

School Notes From the City and Valley

High School

Mr. Halg Arkin, famous American artist, entertained a large and appreciative crowd at the local high school Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Besides a large per centage of the high school pupils, there were also students from the Washington and the Junior High schools.

Mr. Arkin had a large easel to rest high, electrically lighted, from which the 15 large paintings were displayed. As each painting was shown, the history was told by the famous painter. None of the pictures shown by Halg Arkin were any of his originals, but were copies of those famous paintings in large museums of Rome, Paris and London.

Two of the famous paintings which were much appreciated by the audience were "The Virgin and Child" and "Baptism of St. John." One of the old things encountered by the locals who journeyed to Portland to take in the championship game, was that the host of routes were surprised to hear the Beeson high school band playing the "Tune of Medford High," famous "On Medford." However, they were not playing it in honor of Medford, but it was their own school song, entitled "On Beeson."

Mr. E. Bates and W. A. Gage were speakers at the local high school Tuesday afternoon as a farewell to the team. Mr. C. E. Gage raised the money for the high school band to make the trip. The business men told how glad they were that the team and band could go, and spoke of the help the team was to the city in an advertising matter.

A large assembly will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock to welcome back the state championship football team. A number of the prominent business men will be present and give short talks to the students. Among those who will speak are Arthur Perry, sports writer, and columnist, Horace Bromley, circus lecturer and movie man, who took pictures of the game in Portland, and also the street activities; Carl Tengwald, captain of the local National Guard and Mayor Alexander, who will give his last speech before the high school while he is mayor.

The 11-1 and the 11-1 averaged 100 percent. The 1-1 had 98.2 percent, the 1-2 had 92.2 percent and the 11-2 had 92.2 percent. The school's average was 97.5 percent.

Roosevelt School

The following pupils from the 6-3 class are the recipients for this week: Margorie Archer, Rose Fredrich, Boston Newcomb and Barbara Holt.

Thanksgiving Assembly

A Thanksgiving assembly was held during the last period. The following program was greatly enjoyed: Song, "America the Beautiful"; Thanksgiving story, Margorie Archer; song, "On Thanksgiving Day"; sixth grade reading, "A Bit of Advice"; Elaine Emphy; song, "O Worship the King"; sixth grade address on Thanksgiving, Miss Van Meter; musical chorus; flag salute, by school.

Thanksgiving Stories

Many of the classes have been writing Thanksgiving stories. Some of them were about eating too much. Others were about exciting adventures.

The Poor Turkey

A Thanksgiving story by Esther Gobbins.

"One morning very early I woke up. I heard a strange noise down by the barn. I jumped out of bed, dressed quickly and ran to see what was happening. But I was too late. The poor turkey's head was already off. But I shall never forget that."

A Spoiled Thanksgiving

A Thanksgiving story by Dolph James.

"I shall never forget the first and last time my father bought a live turkey for Thanksgiving. We were bringing the gobble home in a wooden coop on the running board. All of a sudden we hit a large bump in the road. The coop bounced into the road and broke. Jumping up the turkey started away at a lively clip. I ran after him but he was too fast for me. He jumped a ditch and I dared not follow him. So we had no turkey that Thanksgiving."

The Thanksgiving Without a Dinner

A Thanksgiving story by Stanley Kunzman.

"Thanksgiving was coming tomorrow and I was to chop the turkey's head off. I went to bed and was up early the next morning. Out in the barn I waited for him to come out of his pen. But he never came. Somebody had left the pen door open and the turkey had made his get-away. We didn't have any regular Thanksgiving dinner that day. Just cold meat. You know how I felt."

Hygiene Posters

We have made health posters for hygiene. A Health Wheel showing what to eat and a Meal Clock showing the proper time to eat. These are to help us form good eating habits.

Health

The health report for this week was better than the one for last week. The building average was 82.2 percent. We hope we shall do even better next week. The banner room was the 2-3 with 100 percent.

Spelling

The spelling average is coming up again. The averages for this week follow: Building, 96.8 percent; highest average, 98 percent.

Banking

The banking average for Roosevelt this week was 91.9 percent. The highest rooms and their averages were: Miss Schneider's 4-1 with 100 percent; Mrs. Maxwell's 1-1 with 100.2 percent; Miss Allen's 5-A and 6-A with 100.7 percent; Miss Aspinwall's 6-1 with 100 percent.

To the Reader

Last week in the newspaper report I made a mistake in the "Physical Examinations" report. As we are having a campaign against poor English at our school I shall correct it.

—Stanley Kunzman.

Physical Examinations

Last week Dr. Steeter, Dr. Adams and Dr. Thayer were at our school examining the children. The boys and girls who did not take the examination will be barred from all athletics.

New Pupil

The Roosevelt school received only one new pupil this week. Rachel Grant entered the 5-3 class. She came from the Jackson school.

Jackson School

Class Room News

Because so many children have been absent this week little new work has been presented in the 1B review work and individual problems were emphasized.

The 1B seems to have had a special grudge at the 1B this week. Mrs. Henderson and twenty of the children have been absent. Mrs. Meyer has been substituting during the regular teachers' absence.

The Elson Effort Reading Seat work made use in use in the 1B grade. The children are very interested in the work and are doing quite nicely. Ten children have been absent from the 1A-1B room this week.

Wednesday the boys and girls in the department were weighed. The average gain in weight was one-half pound. Out of the eighty-nine children weighed there were only nine who had lost weight. The reason for this loss, no doubt, is due to the flu epidemic.

The 5A hygiene class spent this week making health posters. They seemed to enjoy the work and the results show some very clever posters. These are on display in room 7.

Once again the 1B's scored 100 percent in health.

The 5A's are giving some very interesting reports in geography on Africa.

The color charts which for the past weeks the children have been working on so diligently are finally completed. The art room is quite "dressed up" with the pictures of them.

We are real proud of our little artist, Gladys Sturlin, who is clever enough to draw free hand on the board, a beautiful honest to goodness Thanksgiving turkey.

The English classes of the department have enjoyed studying about the Vikings, and especially about the town of Vinland. They have been keenly interested in their teacher's story of her visit to Plymouth and in seeing the post cards she has of Plymouth Rock and other subjects of interest in that historic old spot. They have also been reading about "Viking Stories," a delightful book telling of our forefathers' adventures in Vinland also of the first Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Welborn Beeson and family spent Thanksgiving with family relatives.

Silent, Invisible Planes Next Step in Aviation

Planes that will be almost soundless and practically invisible from the ground may be the next development in aviation, experiments being conducted in Europe to eliminate the propeller noise. Tests are being made with screens of silk shades or more and more of such small size. These are designed especially to reduce noise at high speed. "Invisible" planes and planes are being tried to make the noise difficult to hear from below. In England, a dark color of a still greater hue has been prepared. This makes a big plane almost invisible when viewed against a bank of clouds, and is the best camouflage of all colors so far tested when the ship is flying in the rays of searchlights. One of the biggest problems is the elimination of shadows. Better designs are being worked out to cope with this difficulty and also to decrease the visibility of the planes when flying toward an observer. One type of monoplane has been built that marks a distinct advance in this direction. Although it has a huge wing surface, it is difficult to see when flying directly toward the eye, and efforts are being made to reduce the telltale shadows under the wings when the ship passes overhead.

Bees Keep Warm in Winter by Constant Exercise

Honey bees do not go into a true state of hibernation during the winter but remain active within the hive, although they do not venture abroad, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. To keep warm, the colony practices a marvelous system of insulation and exercise. A large number of bees form a more or less spherical cluster, those on the outside having their bodies packed close to each other, parallel and with their heads up. This formation constitutes an insulation shell. Inside, the other bees keep up a constant twisting and squirming motion to create heat. This is so effective that the temperature inside the shell seldom drops below fifty-seven degrees Fahrenheit.

Benefits of exercise in aviation are slight, the proponent needs to have been extended to some day to fill the served by gas or electricity in a fuel reservoir and light the burners, and the outfit is self-defroating. Absence of valves and moving parts insures silence and simplicity of operation.
