MONMOUTH WILL PLAY IN ASHLAND

The main basketball game in southern Oregon this week-end will be played by the five of the Monmouth Normal school and the Ashland Normal school, at the Ashland Junior high school gymnasium tonight and tomorrow night. Monmouth moved out the Ashland school in a recent game. More than 50 Medford students are enrolled at the Ashland Normal, and many local fans are expected to attend the game.

Ashland boosters have started a drive to get the home folks to attend so the Normal will keep out of the financial hole.

The Phoenix school will play the Rogue River team at Phoenix Friday night and the victor will have a good chance for the county championship. Each team has lost one game. Phoenix scoring a victory over Rogue River in the first game of the season.

It is probable that the winner will play a game with the Medford high school next Friday night here.

SEAT SECTION AT GREEK OVERCOMES HOOP TOURNAMENT THYE WRISTLOCKS HELD FOR FANDOM WITH HEAD HOLDS

For the accommodation of a large number of basketball fans who are planning on attending the state basketball tournament to be held in Salem, March 14, 15 and 16, Principal Conkle of the high school announces that a section of seats will be available for Medford rooters who will sign up for seats before March 1. A letter was received yesterday from the business management to the effect that a section of the best seats will be available. Many fans who expect to attend the tournament wish to have Medford rooters together in one section and this will be possible under the above plan.

Starting tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock fans who wish to have tickets reserved will sign up for them at the Chamber of Commerce. Tickets for the entire tournament must be purchased. These tickets will cost $2.50 and in order to have reservations made it will be necessary at this time for the purchaser to make a deposit of $2. This opportunity of reserving seats in the Medford section will continue until Wednesday, February 27, at which time an order will be sent to the athletic authorities of Willamette university, by whom the tournament is being conducted. While Medford is not yet the southern Oregon champion, there is a feeling among the fans that the local high school will succeed in taking at least one of the remaining games from Ashland, definitely determining the championship of this section.

This is the first opportunity the Medford fans have had of securing a Medford section at the state tournament and it is expected that a large number will take advantage by signing up immediately for tickets.

... and that's how OLD GOLD became the throat-easy cigarette

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21.—(AP) George Kostanaros, Hollywood, evened matters with Ted Thye, Portland, here last night in their return wrestling match by taking two out of three falls from the ex-light-heavyweight champion. Kostanaros took the first fall in 32 minutes 29 seconds with a series of headlocks. Thye clamped on one of his famous wristlocks to take the second fall in five minutes and 29 seconds. Kostanaros' third and deciding fall came suddenly and unexpectedly and caused much discussion among the spectators. After slapping on one of his headlocks and bringing his hands up for the double lock, the Greek knocked Thye through the ropes. Just as Thye stuck his head through the ropes and while referee Wiles' back was turned, Kostanaros sprang at him, clamped on a headlock and when they landed on the floor, Thye's shoulders were flat on the canvas. Wiles awarded the match to Kostanaros over the protest of Thye's second.

The one of the fall was four minutes and 29 seconds. Thye weighed 179½ and Kostanaros 189½.

The match was witnessed by one of the largest crowds attending wrestling matches this winter.

BIG GAME HUNTER MAULED BY LION

NAIROBI, Kenya, British East Africa, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Jack Luby, famous hunter for many years, was in a serious condition at a local hospital from a horrifying mauling by a lion.

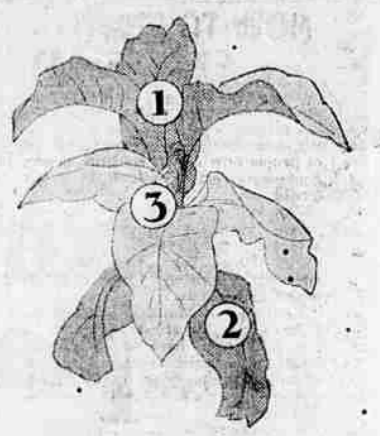

Luby, who was out with Count and Countess Falbo on a hunting expedition in Kibumara, Tanganyika, was striding through a den when he walked right into a full-grown lion lurking there. The beast was of the black-maned variety, said to be the fiercest of lions.

Luby did not have the slightest chance for action, as the lion sprang instantly and struck him down. It mauled him ferociously on his left side and probably would have killed him outright had not another member of the hunting party named Padlar arrived on the scene. The lion turned on Padlar but was shot dead at close range.

"Now every old-timer, down in his heart, knows that the top and bottom leaves may bite the throat. And he knows that the heart-leaves make the smoothest smoke."

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

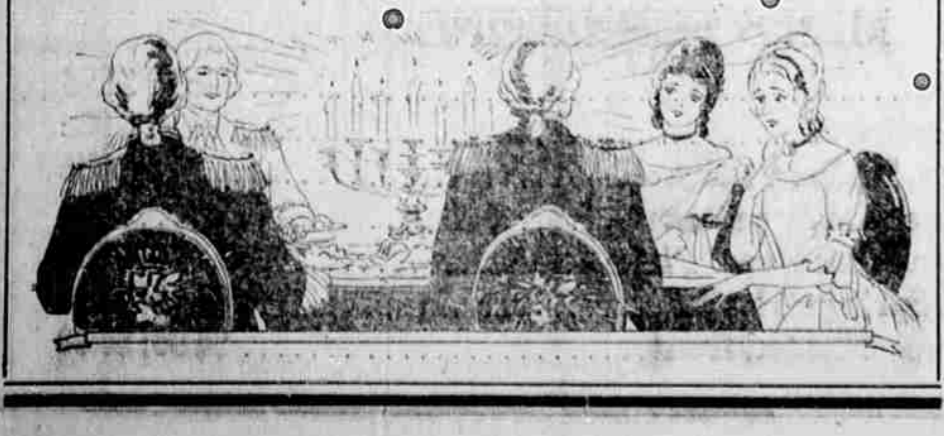

When 2000 Candles Burned at Washington's State Dinner

Proud indeed were our Colonial forefathers of their First President, fairly showering him with appreciation for the gallant leadership that won our independence. At a great state dinner in his honor the banquet hall glistened with the light of 2000 candles.

Historians recorded the cost of this illumination—at $10—because it was an unheard-of extravagance.

Today, light equivalent to 2000 candles is provided by 50 electric lamps of 50 watts for 18 cents an hour. But the glow of 2000 candles in a big banquet hall would be far too feeble for our modern requirements.
