

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

Daily, Sunday, Weekly... MEDFORD PRINTING CO. 25-27-29 S. Fir St.

ROBERT W. RUIH, Editor... S. SUMYTER SMITH, Manager... Entered as second class matter at Medford, Oregon, under Act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES... Daily, with Sunday, year... Daily, without Sunday, year... Weekly Mail Tribune, one year...

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS... The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise...

Official paper of the City of Medford... Official paper of Jackson County... Sworn daily average circulation for six months ending April 1, 1928, 4522.

Advertising Representatives... M. C. MOGENSEN & COMPANY... Office in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland.

Ye Smudge Pot... By Arthur Perry... The crying need seems to be more liquor in the victims, and less in auto drivers.

Another local girl is not hiding the 3rd finger of her left hand under a bushel... Fresh air fiends continue to inflict their tortures upon everybody but themselves.

Considerable discussion is going on in the magazines, whether or not the late election was a victory for intolerance... Majestic billows of fog continue to roll over the city.

Social lion No. 489 met a girl friend yesterday and conversed in the open for 15 minutes... URGES JUST DEED FOR LOCAL SINGERS.

Conjecture is rife, as to why some pedestrian, with conditions so dangerous as they are, does not start walking down the highway at night... Several natives have been summoned to Erico on business.

A. B. Williams has expounded another poem of his own dimensions... The sun is shining, and the bluejays are yelling in the Appleton.

Progress has caught up with Hal Platt, who is flourishing a cigarette lighter... One of the Older Girls was down town Tues. looking real comfortable.

No report has been received on what the weather is doing to the farmer, except that it is a plenty... All the postal workers are in good condition to be buried alive in Christmas cards.

Her parents were plodders, not given to dreaming... More filling Francesca had been or Deldre; Even Flora or Grace had been visher.

Of fog was she fashioned and thin desert air... Of express shade and the poppy's red blaze; Yet Hannah Eliza they called her—and Hannah Eliza she stayed to the end of her days.

Romance was her diet—bright tales of old lovers... Was peopled with knights and chargers and maidens; With conquerors crowned and banners unfurled.

Yet a sailor lingered though not like her lover... Of ovals, gold-medaled with glory and pride; And she walked to the altar with Ephraim Hoskins.

WILL HIRAM JOHNSON EVER SUPPORT HOOVER?

THE progress of the Boulder Dam bill will bear watching... Hiram Johnson of California has one idea. President Coolidge and President-elect Hoover another. It is difficult to see how they can ever come to an agreement.

Yet they must if the bill is to pass. Hiram wants public ownership and operation; President Coolidge doesn't. In his recent message the President, indeed, was quite emphatic. He sees no reason for Uncle Sam to enter the electric light and power business.

Senator Johnson has centered his entire campaign for this measure upon his opposition to what he terms the Power Trust. He wants Boulder Dam used as a club to batter the head of what he regards as the iniquitous Power Monopoly.

So there you are! In our humble opinion, President Coolidge is right and Hiram wrong. The latter, as we see it, is living in the past. He doesn't realize the Bull-Moose era is over. He made his name and fame fighting the Southern Pacific octopus; he simply can't visualize Big Business in any other role.

Hiram Johnson, in fact, closely resembles a bull—rather a venerable one, with an impressive ring record in the past, but whose championship days are over. When someone mentions Big Business he sees red, paws the ground, and charges,—just as he did 20 years ago,—only not quite so vigorously.

That is the only political strategy he knows. It is his only mastered technique. It put him in the Senate; he thinks it will put over the Boulder Dam measure.

He doesn't realize the Big-Business-Bull-Moose era is as out of date as the Battle of Gettysburg panorama. That play was a good one while it lasted—it was a necessary one—but the "Onward Christian Soldier" epoch is over, the play is played out.

At least we think it is. And, as we pointed out after that Madison Square speech, so does President-elect Hoover. The Hoover-Coolidge theory is something like this:

There is nothing inherently wrong in Big Business. In fact, Big Business is an essential in this industrial age as big locomotives or big ocean liners.

Instead of fighting Big Business, and injecting Big Business into politics, the Hoover idea is to accept Big Business, turn over important development to it,—keep politics and the government out of it—and then control it in the interest of the public welfare.

That is what President Hoover intends to do with such projects as Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals. Not because he believes such a policy will be better for Big Business, but because he believes it will be better for the people,—for the country at large,—for Mr. Average Woman and Mr. Average Man.

There is no doubt whatever that President-elect Hoover, in taking this stand, has set his plow to virgin political ground. It is a new idea,—not so much in theory as in the methods Mr. Hoover will employ to carry it out.

The majority of the American people will undoubtedly be with him on this issue, particularly when they clearly understand it. But unless we are much mistaken Senator Hiram Johnson of California never will be.

He is too old a dog to learn new tricks. And, moreover, like Senator Norris of Nebraska, he sincerely believes that there is only one role Big Business can fill, that is the role of Old Erie with at least two horns and one forked tail.

And on this issue he will not be alone. Sooner or later—probably the latter—the Johnsons and Norrises (or their spiritual descendants) will be members of the Anti-Hoover-Coolidge-Conservative party, and join with the Al Smiths and Franklin D. Roosevelts under the title of the Democratic-Liberal party.

It is bound to come. As we remarked after that Madison Square speech, Mr. Hoover became the evangel of a new political creed, and pointed the way.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D. Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper.

A FINE BRAND OF SUNSHINE. In the old days when sunshine was more plentiful than it is today and free to everybody, no one cared very much about it. If the doctors or health authorities had anything to say on the subject, they warned folks to beware of getting too much sunshine. Seems there were some consequences of overindulgence—sunburn, or sunstroke, not to mention such vulgar effects as freckles.

Nowadays as it seems to the conductor of a health column, nearly every one who is keen on trying this wonderful panacea, sunshine desires information about this and that brand of sunshine or a good imitation thereof. Yes, sunshine is quite popular now, even fashionable, but of course there is none genuine without the stamp of commercial approval.

What I mean and hate to say is simply that the commercial people are much better health educators than the doctors are. That is not extraordinary, when you consider all the facts: the commercial people have had many more years of experience than the doctors have had in teaching the laity about health.

Recently I told here about a cheap and practical window that admits the ultraviolet rays of sunlight. It was an expedient devised by Dr. A. H. Pound, and consists of a folding frame of ordinary coarse chicken wire with a sheet of cellophane sandwiched between. This will serve a good or more, and when homemade costs perhaps 25 cents. With such a window any one may enjoy sun baths in any weather for two bits the season.

I compared this homely, but efficient arrangement with window glass that admits ultraviolet rays, and I said the cost of this new kind of window glass was "positive." I have since been assured that the new kind of window glass is not much more expensive than ordinary glass, and in fact lots of people now building homes are installing the new kind of glass, at least in a sun room, nursery or some of the windows.

I am glad to learn that scientific ultraviolet rays is now available at a reasonable cost, ordinary glass, of course, excludes the ultraviolet rays, which are essential for health, growth and vigor.

Many laymen contemplating trying sun baths or ultraviolet ray treatment for this or that trouble apparently prefer to get it from some artificial source. I think it is unwise for laymen to invest money, either for rental or for purchase of any apparatus of this description, unless under the direction of the physician. Where it is a case of striving to build better health, better far to turn to the sun by self, or to install either the 25 cent window described or some of the special new kind of glass.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. The Hotel Clerk Aristocracy. I am invited to attend a formal affair to be given in one of our most exclusive hotels and I am almost ashamed to go because I am nearly 20 pounds overweight. Can you tell me how to reduce 20 pounds in two weeks. I am 16 years old, 5 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 145 pounds.—Miss S. S. C.

Answer—No, daughter. I can't tell you how to reduce even two ounces in two weeks. It would be unsafe to attempt any reduction at all unless you are under the careful supervision of your physician.

Hand to Hand Infection. I sell newspapers and magazines. When I receive the money from a customer the customer's hand usually touches mine in the interchange. Some doctors say 16 diseases can be carried by hand-shaking or contact of the hands. Is this true? Is there any definite disease that may result from such exposure?—S. H. C.

Answer—It seems reasonable to assume that some infection may happen in that way, but when it comes to the assertion that "16 diseases" are so transmitted, that is just a blarney. If you will wash your hands with soap and water frequently through the day, and the unpopulated moon is gravity so slight a man could jump 30 feet high. The saxophone just seems easy to learn because failure to play the right note can't make it any worse.

No, you wouldn't. If you were as rich as the boss, a new sense of freedom would take away your desire to cuss him. Americanism: Deciding to save money beginning next pay day; deciding to buy a new play-pretty because it costs only one dollar down.

The accustomed is sanctified, and the modern youth with a varnished top smiles at the frontier beau who used bear grease to make his hair slick. Hint to the South: If you turn Republican, and still vote as a unit, you will be the balance of power and can boss the works.

Canada and the U. S. seem queer to Europe. When they want something from one another, they buy it instead of training soldiers to take it.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason. MAN'S WAY

"My husband is a good provider, his heart is great," said Mrs. Roe; "he brings home flour and loaves of elder, he's always lavish with the dough. He's just as kind as when he courted, when I was young and gay and fair; and if I want a hat imported, he always has the coin to spare. He has a roll of money salted, and tells me if he loops the loops, and in some lone bonny yard vaulted, I will not want for pies and soups. He pays for operations dental, the doctors' bills, without a sigh; but for all matters sentimental he simply has no seeing eye. This date, long since, beheld our wedding, the marriage bells were gayly tolled; and we've had good and rocky sailing, together we are growing old. I'm thinking of that sunny morning, I'm thinking of my wedding ring, the orange wreath my brow adorning, when Richard seemed a prince or king. But well I know he is not thinking of that great day and what it means; he'll soon come home all set for drinking nine cups of coffee with his beans. He'll fill the air with silly twaddle concerning corns which cause him pains, or talk about the latest models in motor cars or flying planes. Perhaps he'll bring a slab of bacon and dumbly wonder what is wrong, when I like one better, forsaken, burst into tears instead of song. Well, man is man, and woman's woman, and they are never just the same; I try to think that both are human, while each one tries to play the game."

People Who Are Ageing Long Before Their Time

This is to people who are ageing long before their time. To niling people who lack vim and strength. To the millions who are under par. Do you know why so many people are half sick most of the time—dull, tired, headachy and cross? It's because of a torpid liver, which means a lack of bile. The bile is a vital thing in maintaining health. It is a digestant of oils and fats, an antiseptic in the intestinal canal to combat the germs that tend to breed there, and a natural purgative for the bowels. An active liver secretes a full quart of bile a day, but the average person's liver secretes less than half a pint. That means intestinal indigestion and a general "feeling better" or appetite, a general "feeling better" or appetite, a general "feeling better" or appetite.
