the drop on me before I could get my gun. Had to walk to the office. Say, couldn't advance me ten pesos 'till Saturday, could you?" The city editor cannot challenge the story, whether or not he comes across with the ten. The chances are the city editor has been held up himself more than once.

He knows such things are not jokes, even if the reporter is stalling in this particular case.

The Associated Press bureau in Mexico City has a rule that upon entering the office members of the staff must place their pistols in a drawer. The reason is that the city editor's desk is crowded with his typewriter, and once moved off as he writes, it explodes as when it hit the floor, and would have hit a more or less promising correspondent had he been at that time at his desk where he belonged.

The big bullet hole just above the desk was the pride of the office and the joy of all visitors until a red-headed carpenter repaired it one day when no one noticed what he was doing until it was too late.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD BY MISS TRUMBULL

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 20.—(P)—Miss Florence Trumbull, the daughter of Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut, told newspaper men today that she and John Coolidge, son of the president, would be married, but not in the White House.

"Are you and John Coolidge going to have a White House wedding?" she was asked, as she reached the city with her father and mother to attend the governors' conference.

"No, it won't be a White House wedding," she replied, blushing.

"Has there been any formal announcement of the engagement?"

"Not yet," she said.

"You don't deny it by any chance, do you?" pursued her questioner.

"Oh, no," she said.

"In fact, the engagement is accepted among all your friends, isn't it?"

"Oh, yes," she smiled. "It seems to be accepted everywhere."

THRILL MURDER HORRIFIES POLES

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 20.—(P)—This city was horrified today by a youthful "thrill murder."

The 16-year-old son of a cab driver of the name of Jelimek and 15-year-old son of a merchant of the name of Grzesiak confessed to the murder of Thaddeus Strenkowski, 16, son of a shoemaker. They explained that they intended to become robbers and that they had used young Strenkowski for a practice case. Both boys appeared saturated with ideas gleaned from crime reports in newspapers and from highly colored literature dealing with the underworld.

AMMUNITION FACTORY EXPLODES IN FRANCE

VINCENNES, France, Nov. 20.—(P)—An ammunition factory exploded here today. Twelve persons were killed and many were injured.

The factory, which was government owned, was situated only a half mile from the walls of Paris. It was operated under supervision of the war department and the 12 dead included both soldiers and civilians.

There was no accurate estimate available of the number of injured, but it was thought to be high.
