YWCA SECRETARY CONTINGENT UPON FUNDS FOR CHEST

Miss Essie L. Maguire, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A., with headquarters in New York and Portland, who has spent several days in Medford conferring with the local board, left today for Portland, where she will remain until June, before returning to the east.

Whether Medford is to have a full time Y. W. C. A. secretary or a part time official here to arrange and organize a program of activity which will take care of girls' work in the community, will depend upon the success of the Community Chest here, according to Miss Maguire.

The Y. W. C. A. work begins with the Girl Reserves, outlining programs of activity for them; extends to the colleges, where Y. W. C. A. classes are held; and initiates special programs for business and professional girls. The work anticipated in Medford will deal principally with the first and third classes.

Miss Pauline R. Schaedler, secretary of the National Finance division of New York is expected to arrive here sometime in the spring according to Miss Maguire. She is a specialist in budget work, and it is thought will solve that problem for Medford.

Miss Maguire met three or four times with the local board during her stay here. She intends stopping over in Medford again on her way to New York in June.

ASSEMBLY OBSERVES WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

One of the most interesting and instructive programs commemorating Washington's birthday in Medford, was the assembly held at the local senior high school this morning, which was attended by the entire student body and many parents and friends.

Irving Vining was the speaker of the day. He covered briefly the outstanding events in the life of the first president, and traced his influence on the later development of the country.

A number of patriotic selections were played by the high school orchestra during the program. This was supplemented by numbers contributed by the girls' ukulele quartet, trained by Miss Esther Church.

HIGH BASKETBALL TEAM LEAVES FOR GAME IN KLAMATH

The Medford high school basketball team left this afternoon for Klamath Falls, where they play the Pelicans tonight in an exhibition game. The Pelicans are composed of former college stars, and have a large following in Klamath county, who think them unbeatable. It will be the hardest game of the season for the locals, and they have been instructed to go full tilt and get some of the rough spots knocked off. A number of local fans went along to see the battle.

The Phoenix and Rogue River teams play at Phoenix tonight, and this contest will practically decide the secondary champion of the county. Much interest is manifested by followers of both teams. It is probable that the winner will play the Medford team before the state tournament.

The Ashland and Monmouth Normal schools will meet again tonight at the Junior high gymnasium in Ashland.

The O. S. C. Rooks defeated the Salem high school 36 to 12 Wednesday night at Salem. The result was quite a blow to Salem, as they had hoped to equal, if not better, the Medford showing against the Rooks, of 34 to 24.

Upstate critics figure Medford as the best bet for the state championship, "barring injuries and over-confidence—principally over-confidence, of which all Medford teams have plenty," as one sport editor describes the situation.

WOULD TURN FISH LAW MAKING OVER TO A COMMISSION

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Because "unending contention between commercial and sport fishermen in the state, brings a grave danger that the supply of fish in this state for both commercial and sport purposes will be depleted to an injurious extent," Childs of Linn county has introduced a resolution to the house that a commission be appointed to formulate uniform laws governing both sport and commercial fishing to assure an adequate supply of fish i nthe streams of this state for all purposes.

Brisbane's Today

keep quiet. A squirrel knows enough to store up food for the winter, and his brain is active and efficient in proportion to its size.

If the senator from Alabama wants to insult newspaper men he should tell them that they have heads like wart hogs or like the rapidly vanishing white rhinoceros, which has absolutely nothing above its ears.

Many in Britain believe that labor will win the next election.

It depends largely on the "flapper vote," millions of young women who will vote for the first time at the general election. A majority of these girls, rich and poor, except those brought up in union labor surroundings, will vote the conservative ticket. Woman is naturally conservative, as she should be.

American capitalists have bought British companies that supply light and power to important cities.

This worries a labor member of parliament, but it needn't. American industrialists will show their British cousins how to run power companies profitably and how to make profits.

And there won't be any trouble about money. The American and Foreign Power Company announces a plan to raise a little more than a hundred million dollars, largest stock offering ever projected by a public utility company.

Great Britain used to sing, "We've got the men, we've got the ships, we've got the money, too." WE haven't got the ships, but we have got the men that know how to do business and we have got the money.

Investment trusts in Wall Street are as "thick as autumnal leaves that strew the brooks in Vallombrosa," and thicker.

New York's legislature proposes to investigate investment trusts and see what they are doing. Other investigations may follow in Washington.

They will find the right kind of investment trusts well managed, highly profitable investments.

Spreading their funds over many securities, the average of safety is increased, and growth in values in this country seems inevitable.

But an investment trust is no safer than the judgment of the man who makes the investment.

As in other things, the good ones are very good, and the other kind are bad and dangerous.
