

FOUR FEET SNOW AT FISH LAKE IS REPORT OF JONES

That there are four feet of snow at Fish Lake, which is out of the normal depth for this time of year in that high section, and that the lake has long been frozen over some with two feet of snow on frozen slush on its surface is the news brought back by William Jones, superintendent of construction of the Crater National forest, who arrived in the city yesterday from a several days' trip to Fish Lake to make an inspection of the manner in which the forest service road equipment stored there had withstood the winter so far.

Zero or much below zero weather had been prevailing for a long time at the lake until this week when it began moderating to about 8 or 9 degrees above, Mr. Jones says. Hoyt Smith is the caretaker for the irrigation company property at the lake, and his isolation in that wintry solitude is shared by Mrs. Smith, their cabin being at one end of the lake and the forest property at the other end.

TICKETS SELLING WELL FOR MATCH

If present indications hold true, it is probable one of the largest crowds of the season will be present next Monday night at the Rioalto theatre, where Jim Heald, Australian light heavyweight champion, and Tom Alley of Portland wrestle in a finish match, to be followed by boxing pictures of the championship wrestling match between Gus Sonnenberg and Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

INSURANCE LUNCHEON HOTEL MEDFORD TODAY

Celebrating the winning of the Pacific Coast leadership prize offered by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company to its various districts of the coast, the officers and agents of the southern Oregon district, including Medford and Klamath Falls, this noon gathered at the Hotel Medford, where luncheon was served. Plans were made during the luncheon for the ensuing year and a general roundtable discussion of insurance problems were the order of the hour.

JUNIOR HIGH TEAM TO PLAY POINTERS ARMORY

Having lost only four out of 15 games played, the Medford junior high school basketball team is prepared for another victory tonight when it plays the second team of the Central Point high school at the armory, preceded by a preliminary game between the seventh and eighth grade teams of the two schools. The Central Point team is a dangerous contender for tonight's honors and Coach Henderson has been putting his boys through special drills. The local lineup will be made up of Harrington and Roberts, forwards; White, center; Zumbann and Davison, guards.

MRS. HOLLOWAY TO CHANGE LOCATION

Mrs. Alice Holloway, owner of the Town and Country Shop, formerly run in conjunction with the Orbie Nutwick, Inc., designing and dress-making establishment on South Central, is packing her stock and moving to the house purchased this week by Mrs. Holloway and Miss Nutwick, on East Main street, near the Crater lake highway.

BODY ATTACK GIVES UZCUDUN CLEAR DECISION

Christner Unable to Bend Basque's Jaw — Lands Hard and Often in First Two Rounds Without Avail — Big Crowd at Bout

By Herbert W. Barker. (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Meyer (K. O.) Christner, the Akron rubber puddler, has proved the dynamite in his right hand is no myth, but in doing so he found one jaw that refused to yield under a pounding from that potent weapon.

Making his second appearance in Madison Square Garden since he knocked out Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane, Christner dropped the decision to Paulino Uzcudun, rough woodchopper from Spain, in an exciting 10-round bout last night.

The decision was eminently fair, for Paulino, after a bad start, came back to give the Akron slugger a thorough trouncing in all but the last of the final eight rounds.

In the final session, Christner, army-weary as he was, staggered the sturdy Basque with one terrific right to the jaw and then sought vainly an opening for a finishing punch. Paulino, undoubtedly badly hurt, rallied his falling senses long enough to step inside the next right hand bolt Christner threw his way and then bored in too close for the Akron fighter to use his only effective weapon. The final bell rang a cryer, but courageous Paulino whaling away with both hands to Christner's body.

"K. O." Starts Well. Christner, who recently surprised the experts and Jack Sharkey by giving that Boston sailor a tough evening at the Garden, had Paulino in some distress almost before the battle was a minute old. His right cracked like a pistol shot on the Basque's chin and Paulino retreated, badly stunned. Again and again the Ohioan accurately found his target with that right hand, but Paulino finally got in close enough to hang on and recuperate.

Again in the second round Christner punched the Spaniard about the ring, while Paulino, vainly trying to get his bearings, made not a single gesture of offense unless a few wild, left hooks that did no damage are considered.

The start of the third round found Christner leading by a wide margin, but it was not long until there was a sharp turnabout, this time in Paulino's favor. A heavy left hook thudded home on Christner's stomach and the Ohioan winced perceptibly. Having found a dent in his rival's armor at last, Paulino continued his attention exclusively thereafter to Christner's body. That was good strategy, as it proved, for the steady tattoo Paulino pounded on the Akron battler's body eventually slowed him up and took much of the sting out of his punches.

From then on it was all Paulino, barring that tenth round rally by Christner. Christner did not have time to use his right hand. He was too busy trying to formulate a defense for Paulino's body attack. He never did find a defense and therein lies the story of his defeat.

Battered and roughed around for seven rounds, Christner did rally long enough to come within an ace of flooring and perhaps stopping Paulino in the last round but the Basque had piled up too big a lead to lose except by knockout. And for all the power in his right hand, Christner could not sweep the rugged Spaniard from his feet.

WASHINGTON FIVE TO PLAY STATERS SCHEDULE WINDUP

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 23. — (AP) — The northern division of the Pacific coast basketball conference will wind up its season tonight. The champion University of Washington centers meet Oregon State here while the stellar hugging Gizzies from Montana will tackle Washington State at Pullman.

A brace of upsets would throw the two state colleges into a tie for third place, now filled by the Cougars of Pullman. Otherwise tonight's games were more scheduled formalities as far as the standings of the division are concerned.

Oregon State's defeat of Idaho, runner up to the Huskies, at the start of the week, and Washington's narrow escape last night from the lowly Oregon quintet buoyed the hope that O. S. C. might break the Gold Shirts' record of nine straight conference victories.

However, there was no indication that the Gizzies would do anything more than rattle the Cougars at Pullman.

WALKER HAS EASY TIME WITH SETUP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Having eliminated a "spot" opponent by a thorough thumping, Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, turned his attention today to the light heavyweight title.

Yesterday Walker gave Jack Willis, San Antonio slugger, a beating in their ten-round non-title bout at the San Francisco baseball park. It was the second meeting of the pair. A year ago, St. Louis' McGinnis' birthday, the 160-pound champion took a hard fought decision.

Yesterday Walker added a more decisive touch by beating Willis in eight rounds, allowing his opponent one round, and holding one round even.

NEGRO BOXERS RENEW OLD GRIDIRON RIVALRY

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — A rivalry feud between two negro middleweights, Billy Long of Philadelphia and Al Trout of Cincinnati, has begun to attract attention in Florida rings.

After they had fought 114 rounds without either gaining a clear cut triumph, it came out that their ring rivalry dated back to opposition on the football field when both were trying for quarterback at a Philadelphia school. Their quarrel was transferred to the squared arena about a year ago.

LOCALS PUT OVER 61 TO 42 DEFEAT ON PELICAN TEAM

The Medford high school basketball team journeyed to Klamath Falls last night and handed the highly touted Pelicans a 61 to 24 defeat. The Pelicans had won 23 straight games, and considered themselves extremely hot as basketball players. The result cooled them off.

The game was played on a tiny floor, and the Callison crew took three jumps and were under the basket. They scored 14 points before the Pelicans managed to cage a leave. After Medford got a commanding lead the players fooled along making baskets as they pleased.

The final games of the annual Ashland-Medford series will be played the coming week-end, the first game in this city next Friday. The locals need one more game to clinch the series, and the right to represent this district in the annual state tourney at Salem.

The Ashland school was unmercifully nailed in the first two games, and their civic and school pride was terribly hurt. As a result they have got down to business, and have been training, and are promising Medford a struggle in the last games.

TENNIS COURTS AT HIGH SCHOOL WILL START ON MONDAY

Work will start Monday morning on the construction of four tennis courts at the high school. The cement work will be done by Maulby and Denhart and the plain and fancy labor by high school students. The courts will cost about $2,000, depending on the amount of work the students do. The school board recently voted to pay half of the cost, and the high school student body will pay the balance.

The courts will be all-weather courts, and will be available to the general public.

NORDEEN OF BEND SLIDES TO CRATER FOR RECORD MARK

KLAMATH FALLS, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Smashing all records for the event, Emil Nordeen of Bend, won the third annual 42-mile Port Klamath-Crater Lake ski race yesterday in five hours, 57 minutes. The new record was established in a blinding snow storm, which raged along the course during the morning and afternoon.

Nordeen, 42, was the oldest contestant in the race. He was well in the lead at the Crater rim on the up trip, and lengthened his lead to 40 minutes on the down trip.

The "down race" of 21 miles from the rim of Crater Lake to Port Klamath was won by Willard Riscoe, Wood River valley, in two hours. Church Zumborn of Fort Klamath was second.

PRINTZ CHAMPION ASHTON MUSHER

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Having lived again his annual day of glory which witnessed the delecting as "king of the snowy trails," the veteran musher, Ted Kent, and the elevation in his stead of Fred Printz of Cascade, Idaho, this little town in the shadow of the giant Tetons had set back again today to contemplate the American deer derby.

Printz's time, a new record for the 25.7 mile course, was 10 minutes faster than that of Kent, who finished fourth. Ahead of him were two youths, Delbert Groom, 17-year-old student of Ririe, Idaho, and Warren Brown of McCall, who were second and third respectively. Harry Whitehead, Idaho Falls drug-gist, was fifth.

"Whistlin' Syd" Hutchinson, Ashton's woman musher, came in fourteenth.

HUSKY HOOPERS IN FLASH FINISH WIN AT EUGENE 50-44

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 23. — (AP) — The University of Washington basketball team outplayed the University of Oregon, for five of 40 exciting minutes of basketball here last night and walked off with the contest by a score of 50 to 44. The victory was earned in the last few minutes by the cool headed Husky hoopsters when a brilliant Oregon defense faltered and Bill Reinhard, Welfoot mentor, ran in his reserves in a vain effort to stave off defeat. The game marked the end of the Pacific coast conference schedule for Oregon, while Washington has one more contest, with Oregon State at Corvallis tonight, and then will enter the annual play-off series for the coast championship of the conference with the University of California at Seattle.

Inl McClary, the Giant center, led the Husky attack in the crucial minutes of the final period after the count had been tied at 34 to 34, with only three or four minutes left to play. McClary sank the basket which tied the score. Percy Hack, Washington reserve, made the next field goal, and then McClary, with uncanny skill, sank three baskets in succession. It was this drive which decided the game.

The Oregon Freshmen evened matters with the Washington Babes in a torrid basketball tilt played as a preliminary to the season's contest between the Huskies and Oregon here tonight. The Oregon youngsters won, 36 to 26. In an earlier game this season, the Babes defeated the yearlings, 28 to 29 at Seattle.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 23. — (AP) — University of Idaho clinched second place in northwest conference basketball standings here last night when its unit defeated Montana, 44 to 31. The game was raged, with Montana having difficulty in getting started.

TACOMA, Feb. 23. — (AP) — Willamette University's basketball unit won by a wide margin in the first of its two-game series here last night with College of Puget Sound, 43 to 23.
