SAVING STORES

Free Delivery Service

Have you tried ordering your fruits and vegetables, meats and groceries and having them delivered to your home? If you are using Santfords Saving Service you already know what a good service is—if you are not using our service—try using it and compare the advantages gained against serving yourself, going from store to store or market to market gathering up your fruits and vegetables, meats and groceries and lugging them all around town and all the way home with you, we dare say the only way you could be persuaded to do this is in the belief you could save money—We are going to show you in ads to follow this one that you are not saving money, but before we go into the money question we would like to show you first of all that we have a real service to offer you, not a make shift system, but a service you will want once you use it.

An argument why every person in Jackson county should be vaccinated against smallpox was advanced by Miss Jean Besley, director of health education for the Oregon Tuberculosis association, in the comparison of figures of Oregon and Connecticut. In the latter state, where vaccination is compulsory, there were only three cases in 1928 and Oregon, having the same population but no compulsory vaccination, had over 1,000 cases. Miss Besley is spending two weeks in Jackson county doing health education work in connection with the county health unit.

"That was nearly a funny fire we had at Ashland yesterday," said Harvey Grigsby, Ashland meat market proprietor, who was in Medford this forenoon. "Part of the hotel would be burning and the other part freezing, as the water which ran down the fluey side would all be frozen into huge icicles. Along with some others, I got pretty wet from fire-fighting, and when it was all over I found my clothes frozen stiff." Mr. Grigsby is a former Medford resident, but moved to Ashland recently to open a butcher shop.

City Traffic Officer George Prescott was happy today in the anticipation of warmer weather, following last night's freezing spell, which wrecked the radiator of his patrol coupe so thoroughly that his car will probably be in the garage for several days. Even though the radiator had been filled with a percentage of alcohol, it now resembles a sieve in its ability to hold water. However, his is not the only machine affected, as several Medford motorists, who believed their cars to be invincible in withstanding the cold, are also afoot.

COLORED SINGERS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ON SATURDAY EVENING

Some splendid singing is to be heard at the Presbyterian church Saturday evening, Feb. 9 at 8 o'clock. An octave of ladies and gentlemen known as the "World Famous Williams Colored Singers" who after a successful tour of Europe have returned to America. While in London the entire company was under the instruction of one of the world's greatest vocalists, Miss Ira Aldridge, who is a scholar of the London Royal Conservatory of Music, and whose early teacher was the famous Jenny Lind.

Their program is promised to be a treat for music lovers and varies from the melodies of the cotton fields to the gems from the classic operas.

The Portland Oregonian says: "Their entertainment will delight you."
