

Local and Personal

It was slippery going for pedestrians and autos this morning because rain which fell during last night was frozen on sidewalks and pavement. This morning and early forenoon were foggy, and cloudiness and sunshine prevailed the remainder of the day. The 24 hour precipitation ending at 5 a. m. today was .65 of an inch, and rain is forecast for tonight and Saturday.

Food Costs

The old-fashioned grocer who volunteered to bring his neighbor groceries on his way to supper surely didn't realize what he started—Service upon service has been added until today distribution costs have piled one upon the other until prices have become so high that for lack of a better reason we still blame it onto the war.

Let us prove this statement to you—come in and shop the self-service way—Buy your foods where distribution costs are kept to a minimum—where every effort has been made to "save all cost which adds no value"—In other words—where it costs no more to be sure of quality—you can always set a better table for less.
