CLEVELAND RAID ROUNDS UP MANY VISITING GUNMEN

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Eighteen alleged gunmen and racketeers from Chicago, Buffalo and New York were seized in a raid on a downtown hotel today, led by Acting Chief of Detectives Potts.

All available detectives reserves were sent to the hotel when Detective Lieutenant Kurt Gloeckner, reported there "was a whole mob" of known gunmen in the place and asked for assistance.

Police said they believed the gang had gathered for an "executive session." Those arrested offered no resistance, detectives said.

Police said they were unaware of any motive for the gathering, but believed it must be a meeting such as preceded the killing of Frankie (Yale) Uasle, bootleg baron, in New York, or that it might have some bearing on racketeering in the dry cleaning industry here.

The raid was staged so quietly that other guests in the hotel were not disturbed. Guns were found on nearly all of the gangsters.

ALLEGED INFRINGERS ON 'NEON' PATENTS LOSE COURT ACTION

Alleged infringements of patents covering "Neon" signs have just been dealt a severe blow by the United States supreme court, when it sustained a permanent injunction against manufacture and use of so-called "Neon" signs not made under the George Claude patents. It is announced by the Electrical Products corporation of Oregon, sole Claude Neon licensee here.

Appeal from the circuit court's decision had been taken at New York by a heavily financed manufacturer who was alleged to be infringing on the "Neon" patents, as held by George Claude, the "Edison of France," and important figure in the French Academy of Science, who discovered the process of taking the rare "Neon" gas from the atmosphere.

In its final decision just rendered the United States supreme court has ruled that the permanent injunction must stand which was formerly ordered against manufacture and use of so-called "Neon" signs not made by Electrical Products corporation or its eastern associate corporations, who alone hold the right to manufacture and use "Neon" gas under the patents granted. Further, the supreme court ordered the case remanded to the court of original jurisdiction with instructions to prepare immediately an accounting for damages sustained by the Electrical Products corporation and other Claude Neon lights associates for past infringement of patents.

"With this victory behind us Electrical Products corporation, sole licensee under the genuine Neon patents, is briging suit in Oregon and elsewhere to stop the manufacture and use of so-called Neon signs not made by us," declares J. C. Zancker, vice-president and general manager of the Electrical Products corporation of Oregon. "We shall have to sue to collect damages for infringing signs now in use," Zancker added. "But while we will be fair with all innocent purchasers of so-called Neon signs, we do positively intend to prevent further sales with promises of service under our patents when this promise can hardly be fulfilled in view of the final and permanent decision of the U. S. supreme court."
