LADY ATHLETES ASKED TO STAY OUT OLYMPICS

Campaign Favored By Women's Division of National Body Against Participation—A. A. U. Says No Hitch in Program.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Opposition expressed by the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic federation to participation by women in the 1932 Olympic games will not prevent that part of the program from being carried out in full, according to Olympic and A. A. U. leaders.

Addressing the fifth annual meeting of the women's division yesterday, Ethel Perrin, chairman of the division's executive committee, reported that her committee had endorsed the launching of a campaign to educate girls in schools and colleges and other girls of school and college age not to train for competition in the next Olympic games to be held in Los Angeles.

Most Olympic and A. A. U. officials thought the woman's organization opposition would have no effect on the program.

"I do not think it will have any effect in the least," said Gustavus T. Kirby, past president of the American Olympic committee. "There are tens of thousands of girls who demand the right of competition and they are going to get it."

The matter was discussed very carefully by the International Amateur Athletic federation at Amsterdam. Some thought that the events were perhaps too strenuous but statistics show that the competition of girls and women had no bad effect, with due consideration to their condition at the time.

"I don't think it will have any effect in the least," said Gustavus T. Kirby, past president of the American Olympic committee.

TO DARKEN HAIR GAZE AT WALNUT AND USE BRUSH

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—John Armstrong Chaloner, author of the famous phrase "Who's looney now?" was satisfied today that he had successfully demonstrated how to turn gray hair into brown.

Chaloner came to New York from his home in Virginia especially to demonstrate his discovery. This consists of gazing intently into a piece of black walnut while vigorously brushing the hair. The hair remains brown for several hours after each treatment, he said.

Here's how he explains it: The color of the hair enters the eye and penetrates the skull and the roots of the hair, which becomes, after a quarter of an hour of the treatment, a dark brown.

Reporters before whom the demonstration was given have another explanation. They said the vigorous brushing causes the inner surfaces of the hair, which normally are darker, to cover the outer surfaces. But they admitted to Chaloner's satisfaction that his trick works. His hair at the conclusion of the tests was a shade or two darker.

Chaloner gained wide publicity when, after escaping from New York where he had been adjudged insane, he sent a telegram reading, "Who's looney now?" to his brother Bob Chaloner, upon the latter's marriage to Lina Cavalieri, opera singer. Chaloner later was declared sane.

UNEARTH SECRETS VIOLIN MAKING OF CREMONA MASTER

BERGAMO, Italy, Jan. 4.—(AP) The secret of Stradivarius, maker of the world's most precious violins, is claimed to have been unearthed by a dealer of old furniture after two centuries.

The antiquarian in going over an old desk which he had just bought found a secret drawer. In this drawer he found three or four number of manuscripts of the Cremona master including a letter to a priest who was a friend of his describing his method of treating wood and preparing varnish. The dealer endeavored to sell his find to a violin maker of Milan but the authorities intervened and sequestered all the documents.

Stradivarius died in 1737 and the priest moved from Cremona to Bergamo in 1730. The desk was sold at auction after his death. It was understood that the manuscripts included materials for an autobiography by the violin maker.

Is it Worth While to budget?

We hear this question asked almost every day—most frequently about this time of year. Budgeting household expenses and then living within the budget is no small task. Nevertheless, it most decidedly is worth while. In our daily contact with and service to hundreds of thousands of families throughout the West, we have a wonderful opportunity to study this question. It is our observation that—aside from those families having unusually large incomes—the most successful and contented are those who budget their expenditures and adhere to their plans as rigidly as circumstances will permit. Almost invariably such families buy all of their foods at Safeway Stores.
