Grants Pass and Josephine county's airport is to have a Neon air beacon. Construction is to begin March 1 of the $25,000 beacon and service station, the latter necessary to the proper functioning of an up-to-date plant. As a part of the 25-year lease agreed upon by the Josephine county court yesterday, it is quite possible that the Richfield Oil company will also erect a hotel on or near the airport for the accommodation of air tourists and others, costing approximately $250,000. All this is a part of the Richfield's present plan to establish a chain of 24 Neon beacons for the guidance of night-flying pilots from the Canadian to the Mexican borders. Plans also call for a series of 20 hotels at about 50-mile intervals. This also places Grants Pass on the main route of the Pacific Coast airways.—Grants Pass Courier.
