

"WORK-SPEND" FORD'S ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN

No Successful Boy Ever Saved Money—Work Is First Requisite—Praises Coolidge As Great President.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(P)—Henry Ford's advice to youth is to work and spend.

On his way to a White House dinner last night, he stopped long enough to give this bit of counsel.

HENRY FORD

"You often hear advice given to young boys that to succeed they must work and save their money," Mr. Ford said.

"This is partly wrong. No successful boy ever saved any money. They spent it as fast as they could for things to improve themselves."

As a case in point, he mentioned Thomas Edison as never having "any money until he got so much he couldn't spend it."

Whatever his attitude toward saving, Mr. Ford believes in work. "Instill in the minds of the young men that they will never get anywhere without work," he said.

"I never knew a young man that was worth five cents that wouldn't work and even occasionally get into trouble in his efforts to learn."

"When I was a young fellow," he continued, "I got kicked out of about as many shops as I was welcomed to."

He explained that in his effort to learn about machinery, he would slip into machine shops whenever possible and watch their operations.

"Another requisite to advancing in the world is becoming a teacher, Mr. Ford believes. He recalled that both he and Edison in working out their plans had to teach others to make almost every piece of machinery they needed."

He said that the museum he is building near the Ford airport at Dearborn, Michigan, was in reality a school with the purpose of making young men efficient in some particular art, and told of one of his latest acquisitions, an early printing press that Mark Twain had once labored over.

The automobile manufacturer had a word of praise for President Coolidge, declaring that he "will go down in history as a great president."

THREE PIONEERS OF ASHLAND ARE CALLED BY DEATH

ASHLAND, Ore., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Becoming sick last Wednesday evening with an attack of influenza, made serious with a simultaneous heart attack, Judge W. J. Moore, well known Ashland attorney, died this morning at 9 o'clock.

One more of Southern Oregon's pioneers has answered the last summons. Henry S. Emery, who has lived in the valley since 1853 and whose memory recalled all the romance and history of this section, has gone.

Mr. Emery was 82 years old at the time of his death. He had been in failing health for some time, but death was due to a severe attack of influenza which he contracted recently.

Henry Studier Emery was born in Ashland, Ohio, Oct. 22, 1846. When he was only three weeks old, his mother died and he was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Eber Emery and came with his foster parents to Ashland in 1853, making the trip by way of Panama.

He has lived to tell the story of the pioneer struggle made by his parents in this new country. In 1864 Mr. Emery opened a cabinet shop where the State Bank of Ashland now stands. He followed his trade as cabinet maker and pattern maker until about three years ago.

In 1873 he was married to Miss Albetta Colvig, who was a member of another pioneer family of this valley. Mrs. Emery passed away several years ago. All six of the children born to this union are still living. They are Nina Bell Emery, Hazel Emery, Henry C. Emery and Mrs. Kate Elston of Ashland, and Melvin S. Emery and Mrs. S. R. Loehner of Portland.

Virgil Chapman, proprietor of the East Side Market, was out after an attack of flu, but had to return home Wednesday on account of a relapse.

Seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral rites will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Stock's undertaking parlors with the Rev. William Barney of the Christian church in charge. Interment will be made in Mountain-view cemetery.

There will be a small class of graduates from the Southern Oregon Normal school at the close of the present quarter. These students will graduate at the annual commencement exercises in June. Those who are going out at this time are Crystal Alford, Madeline Brown, Audrey McPherson, Ivah Dobbs Murray, Arnilla Robinson, Marjorie Smith, Lois Talbot, Mary Takala and Audra Wagner.

POLICE MAY MOVE OFF MAIN STREET TO OLD STATION

It is likely that after January 1 the police station will no longer be located in its present location in the old Jacksonville railroad depot on West Main street, according to plans unofficially indicated today.

The present quarters of the department are wholly satisfactory and are centrally located, making it easy for strangers to find the police, if desired. However, the building, which is owned by the city, is on railroad property and it is said the railroad company is desirous of having the building removed as soon as possible.

The new headquarters of the police will be above the city recorder's office or back in a corner room adjoining the fire department, a room formerly occupied by the police before offices were moved to the depot over two years ago.

Moving pictures taken by Mrs. Stearns on world tour, will be shown at First M. E. church, Dec. 14, 8 p. m. Admission 25c and 10c. Also feature all day Friday and Saturday.

COUNCILLOR SYSTEM PROVIDES CHECK ON HI SCHOOL STUDENTS

What the 12 faculty members, chosen for supervision work in the new councillor system recently installed in the high school here, do not know about each of the 550 or more students enrolled by the end of the year, won't be worth mentioning, if the series of tests and checks they have prepared under this plan, work out successfully.

There will be the intelligence tests, to measure the I. Q. of the students, or in other words, their learning capacity. This will be carefully compared with the scholarship standing of the students, and the results tabulated.

Then will come the character or habit rating, in which a careful day by day check will be made upon the following tendencies disclosed by the boys and girls: attention in classes, neatness, interest, initiative, ambition, persistence, reliability and stability in daily achievement.

In addition to this each of the 12 councillors will become personally acquainted with the students in his or her group, and on the basis of the information acquired, give them guidance and help in choosing their future work or courses of study in higher education.

ATTORNEYS PLAN FIGHT FOR MUCH SPOKANE SLAYER

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 14.—(P)—Attorneys for Archie P. Mueh, 23-year-old Canadian mill worker, convicted of murder today, were planning a two-phase fight to save their client from the gallows.

Mueh was convicted last night of hacking Mrs. Catherine Clark, a shingler's hatchet, on the night of September 22. An immediate move for a new trial, based on new evidence, which J. F. Aiken, chief counsel says he has found, will be made, Aiken announced after the verdict was read.

Mrs. Clark, in response to love letters and promises of marriage from "James Murphy," came to Spokane. The state charged that "Murphy" was the "son name" of Mueh. Upon her arrival, she was taken to a lonely orchard 15 miles from Spokane and chopped to death for the $1390 "dowry" she brought with her.
