ASHLAND HI-LITE CHOSEN NAME FOR BIG CELEBRATION

ASHLAND, Ore., Nov. 30.—(Special) Ashland High-Lite celebration has been chosen as the name for the big celebration which will be held on December 5 as a dedication of the three major municipal accomplishments of the past few months. The title was chosen out of 150 which were offered.

That lithia water will be brought into the plaza for the benefit of the tourist as well as the Ashland resident is an assured fact. Work has been going on for some time on the concrete foundation which has been completed. The fountain, which is to have a refrigeration plant, will be constructed of natural granite. It is planned to have the fountain competed for the monster celebration December 5, when Ashland will celebrate the outstanding accomplishments of the past few months.

Miss Isabelle Silver was charming hostess Friday evening when she served a delicious waffle supper at her home on the Boulevard at the close of the Southern Oregon normal school pep rally. Miss Silver's guests were Misses Etta Mathers, Merle Conklin, Veronica Williams, Margaret Benson, Ruth Purdy, Mildred Beeson, Evelyn Broron and Audrey McPherson.

Mrs. W. C. Wing has returned to Ashland after making an extended visit to relatives and friends in Canyonville and other neighboring points.

Wayne W. Wells, science teacher at the Southern Oregon normal school, will leave at noon Friday for his home near Eugene to spend the Thanksgiving vacation with his home folks.

Miss Elbert Greer of Hollywood, Cal., daughter of Mrs. Lillian Greer of Ashland, has sufficiently recovered from injuries received recently in an automobile wreck to be removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Harvey Lang, of Burbank, Cal.

Melbourne Mast, former Ashland who has been ill with bronchial pneumonia at his home in Portland, is reported to be somewhat improved. The lad's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Brant House, went to Portland to visit their grandson.

Lars Eliason of Elmhurst, Can., has arrived in Ashland to spend the winter months at the home of his sister, Mrs. Cora Kramer, who resides on Hargadine street. Mr. Eliason stopped to visit another sister, Mrs. Rickle, at Roseburg, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Camps and Miss Mildred Kaegi of Yreka spent Sunday visiting relatives in Ashland at the J. C. Kaegi home on the Boulevard and at the Jerry O'Neil and Amos Nihlger homes.

Hilly and Harry Hoxie are confined to their home on Iowa street with cases of the flu.

Mrs. Wado Gill was hostess Friday afternoon at her pleasant home on Seaside drive. Mrs. Gill served a six-course luncheon at 1 o'clock at a table beautifully decorated for the Thanksgiving season.

Yellow flowers, yellow candles and place cards and favors in yellow carried out the attractive color scheme. After luncheon the afternoon was spent at needlework. Mrs. Gill's guests were Mesdames J. E. Thornton, Sam McNair, Hal McNair, Frank Dickey and Clifford Jenkins.

A large quantity of Elks was present Saturday at the Thanksgiving smoker, an annual event with the local lodge. The proceeds from the smoker are used as a Christmas charity fund. Many of those who attended went home with turkeys, ham and other prizes. C. S. Hughes of Yreka won the main prize, a beautiful diamond brooch, and Lawrence Porter won the second prize, a tea wagon. Grover Leach won the third prize, a fine bridge lamp. At the close of the evening a boxing bout between Deane of Portland and Gene O'Grady of Ashland was taken by O'Grady in three rounds. Another event was a short contest between Laf Rosander of Ashland and Davis of Chiloquin, the decision going to Rosander after six rounds.

Marshall Dana, editor of the Oregon Journal of Portland, will be the principal speaker at the noon banquet to be held in Ashland December 5 in connection with the Hi-Lite celebration. The number of guests at the dinner will be limited to 150 as this is the maximum capacity of the dining room at the Lithia Springs hotel. The dinner is set for 12:15 and there will be several other interesting speakers on the program.

G. T. King, veteran railway mail clerk, died about 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at his home on Beach street. Mr. King was ill but a few days and death was due to pneumonia. Mr. King was about 35 years of age. He leaves a wife, three children and other relatives. The hour of the funeral has not been announced but arrangements are in charge of E. P. Dodge & Co.

Monday evening at the Presbyterian church the Ashland Music Study club held a meeting with a fine musical program in honor of the great musician, Franz Schubert, who died at the age of 31, yet in his young life composed some of the finest melodies ever written, and left his impress upon the world.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dannelly left last week for San Francisco to spend the winter in and near the city.

Elliott MacCracken, son of Dr. and Mrs. MacCracken of Ashland and who is a student at Corvallis, will spend the Thanksgiving vacation with his brother, Gordon, who is attending school at Reed college in Portland. The boys will be Thanksgiving day guests of Judge and Mrs. W. W. McCredie of Portland.

New Orleans is laying plans for a combined land plane and seaplane airport, with a tentative site on Lake Pontchartrain already selected. The site is of ample size for land planes and provides an excellent anchorage for seaplanes. It is situated on a paved road leading into the heart of the business district.

Atlantic City is preparing to redevelop Bader airport as the first step in attracting the establishment of a regular air line between the New Jersey resort and the larger Atlantic seaboard cities. City officials claim the new air line will be started as soon as the airport is ready.

One night a year—at the Gillespie ball at Balmoral Castle, Scotland—the king and queen of England enjoy dancing and playing with their subjects. Queen Mary danced every dance this year.

PLANS MADE FOR COMMUNITY HALL BAZAAR IN DERBY

DERBY, Ore., Nov. 30.—(Sp.) Mrs. Mrs. Chas Humphrey are spending a three weeks' vacation in Los Angeles. During their absence their son Robert is managing the ranch.

The P. T. A. held an enthusiastic meeting on Friday afternoon, at which time final plans were made for their bazaar to be held on December 5th in the Community hall. They will conduct their sale from 2 until 4 in the afternoon, and from 8 o'clock in the evening until the dance is over. There will be a box social, and everyone is invited to come and bring a box. There will be dainty lunches served to those who do not get boxes. The fancy work booth will have useful and attractive articles suitable for holiday gifts—pillowslips, handkerchiefs, card table sets, lunch cloths, aprons, tea towels, etc. There will be a candy booth where delicious, wholesome home-made candies will be sold. The fish pond will not be most popular of all and every article in it will be a bargain. During the evening dancing will be enjoyed on a good floor with excellent music. The committees are working hard to make the entire affair a social and financial success.

Mrs. Frank Hill has returned from a short visit with relatives in California.

The E. B. Chambers family combined business with pleasure Sunday when they delivered some turkeys and visited friends in Gold Hill and Phoenix.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Smith and Mrs. Florence Baker were shopping in Medford Saturday.

Mrs. Carlene spent the week end with relatives in Phoenix.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williams and family of Medford visited at the Fred Dunlap home Sunday afternoon.

A fire caused much excitement but little damage early Saturday morning at the home of P. N. Deen.

Mrs. Ithram Webb made a business trip to Medford Thursday.

Miss Glover, the rural school nurse, made a visit to the Derby school on Tuesday.

School was closed Thursday and Friday, allowing a generous vacation in which to celebrate Thanksgiving.

Nearly every family in the community will either go somewhere or entertain guests Thanksgiving.

Charlie Murray Here in Person Hunt's Craterian

Charlie Murray, famed stage and screen comedian, comes to Medford Sunday.—Yes, Charlie himself, here in person and he is the headline feature of Fanchon and Marco's stage presentation "Hats Idea" at Hunt's Craterian.

Never has a personage of more importance graced the stage of Hunt's Craterian theatre, for it is doubtful if there is a comedian on either stage or screen that is liked better by the general public, both for personality and comic capers, than Charlie Murray.

Manager Hunt has also booked Mr. Murray's latest comedy screen success, "Do Your Duty," for the picture attraction Sunday in conjunction with the personal appearance.

Girls being taught to "watch their step," parents to take more interest in the social life of their daughters, the machinations of those who prey upon femininity when it begins to flower, and the triumph of the church when character that is every one's right asserts itself—are depicted in the film, "The Port of Missing Girls," at the Rialto theatre.

There are plenty of opportunities to run away with the plot, certain scenes that could have been depleted so to offend good taste. There is nothing of the kind in the picture.

The characters are admirably cast throughout. Barbara Bedford as Ruth King, in the feature role, adds charm and entertainment to the picture. Malcolm McGregor, the dashing young bootlegger with a luxurious car rescues her from sailing into the infamous "port."

ROAD MEETING AT REESE CREEK FOR FIVE-YEAR PLAN

REESE CREEK, Ore., Nov. 30.—(Special)—The road meeting held at the Reese Creek school house on Saturday, November 24th, was well attended. The meeting was called to order at about 10:30 a. m. Henry French was chosen chairman; Harry Ward, clerk, and Charles L. Cummons and Jean Bellows, tellers. The object of the meeting was gone over and a general outline of what had been accomplished in the past two years given. The object of the meeting was to discuss and vote on a five-year plan to discuss and vote on a five-year plan to discuss and vote on a five-year plan.

C. W. Waddell has been very busy the past week getting his turkeys ready for market.

H. Ball and son Willard have about completed an addition on their barn which will give them some greatly needed room for stock during the winter.

Mr. Heckenburger killed some fine hogs for his winter's use.

Elmer Robertson, one of our industrious farmers, was busy hauling gravel last week, getting ready for winter.

There will be a special meeting of the Reese Creek P. T. A. December 7th at 2:30 p. m. All who can are urged to attend.

As we come up to another Thanksgiving, looking over the past year, we find much to be thankful for. We have had many of the comforts of life that many with great wealth have not enjoyed. Perhaps one of the greatest things we have to be thankful for is the fact that we are not millionaires. We are told to be content with food and raiment and in all probability if we were not content with that we would not be, though we had a million.

The all-day meeting at Reese Creek was well attended last Sunday. Rev. James Johnston, who is superintendent of Faith Home for orphan children at Corvallis, Cal., preached both in the morning and afternoon. He will preach twice next Sunday, December 2, at which time there will be a basket lunch. All are invited to come and hear this mighty man of God who by faith in God superintends a growing work of caring for children who otherwise would be neglected. There are no collections taken.
