

NURSE ADVOCATED LOCAL INVENTIONS PUBLISHING WORK FOR HIGH SCHOOL TO COMBAT SNOWS OF ADVENTISTS IS TOLD IN LECTURE BY MRS. BESLEY IN COPCO REELS

(Contributed) Miss Besley, of the Oregon Tuberculosis Association, at a meeting of women of the Medford committee, Jackson County Health unit, discussed the problem of health of school children, especially the high school pupil. Of the one hundred dollars expended in the United States per capita per year on the child's education, only fifty nine cents is used on a health program. Considering the life and activities of the school child the discrepancy is obvious. A more extensive program is needed. Miss Besley pointed out the value to a school having a full time high school nurse. It is the adolescent age in which there is the greatest deficiency of tuberculous. And at this time when tuberculosis is alarmingly increasing among high school pupils; in this day of dieting and maintenance of the sick, a nurse might help to rectify the situation. She could go into the homes, discuss the individual problems with parents, check up on dieting, promote education regarding tuberculosis, answer the questions of the developing girl and boy, and grasp the problem as no other instructor can—the sex question of the school. Miss Besley pointed out that although Medford has a full time nurse for all the schools, she could not possibly have the time to reach or meet the individual problems of the high school pupil. Medford has 800 pupils in the high school alone. As with all new projects the idea to the general public may seem visionary and impractical but given a short period in which to demonstrate, Miss Besley feels a nurse could prove her estimable value and place in the high school curriculum. Miss Bradley looks to Medford as a promoter of progressive ideas—next only to one place in the state. The Jackson County Health unit met at the home of Miss Helen Bullis, on Florence avenue on Monday, February 11th. Tribute paid to late W. C. Rice. The session of the First Presbyterian church, its meeting Monday evening, took action to express to Mrs. W. C. Rice the following message: "On behalf of the Presbyterian church and its session, we wish to express to you our sincerest sympathy in the loss of your husband. Yours has been the greatest loss. You have, however, a wonderful memory of years of faithful and loving and tender association with him. May the Lord bless you and your son and give you strength to bear this test of your faith and enrich your faith in the new life that binds to the Heavenly Home. We, too, have suffered a loss. His kindness, his faithfulness, his promptness, his loyalty, his consideration and Christ-likeness will stand out as cherished memories with us. We will miss him in our circle of elders in our services of religious worship to which he has been so loyal. We want you to know that he has left the Spirit of Jesus Christ on whatever he has touched in this church. Most sincerely yours in the Master's Name, K. M. HISSONG, Clerk, E. P. LAURENCE, Moderator."

PUBLISHING WORK OF ADVENTISTS IS TOLD IN LECTURE

How books, pamphlets, tracts and leaflets are produced in 133 different languages and circulated to the extent of more than five millions of dollars worth a year by Seventh Day Adventists, was explained in a lecture illustrated by moving pictures given last night by J. R. Ferren of Mountain View, Cal., in the Adventist church. Ferren represents the Pacific Press Publishing plant which was recently filmed, the pictures showing book manufacture from the receiving of the manuscript to the completed book in a case ready for shipment. This is one of four large publishing houses in the United States, he said, and among the 54 plants that his denomination is now operating throughout the world. The business of the Pacific Press, he said, amounted to more than a million dollars worth of health and religious literature last year. Among other items they published more than a million of a special "Prohibition Signs of the Times," which wielded a strong influence over the country in favor of temperance and prohibition. In their evangelistic work which extends around the world, Ferren declared that the printed agency is having a tremendous influence, and that one of the first pieces of equipment provided a mission station, whether it be in the jungles of Africa, among Indian tribes of South America, or the descendants of the heat hunters in the South Seas, is the primitive press. One of the latest houses has been established in Fiji, and another in the Solomon Islands. These mission plants are teaching and preaching the gospel in more than 100 languages, he said, having during the past six years added a new language to the list every twenty-two days. Twenty tons of ink are consumed each year in Seventh Day Adventist publications. The Pacific Press was established in Oakland, Cal., in 1874, since which time it has produced more than $72,000,000.00 worth of literature. The output of books alone during the past year amounted to more than 400 copies a day, of the Signs of the Times, their leading paper; 4,100,000 were published and circulated last year. The churches of Medford, Ashland and Jacksonville were well represented at the lecture here last night.

A further check on the need of stop signs along the Pacific highway yesterday by State Traffic Officer Herb Moore revealed that 14 such signs will be needed between Medford and the California state line, exclusive of Ashland, which furnished its own signs. A check last Friday between Medford and Grants Pass brought to light a need of thirty-nine signs, of which 19 will be used in Central Point. Dressmaking and remodeling at the Fashion Shop, 424 Medford Blvd., Phone 1181. A civil action, seeking $25,000 damages, was filed at the county clerk's office yesterday by Ida Clarke against E. R. Brophy of Medford, as the result of an auto accident last month when, she claims she sustained severe bodily injuries. Included among the out of town visitors in Medford yesterday were Mrs. Lois Fretwell of Eagle Point, Theodore Deter of Deter, Mrs. Viola Kershaw of Footh Creek, George Henry of Brownsboro, Viola Talen of Beagle, Lois J. Miller of Gold Hill, G. B. Miller of Jacksonville, F. A. Saunders of Phoenix, Mrs. Emma N. Sauer of Ashland and H. E. Crowther of Grants Pass. The elimination of billboards and other signs along the highways of the United States constructed by federal aid is advocated by Thomas H. McDonald, chief of bureau of public roads. He says that the complete effectiveness of standard signs placed along the principal transcontinental highways to aid motorists and insure their safety is hindered by advertising billboards so placed as to obscure them or withdraw attention from them.

The wild turkey bids fair to become a popular game bird in Oregon, according to Harold Clifford state game warden. A considerable number of these birds were being raised at the game farm in Eugene, Corvallis and Pringleton. Sportsmen in all sections where liberations have been made are cooperating with the game commission to prevent illegal killing of the turkeys. Mrs. Mary Hemstreet has returned from an extended visit in North Dakota with relatives, and she was accompanied home by her niece, Mrs. Stuyler, and son Edgar. Miss Grace Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Andrews of Vancouver avenue, has resumed duties as office assistant in the dental office of Dr. L. H. Gove, following a short vacation. Chauncey Nye, 78, member of early Oregon legislature, dies near Prospect, Jackson county, read a news item in the Portland Oregonian, February 11, twenty-five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chisholm and infant son of Oakland, Cal., have located in Klamath Falls, Enroute to that city they spent last week-end with friends at Gold Hill. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Robbins are house guests for a short time of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Robbins of 628 Palm, following their recent arrival from Denver, Colo. To attend the annual Oregon State college educational convention next Friday and Saturday at Corvallis the following representatives of the Medford high school, accompanied by J. D. Thompson and Miss Maurice Carroll of the faculty, will leave next Thursday: Charles Barnes, Ed Reames, Elroy Mae Wilson, Ben Day, Maurice McAllister and Alberta Knapp. Anderson's studio is displaying in the show case "photographs of the past," consisting of tintypes, albumen and soft prints, also modern photography, consisting of the up-to-date pictures.

Grants Pass will entertain the Olds Boys' Conference of the Southern Oregon Y. M. C. A. conference, March 23 and 24. Representatives of church and civic organizations will assist in laying the plans for entertaining the approximately 100 boys. A civil action was filed in circuit court yesterday by Cora Welch against E. A. Welch for approximately $800 for back alimony she claims is due her. Mrs. Welch set forth in her complaint that she received a decree of divorce from her husband several years ago. Light raids carried on by state traffic officers last week in Medford and in Grants Pass revealed that headlights at the latter place were adjusted 41 percent perfect and rated 55 percent perfect in Medford. A number of warning slips were issued at both cities. James Smith of Brown's Hardware store left yesterday for San Francisco to spend several days on business. Chick Hawk, former Medford resident, now located in Portland, is spending a short time in Medford visiting friends and relatives. The first package sent via United Air Express was received by the chamber of commerce Saturday. It was sent from Montague because the United Air planes, carrying the package for the United Air Express, are not landing here, owing to the inadequate runway. Reports are received of an amazing treatment that epileptics state has proved successful in stopping their attacks. R. TREICHLER SEES REAL SMUDGING ON JAUNT SOUTH

"They smudge every night, I was there and with a heavier smudge than I ever saw in Medford," said George M. Treichler in speaking of the cold, disagreeable weather he encountered in Los Angeles. The well known local automobile dealer arrived home yesterday morning after a trip to Los Angeles to attend the opening of the new $1,500,000 Willys-Overland plant. George could have told more of the Los Angeles climate he encountered, but he is too kind-hearted to want to slam any city's shortcomings. Hence he turned from this disgusting subject to dilate on the greatness and modernness of the new plant and to relate that he met quite a number of Medford people who are spending the winter in Los Angeles, including Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Heath and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. English. He also met Mrs. Louis Wackmann, who has resided in Los Angeles for several years past. The new $1,500,000 automobile plant, Mr. Treichler says, is one of the most up-to-date and largest assembling plants in the world. It is now functioning on Whipjets, and will not be able to start work of assembling Willys-Knight cars until March 1st. Until that time, Mr. Treichler says, the Willys-Knight will continue to come from Toledo, Ohio.
