

LEGION MONTHLY HERALDS MONDAY NIGHT'S PROGRAM

The January issue of the Medford Legion, official monthly publication of the local post of world war veterans, is off the press and was being distributed today to its large subscriber clientele.

The publication, as usual, is filled with matters of general interest to the veterans pertaining to past, present and coming local Legion events. There is a write-up of the program of the big coming "Whoopee" meeting of the post on January 28, and details of the recent district Legion convention at Grants Pass, and a leading editorial appears by E. C. Ferguson, the publication's editor, praising that conference, which starts out with the following paragraph:

has a greater program than ever before. You all know what that program is and how vital to it is the cooperation of every member of the Legion. If, in other words, you can show your willingness to cooperate, by sending in your dues at once.

COURT DISMISSES CITY WATER SUIT

The suit of Isabella and A. R. Rowley against the City of Medford, over the ownership of water rights in the Santa Cecilia sources of Medford's water supply, was ordered dismissed in circuit court yesterday, on grounds that the plaintiffs failed to enter sufficient affidavits following the filing of a de murrer by the city on grounds that the complaint did not include sufficient facts to constitute a case.

Medford's "Golden Girl" to Be Described Over Radio

Murrel Finley

It is not a surprise to local friends and admirers of Miss Murrel Finley, beautiful Medford girl, who is now a leading lady in the Jostled Follies of New York, when they hear her referred to as a lucky girl. But they were taken unaware a little Tuesday when they saw Medford's "Golden Girl" featured with two other Zigfield beauties in the "Lucky Strike" national advertisement which ran in the Mail Tribune on that day.

However, no one was any more surprised to discover Murrel's face smiling out from the large advertisement than was her mother, Mrs. William Swartz, and her sister, Mrs. Paul Reilly, who live here.

Reporter yesterday afternoon, Murrel, who is playing the leading role in Zigfield's production, "Whoopee," in New York, was chosen last year by the famous artist, Jean Cornwall, as the "Golden Girl of California." James Montgomery Flagg, also a great admirer of Miss Finley's beauty, recently completed a life-sized portrait of the actress in a costume she wears in the "Whoopee" production.

Tomorrow night Jean Cornwall will broadcast a program from New York featuring "The Perfect American Girl" which is his description of Miss Finley. The exact time of the broadcast is not known, but it is to take place before the evening performance of the Zigfield Follies and it is thought that Miss Finley will have a speaking part in the program.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS HOLD FIRST MEETING IN TRAINING COURSE

The first meeting of prospective girl scout leaders was held at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters last night, under the direction of Mrs. D. J. Wilson. A course of instructions, which will include four lessons, covering girl scout activities was also started by Mrs. Wilson, and the new training corps were given an interesting summary of the history of scouting.

The next meeting, which will include instructions on games, songs and camp life, will be held at the same place next Wednesday.

Those who reported to Mrs. Wilson last night were: Mrs. Louis Bundy, Gertrude Parker, Ester Pfeigal, Ruth Bolton, Alberta Harrison, Helen Wilson, Winifred Andrews, Mrs. F. B. Hazerty, Rose Hallemann, Myra Russell, Jessie MacNiven, Ethel Willie, Mrs. Ralph Woodford and Mrs. M. N. Hogan.

ASHLAND JUNIOR HIGH GAME ARMORY FRIDAY

In an effort to even the series, the first game of which was lost at Ashland a short time ago, the local junior high school basketball team will play the Ashland junior high at the armory tomorrow evening. The Medford team has been undergoing special practice under its coach, Ray Henderson, and is prepared to defeat the visitors.

The local lineup will include Herington and Washam, forwards; Davidson, center; Roberts and Zumbra, guards; Dietrich, the school's star player, is out of the game because of a broken arm.

The preliminary, a return game between the Medford and Ashland "Midgets," junior high players weighing 105 pounds or less, will begin promptly at 7:30. The locals were defeated a short time ago at Ashland. In view of hotly fought contests a good attendance is expected.

PACKERS DISCUSS CULL PEAR SALE AND MAIL MARKET

Unclassified pears of this section, shipped to eastern markets, resulting in the public's estimate of high grade fruit, and the proposition of buying pears for the coming season's box making, were the chief matters discussed this noon at the regular meeting of the Traffic Association, at the Hotel Medford.

David Wood of the Potter Palace interests presented the unclassified pear situation. He held that large quantities of pears, listed as culls, were sold by packers to a buyer who packed the fruit and sold it in competition with the fancy brander Mr. Wood maintained the issue river packers should confine themselves to the better grades of pears exclusively, and that the small sum assured for the unclassified pears was not worth the damage.

The unclassified pear problem will be discussed at the next meeting of the Fruitgrowers League, and final decision probably made.

In regard to the mails, it developed from reports read by the buying committee, that mails could be shipped from Germany, and pay the tariff, cheaper than they could be purchased domestically, judging by the estimates submitted. There was a difference of around 25 cents per hundred-weight.

A German mail was exhibited and inspected by Raymond Reter, who pronounced it everything a mail should be.

David Rosenberg viewed the mail and gave it as his opinion that before anything was done about it, something should be found out about the strength of the mail.

Guy W. Conner was then appointed to act with the buying committee to confer with packing houses not buying co-operatively with the association and endeavor to induce them to do so.

The question of endorsing a packing school was branched, and it was generally agreed that no packing school project be endorsed this season.

MODEL CLOTHING CO. TO START BIG SALE

One of the biggest merchandise events of the season will begin tomorrow at the Model Clothing company store on East Main street in the opening of a $20,000 unloading sale of high quality stock. The store was closed today in making preparations for the sale, which includes many bargains of unusual merit in all lines of men's apparel, with drastic cuts the features in numerous articles of stock. A two-page advertisement on pages four and five of today's Mail Tribune affords a better impression of what the sale really means.

"Folks, how can I make Whoopee up here . . . when down in front the 'coughers' are whooping?"

EDDIE CANTOR Premier American comedian starring in the glorious new production, "Whoopee."

"Maybe the audience would be grateful if I stepped to the footlights some night and voiced the above protest about the 'coughing chorus' down in front.

"But that wouldn't be kind and it wouldn't be just. The cougher doesn't cough in public on purpose. He can't help it. It embarrasses him as much as it annoys his neighbors.

"What he needs, to avoid that throat tickle, is an introduction to OLD GOLDS."

[Signed] Eddie Cantor
