

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE
Daily, Monday, Weekly
MEDFORD PRINTING CO. Phone 15
38-37-19 N. W. St.
RUBERT W. BRIDGEMAN, Editor
R. H. SMITH, Manager
An Independent Newspaper
Entered as second class matter at Medford, Oregon, under Act of March 3, 1879.
SUBSCRIPTION RATES
By Mail—In Advance
Daily, with Sunday, per year.....$7.50
Daily, with Sunday, per 6 months.....4.50
Daily, without Sunday, per year.....6.50
Daily, without Sunday, per 6 months.....3.50
Weekly Mail Tribune, per year.....2.00
Single copy, 5 cents
Carriers, by contract, delivered, $2.00
Journals, Central, Coast, Puget, Talent, Gold Hill and on Highways.....$ 75
Daily, without Sunday, per month......65
Daily, without Sunday, per year.....7.80
Daily, with Sunday, per year.....8.60
All terms, cash in advance.
MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Residing Full Time Wire Service
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication all news dispatches received by it or otherwise credited to this paper, and also to the local news published therein. All rights for publication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.
Official paper of the City of Medford.
Official paper of Jackson County.
Seven daily average circulation for six months ending Oct. 1, 1928, 4328.
M. C. MOOREHEAD & COMPANY
Advertising Representatives
Office in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland.
Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
Col. Lindbergh is going to be married. Medford girls who were wild, despondent, and dispirited at the news, have started to cheer up.
"I am afraid I will have to start plowing," declared Len Carpenter yesterday. From what we know of Len, his fears are unfounded, but his hired man is justified in being scared.
Federal officials have started in war on the narcotic evil in this state. Politicians, candidates of officeholders, and organizations of righteousness and politics are not helping them out much.
SPRING HATS ON DISPLAY
(Albany Democrat)
Now here is something curious. I want to ask you about—when he is at work I love him to death. Every time I look at him I want to put my arms around his neck and smother him with kisses. I just couldn't kiss him if I had to. He has outdone this and speaks of it. Why is it, Miss Dix?
MRS. J. R.
It now develops that Ann Keyes, Los Angeles prosecutor, now in a more or less lonely prison cell, used his high office to blackmail millionaires. This may cause some conjecture as to what happened when citizens crossed Ann's path who were out of money, friends, and lawyers.
MISS MORROW POPULAR
GIRL LIKES CLOTHES—(Hillside Grants Press Courier)—The rare exception.
A continual sense of fatigue is unaccounted for. That great scientific medical scientist and Democratic dark horse, Senator Royal B. Copeland, M.D., but of course Dr. Copeland isn't in a business where people that don't know as much about it as he does, even keep coming in to tell him how to run the paper. (Ohio State Journal.) Whose is this editor gets mad an emits a mouthful.
Former boarder brutes of Alaska, are flocking to this sanctum to rectify how they got away from their wives and hunted gold in '98.
Mrs. John Smith Robin has joined her husband on the University campus. They will start work within the week on their new nestling. The Missus told John she would go back to Maine, if he didn't keep his red breast redder.
Most of the houses with kids have been cluttered up all week with the shavings of Valentines.
The maid who rode to Ashland on the backseat of a motorcycle on the evening of the 4th Inst., stabbed her toe and fell in a fireplace last night.
A poor, puny, peaked-looking bartender was found in a front yard Wed., eating unconstrained female squabbling in a fashionable residence district.
Inasmuch as the womenfolk were gawking with awe, and were intolerably hot, the writer went 50c at bridge, and has a promissory promise for annie.
Gitzo Numada chased a band of Apaches up an alley Tues., and got his feet wet and his pants dusted.
THE WEST
Men who had killed and stolen went West if they got away.
Men who failed went West with their assets and left their habitations behind.
Men of imagination were struck by an idea of the West as by lightning. Western fever was at its height, and men were chasing dreams across a continent.
The sting of a woman's "no" sent many a man West and many another went to lose a woman he couldn't stand.
Men on the verge of suicide went West instead of pulling a trigger or jumping off a building.
Unwashed sons of the rich went West on remittance and unwanted sons of the poor were started West on a fence rail or at the point of a gun.
Lifelong youth went inevitably West in search of a better world and found that what it did was before as well as behind.
(From "In Other Days")
And if the Frenchman who said he didn't see anything in America except hotels had lowered his eyes a bit he might have noticed a filling station brightening a corner here and there.

Editorial Correspondence
PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 11.—Heavy frosts here for three nights in succession and heavier smoldering. The way the smudge smoke hangs on here all day is surprising and highly undesirable. The people in this family hotel building on the coast largely are sleeping. They positively refuse to believe the darkness is due to smudge smoke, maintaining this is merely the California alibi for threatening weather. One elderly couple from Mine started out for their daily constitutional today armed with umbrellas. The morning brought them that hot feet and there wasn't a cloud in the sky and no danger of rain, adding if they went over to Los Angeles they would find he was telling them the truth. The elderly couple smiled indulgently and nodded but went on their way, with their "bumbershoots," which reminds one of the old story of the customer making his first trip to the far west and mistaking a mountain fifty miles away for one only a stone's throw distant, took no chances and proceeded to swim an irrigation ditch.
The new Phillips college for women, is now open at Claremont, California where we recently spent a week end. With a large endowment from Miss Phillips of La Jolla, well over 20 years of age, this promises to be an interesting and unique educational institution, one who chooses here that she has admitted, the freshmen and sophomores of 20 girls each. Next year another class will come in, and the following year the list. The total enrollment will be limited to 250, and each class will have its own building unit, including dining room, living room, kitchen and sleeping quarters. The freshmen and sophomore units have been furnished and the junior and senior units are in process of construction.
More beautiful, luxurious and yet altogether tasteful quarters could scarcely be imagined. Rich rugs on polished the floors, grand chandeliers and attractive reading lamps. The parlors, reading rooms, sleeping porches looking out on olive and orange tree courts where artistic fountains sparkle in the sunlight.
Hygiene and physical education are to be important courses—an excellent idea, for in practical life, health and happiness are inseparable without health. Small classes will also allow personal attention and careful supervision—giving the individual the maximum opportunity for proper development.
We found ourselves wondering how a girl spending four of her most formative years in an environment like that—could be the environment of a millionaire, of culture and good taste—would accept what some—probably most of them—will have to accept when they start out in life for themselves—either as young brides or wage earners.
We had the attention of a female member of our party who replied: "Well, might as well give a kid luxury and happiness (GNCE in her life."
Speaking of women, we saw Fatty Arbuckle in court over in L. A. today—his attorney was protesting against paying attorney to his second—up to his third—wife. Fatty was respondent in a purple shirt, checked out and velvet bow cravat, almost entirely un-

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, sent to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Going to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made in queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper.
THE HOMELIER THE BETTER
It is now pretty well known that a lot of persons—though it isn't so well known what a moron is—think that the "homelier the better" is a "beautiful but dumb" thing. This doesn't mean that all the beautiful are dumb, or that all the ugly are beautiful. A beauty is not likely to say that way if she is very dumb, or if the modern beauty specialists are certain to get her if she doesn't know more than she reads in the theater program.
Just as debatable is the popular idea that all homely people are good. Perhaps the homely ones have to be good if they expect to get by. Not just any old common sense in a beautiful woman, but it is only romantic girls who really ignore or forget wickedness in a handsome man.
In remedies, though, I believe there is a good deal more truth in the idea that the homelier they are the better, and here is an instance that bears this out:
"Several months ago I read your recommendation as to the use of raw flaxseeds for relief of constipation. I began to use the remedy, and for nearly three months have used it with most satisfactory results, having suffered from the ailment for many years. I take mine in a little water, a heaping teaspoonful twice a day, and I feel very grateful for the information. It is so much better than cathartics—L. H."
This refers to ordinary ungrated flaxseed. Some people prefer to mix a spoonful more or less with a breakfast cereal. Some prefer to swallow the flaxseeds in a jelly or soup. It matters not at all how the flaxseeds are taken. There is no particular dose, only a small quantity should be taken every day, until the habit is broken. The habit I refer to is the habit of laxative habit, or the constipation habit.
In only exceptional cases is constipation of ailment. Almost always it is just a bad habit.
The ailments associated with this bad habit are generally due to the injurious cathartics or laxatives which are so recklessly swallowed day in and day out, year after year. Requires a tougher mechanism than the ordinary human mind can withstand such abuse long.
I notify all readers right here that I shall give no information, advice or even sympathy to a correspondent who asks me anything about nervous colic, or other ailments, so, notwithstanding, recommend the daily use of whole flaxseeds to the victims of this condition who are not under medical treatment.
The sensible way to conquer the constipation habit is simply to swear off, and then stick to it. But of course this requires, first, a modicum of intelligence and second, the courage of conviction, that none of the fine evils the mainstream people and quacks (breast) customers with if customers dare to do for a day or two without the regular habit, really happens. I assure you such evils do not happen. That is the best I can do for you. If you can't take my assurance at face value, you don't want my medicine.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
We Hate to Think About It.
Isn't it about time you put something in your column about prematurely gray hair? Why should women have gray hairs at the age of 27? Why do doctors avoid this topic so persistently, or offer directions for care of the hair, which we already know well enough, whenever questioned about this? Is gray hair dead hair? If so, why does it grow? Does dandruff have anything to do with it? Is it hereditary?—H. MacH.
Answer.—Well, 'tis this way. When you're young and haven't any gray hairs, we doctors consider it a certain sign of good health. That's when we commence counting 'em; we prefer to say nothing, hoping other people will take the hint and ignore the matter. And when at last we're awfully gray, then we just hate to think about it at all. I tell you I don't know any more about it, but I do suspect that a suitable iodine ration helps to prevent premature graying of the hair, and unless your doctor forbids you might do well to write in here for instructions about the iodine ration.

Quill Points
The winter resort homes built by natives are easily recognized. They have some arrangement for heating.
A new barber college offers training to colored boys only, this saving students the usual expenditure for coonskin.
Perhaps electric vibrators will reduce flesh. It was a flivver age that made hips disappear.
The papers say Queo Mario is coming across again, but as yet nobody knows which rich Americans are coming across.
The faculty of getting a divorce and trying again lies in the fact that time will wait a rose tomorrow just as it did yesterday.
A good way to tell whether a fur will shed is to park it alongside a blue serge suit.
Chicago's police head is a unique official. He says he doesn't try to enforce the dry law. Others never say it.
Now it is suggested that sea captains be retired when age dulls their minds. Sentiment must not endanger any ship except the ship of state.
Salmon traps, located where the fish habitually run, are enormously valuable. Something like a seat on the stock exchange.
Americanism: Feeling sorry for abused natives in distant lands, feeding Indian wards of the government on $5 a month.
The new seed catalogs prove the country well supplied with experts for the propaganda division in the event of war.
The ruler of Afghanistan lost his throne by trying to make his people "modern." Foolishness is a logical development, not something to be forced on people by law.
Short history of a genius: Crustacean, well-corked, well-friends, well-headed, crust.
Many a wife thinks she is protecting her husband from his tough male friends when she is merely humoring her jealousy.
Perhaps marriage is less sacred than it used to be, but moderns are at least too decent to advocate it as a substitute for sin.
Because his wife did it all, a merchant asked to have his tombstone inscribed: "He accomplished nothing." Getting a wife like that is his meek accomplishment.
South Carolina's governor vetoed a compulsory education act because the plan would educate negroes. You can freeze a head-bow by kicking off the covers.
Little book review for today: "Humdrum Home" by Jeanette Phillips Gibbs (Harper). A bored husband and wife save themselves, as others might, by discovering that candy tastes better if you don't get too much.
Correct this sentence: "I want to do what is right" said the congressman, "regardless of the effect on my career."
Brisbane's Today
(Continued from Page One.)
four more years in the White House. He has been elected once, and was entitled to a second election.
In his own time he will find other important work to do. He might possibly go to the Senate and teach senators to say a good deal in a few words.
On the formal announcement of the agreement between the pope and the Italian government $8,000,000 received the pope's blessing inside St. Peter's and 200,000 gathered in

Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
Col. Lindbergh is going to be married. Medford girls who were wild, despondent, and dispirited at the news, have started to cheer up.
"I am afraid I will have to start plowing," declared Len Carpenter yesterday. From what we know of Len, his fears are unfounded, but his hired man is justified in being scared.
Federal officials have started in war on the narcotic evil in this state. Politicians, candidates of officeholders, and organizations of righteousness and politics are not helping them out much.
SPRING HATS ON DISPLAY
(Albany Democrat)
Now here is something curious. I want to ask you about—when he is at work I love him to death. Every time I look at him I want to put my arms around his neck and smother him with kisses. I just couldn't kiss him if I had to. He has outdone this and speaks of it. Why is it, Miss Dix?
MRS. J. R.
It now develops that Ann Keyes, Los Angeles prosecutor, now in a more or less lonely prison cell, used his high office to blackmail millionaires. This may cause some conjecture as to what happened when citizens crossed Ann's path who were out of money, friends, and lawyers.
MISS MORROW POPULAR
GIRL LIKES CLOTHES—(Hillside Grants Press Courier)—The rare exception.
A continual sense of fatigue is unaccounted for. That great scientific medical scientist and Democratic dark horse, Senator Royal B. Copeland, M.D., but of course Dr. Copeland isn't in a business where people that don't know as much about it as he does, even keep coming in to tell him how to run the paper. (Ohio State Journal.) Whose is this editor gets mad an emits a mouthful.
Former boarder brutes of Alaska, are flocking to this sanctum to rectify how they got away from their wives and hunted gold in '98.
Mrs. John Smith Robin has joined her husband on the University campus. They will start work within the week on their new nestling. The Missus told John she would go back to Maine, if he didn't keep his red breast redder.
Most of the houses with kids have been cluttered up all week with the shavings of Valentines.
The maid who rode to Ashland on the backseat of a motorcycle on the evening of the 4th Inst., stabbed her toe and fell in a fireplace last night.
A poor, puny, peaked-looking bartender was found in a front yard Wed., eating unconstrained female squabbling in a fashionable residence district.
Inasmuch as the womenfolk were gawking with awe, and were intolerably hot, the writer went 50c at bridge, and has a promissory promise for annie.
Gitzo Numada chased a band of Apaches up an alley Tues., and got his feet wet and his pants dusted.
THE WEST
Men who had killed and stolen went West if they got away.
Men who failed went West with their assets and left their habitations behind.
Men of imagination were struck by an idea of the West as by lightning. Western fever was at its height, and men were chasing dreams across a continent.
The sting of a woman's "no" sent many a man West and many another went to lose a woman he couldn't stand.
Men on the verge of suicide went West instead of pulling a trigger or jumping off a building.
Unwashed sons of the rich went West on remittance and unwanted sons of the poor were started West on a fence rail or at the point of a gun.
Lifelong youth went inevitably West in search of a better world and found that what it did was before as well as behind.
(From "In Other Days")
And if the Frenchman who said he didn't see anything in America except hotels had lowered his eyes a bit he might have noticed a filling station brightening a corner here and there.

Editorial Correspondence
PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 11.—Heavy frosts here for three nights in succession and heavier smoldering. The way the smudge smoke hangs on here all day is surprising and highly undesirable. The people in this family hotel building on the coast largely are sleeping. They positively refuse to believe the darkness is due to smudge smoke, maintaining this is merely the California alibi for threatening weather. One elderly couple from Mine started out for their daily constitutional today armed with umbrellas. The morning brought them that hot feet and there wasn't a cloud in the sky and no danger of rain, adding if they went over to Los Angeles they would find he was telling them the truth. The elderly couple smiled indulgently and nodded but went on their way, with their "bumbershoots," which reminds one of the old story of the customer making his first trip to the far west and mistaking a mountain fifty miles away for one only a stone's throw distant, took no chances and proceeded to swim an irrigation ditch.
The new Phillips college for women, is now open at Claremont, California where we recently spent a week end. With a large endowment from Miss Phillips of La Jolla, well over 20 years of age, this promises to be an interesting and unique educational institution, one who chooses here that she has admitted, the freshmen and sophomores of 20 girls each. Next year another class will come in, and the following year the list. The total enrollment will be limited to 250, and each class will have its own building unit, including dining room, living room, kitchen and sleeping quarters. The freshmen and sophomore units have been furnished and the junior and senior units are in process of construction.
More beautiful, luxurious and yet altogether tasteful quarters could scarcely be imagined. Rich rugs on polished the floors, grand chandeliers and attractive reading lamps. The parlors, reading rooms, sleeping porches looking out on olive and orange tree courts where artistic fountains sparkle in the sunlight.
Hygiene and physical education are to be important courses—an excellent idea, for in practical life, health and happiness are inseparable without health. Small classes will also allow personal attention and careful supervision—giving the individual the maximum opportunity for proper development.
We found ourselves wondering how a girl spending four of her most formative years in an environment like that—could be the environment of a millionaire, of culture and good taste—would accept what some—probably most of them—will have to accept when they start out in life for themselves—either as young brides or wage earners.
We had the attention of a female member of our party who replied: "Well, might as well give a kid luxury and happiness (GNCE in her life."
Speaking of women, we saw Fatty Arbuckle in court over in L. A. today—his attorney was protesting against paying attorney to his second—up to his third—wife. Fatty was respondent in a purple shirt, checked out and velvet bow cravat, almost entirely un-

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, sent to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Going to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made in queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper.
THE HOMELIER THE BETTER
It is now pretty well known that a lot of persons—though it isn't so well known what a moron is—think that the "homelier the better" is a "beautiful but dumb" thing. This doesn't mean that all the beautiful are dumb, or that all the ugly are beautiful. A beauty is not likely to say that way if she is very dumb, or if the modern beauty specialists are certain to get her if she doesn't know more than she reads in the theater program.
Just as debatable is the popular idea that all homely people are good. Perhaps the homely ones have to be good if they expect to get by. Not just any old common sense in a beautiful woman, but it is only romantic girls who really ignore or forget wickedness in a handsome man.
In remedies, though, I believe there is a good deal more truth in the idea that the homelier they are the better, and here is an instance that bears this out:
"Several months ago I read your recommendation as to the use of raw flaxseeds for relief of constipation. I began to use the remedy, and for nearly three months have used it with most satisfactory results, having suffered from the ailment for many years. I take mine in a little water, a heaping teaspoonful twice a day, and I feel very grateful for the information. It is so much better than cathartics—L. H."
This refers to ordinary ungrated flaxseed. Some people prefer to mix a spoonful more or less with a breakfast cereal. Some prefer to swallow the flaxseeds in a jelly or soup. It matters not at all how the flaxseeds are taken. There is no particular dose, only a small quantity should be taken every day, until the habit is broken. The habit I refer to is the habit of laxative habit, or the constipation habit.
In only exceptional cases is constipation of ailment. Almost always it is just a bad habit.
The ailments associated with this bad habit are generally due to the injurious cathartics or laxatives which are so recklessly swallowed day in and day out, year after year. Requires a tougher mechanism than the ordinary human mind can withstand such abuse long.
I notify all readers right here that I shall give no information, advice or even sympathy to a correspondent who asks me anything about nervous colic, or other ailments, so, notwithstanding, recommend the daily use of whole flaxseeds to the victims of this condition who are not under medical treatment.
The sensible way to conquer the constipation habit is simply to swear off, and then stick to it. But of course this requires, first, a modicum of intelligence and second, the courage of conviction, that none of the fine evils the mainstream people and quacks (breast) customers with if customers dare to do for a day or two without the regular habit, really happens. I assure you such evils do not happen. That is the best I can do for you. If you can't take my assurance at face value, you don't want my medicine.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
We Hate to Think About It.
Isn't it about time you put something in your column about prematurely gray hair? Why should women have gray hairs at the age of 27? Why do doctors avoid this topic so persistently, or offer directions for care of the hair, which we already know well enough, whenever questioned about this? Is gray hair dead hair? If so, why does it grow? Does dandruff have anything to do with it? Is it hereditary?—H. MacH.
Answer.—Well, 'tis this way. When you're young and haven't any gray hairs, we doctors consider it a certain sign of good health. That's when we commence counting 'em; we prefer to say nothing, hoping other people will take the hint and ignore the matter. And when at last we're awfully gray, then we just hate to think about it at all. I tell you I don't know any more about it, but I do suspect that a suitable iodine ration helps to prevent premature graying of the hair, and unless your doctor forbids you might do well to write in here for instructions about the iodine ration.

Quill Points
The winter resort homes built by natives are easily recognized. They have some arrangement for heating.
A new barber college offers training to colored boys only, this saving students the usual expenditure for coonskin.
Perhaps electric vibrators will reduce flesh. It was a flivver age that made hips disappear.
The papers say Queo Mario is coming across again, but as yet nobody knows which rich Americans are coming across.
The faculty of getting a divorce and trying again lies in the fact that time will wait a rose tomorrow just as it did yesterday.
A good way to tell whether a fur will shed is to park it alongside a blue serge suit.
Chicago's police head is a unique official. He says he doesn't try to enforce the dry law. Others never say it.
Now it is suggested that sea captains be retired when age dulls their minds. Sentiment must not endanger any ship except the ship of state.
Salmon traps, located where the fish habitually run, are enormously valuable. Something like a seat on the stock exchange.
Americanism: Feeling sorry for abused natives in distant lands, feeding Indian wards of the government on $5 a month.
The new seed catalogs prove the country well supplied with experts for the propaganda division in the event of war.
The ruler of Afghanistan lost his throne by trying to make his people "modern." Foolishness is a logical development, not something to be forced on people by law.
Short history of a genius: Crustacean, well-corked, well-friends, well-headed, crust.
Many a wife thinks she is protecting her husband from his tough male friends when she is merely humoring her jealousy.
Perhaps marriage is less sacred than it used to be, but moderns are at least too decent to advocate it as a substitute for sin.
Because his wife did it all, a merchant asked to have his tombstone inscribed: "He accomplished nothing." Getting a wife like that is his meek accomplishment.
South Carolina's governor vetoed a compulsory education act because the plan would educate negroes. You can freeze a head-bow by kicking off the covers.
Little book review for today: "Humdrum Home" by Jeanette Phillips Gibbs (Harper). A bored husband and wife save themselves, as others might, by discovering that candy tastes better if you don't get too much.
Correct this sentence: "I want to do what is right" said the congressman, "regardless of the effect on my career."
Brisbane's Today
(Continued from Page One.)
four more years in the White House. He has been elected once, and was entitled to a second election.
In his own time he will find other important work to do. He might possibly go to the Senate and teach senators to say a good deal in a few words.
On the formal announcement of the agreement between the pope and the Italian government $8,000,000 received the pope's blessing inside St. Peter's and 200,000 gathered in the rain, received the papal benediction from the balcony of St. Peter's.

Now Showing at Hunt's Craterian
ANITA PAGE and RAMON NOVARRO in "THE FLYING FLEET"
Later the king of Italy was enthusiastically applauded as he stood with the queen on the balcony of the quinal.
Throughout the day Mussolini did not appear in public, ignoring crowds that gathered before his palace.
He probably was thinking hard about his latest decision.
From the White House, it was announced on Tuesday that the President "has not made a study of the agreement (between the pope and the Italian government), but unless the rights of American property owners are affected by the creation of a papal state it would hardly be necessary to name a diplomatic representative to the Vatican."
That tentative decision may be reversed.
Hoover and Curtis were not officially elected until the Senate and House Tuesday counted the electoral votes. Our forefathers, convinced that the people didn't know enough to elect a President, arranged to choose electors, "superior men," in each state, the electors to select a President.
That has been changed, and in November you know for whom you are voting. Conservative higher powers still feel that the people don't know enough to use their own dollars, so that to do with money is supposed to be theirs. So they have a Federal Reserve bank to tell the people what to do, and if necessary, choke them with money until they turn in the desired direction.
The other night two of his apartment mates who had gotten home ahead of him were startled by the ringing of the dumb water buzzer, and they went to the kitchen to hand the freight lift up five floors and see what cargo it contained at that time of night. It was the racoon coat. While they were unloading it the hooper came in, pleased with the ruse by which he avoided carrying it up four double flights of stairs.
Ask Any Beautiful Woman
Beauty's first requisite—skin perfection. Thus, the face and whiskers use MELLO-GLO Face Powder that spreads evenly smoothly and produces a youthful bloom. The French process makes MELLO-GLO stay on longer and banish the shiny nose. Pure! Prevents pimples, blemishes, irritation and large pores. Use MELLO-GLO, Health's Drug Store.
GUARANTEED WATCH REPAIRING
Brophy's JEWELERS
MEDFORD, ORE.
Pantorium DYE WORKS
423 AND HOLLY STS. PHONE 844
A COMPLETE CLEANING AND DYEING SERVICE
By BUD FISHER

Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
Col. Lindbergh is going to be married. Medford girls who were wild, despondent, and dispirited at the news, have started to cheer up.
"I am afraid I will have to start plowing," declared Len Carpenter yesterday. From what we know of Len, his fears are unfounded, but his hired man is justified in being scared.
Federal officials have started in war on the narcotic evil in this state. Politicians, candidates of officeholders, and organizations of righteousness and politics are not helping them out much.
SPRING HATS ON DISPLAY
(Albany Democrat)
Now here is something curious. I want to ask you about—when he is at work I love him to death. Every time I look at him I want to put my arms around his neck and smother him with kisses. I just couldn't kiss him if I had to. He has outdone this and speaks of it. Why is it, Miss Dix?
MRS. J. R.
It now develops that Ann Keyes, Los Angeles prosecutor, now in a more or less lonely prison cell, used his high office to blackmail millionaires. This may cause some conjecture as to what happened when citizens crossed Ann's path who were out of money, friends, and lawyers.
MISS MORROW POPULAR
GIRL LIKES CLOTHES—(Hillside Grants Press Courier)—The rare exception.
A continual sense of fatigue is unaccounted for. That great scientific medical scientist and Democratic dark horse, Senator Royal B. Copeland, M.D., but of course Dr. Copeland isn't in a business where people that don't know as much about it as he does, even keep coming in to tell him how to run the paper. (Ohio State Journal.) Whose is this editor gets mad an emits a mouthful.
Former boarder brutes of Alaska, are flocking to this sanctum to rectify how they got away from their wives and hunted gold in '98.
Mrs. John Smith Robin has joined her husband on the University campus. They will start work within the week on their new nestling. The Missus told John she would go back to Maine, if he didn't keep his red breast redder.
Most of the houses with kids have been cluttered up all week with the shavings of Valentines.
The maid who rode to Ashland on the backseat of a motorcycle on the evening of the 4th Inst., stabbed her toe and fell in a fireplace last night.
A poor, puny, peaked-looking bartender was found in a front yard Wed., eating unconstrained female squabbling in a fashionable residence district.
Inasmuch as the womenfolk were gawking with awe, and were intolerably hot, the writer went 50c at bridge, and has a promissory promise for annie.
Gitzo Numada chased a band of Apaches up an alley Tues., and got his feet wet and his pants dusted.
THE WEST
Men who had killed and stolen went West if they got away.
Men who failed went West with their assets and left their habitations behind.
Men of imagination were struck by an idea of the West as by lightning. Western fever was at its height, and men were chasing dreams across a continent.
The sting of a woman's "no" sent many a man West and many another went to lose a woman he couldn't stand.
Men on the verge of suicide went West instead of pulling a trigger or jumping off a building.
Unwashed sons of the rich went West on remittance and unwanted sons of the poor were started West on a fence rail or at the point of a gun.
Lifelong youth went inevitably West in search of a better world and found that what it did was before as well as behind.
(From "In Other Days")
And if the Frenchman who said he didn't see anything in America except hotels had lowered his eyes a bit he might have noticed a filling station brightening a corner here and there.

MUTT AND JEFF—The Little Fellow Has to Get Some Fun Out of This Week's Stunt HELLO, PROFESSOR, OLD KID!
THERE YOU ARE, PROFESSOR! THE PERFECT MECHANICAL ROBOT! IT TALKS! HEAR IT!
ASTOUNDING, MUTT, DO YOU MIND IF I EXAMINE IT?
GO AS FAR AS YOU LIKE, KID! AS LONG AS YOU AIN'T GOT A MONKEY-WRENCH TO LOOSEN THE BOLTS THAT HOLD ME TOGETHER, I SHOULD WORRY!
MUTT, THIS THING IS ALMOST HUMAN! IT'S UNCANNY!
SURE!
MUTT, IT WON'T SAY A WORD NOW! ROBOT, SPEAK! SPEAK UP, I SAY!
I FORGOT TO TELL YOU THAT THIS ROBOT IS LIKE SOME LITTLE DOLLS THAT SAY "MAMMA" IT ONLY TALKS LYING DOWN! PUT IT BACK ON THE COUCH!
PROFESSOR, HAVE YOU GOT ANYTHING ON YOUR HIP?
PROFESSOR, I'LL GIVE IT A SLIGHT KICK IN THE FACE IF YOU INSULTS ME AGAIN!
THIS IS GOOD! SO WEIRD!
2-14