

NEWS of the DAY in PICTURES

THE LATEST STYLES IN UP-TO-DATE LINGERIE are shown here, as exhibited in Chicago by models under direction of Kathryn Cunningham. At the left is something new—a modernistic corset.

AMERICA has no civilization at all, despite her material progress, while India has a very rich and spiritual civilization, according to Sarojini Naidu, first woman president of the Indian National Congress, who has just reached San Francisco on her first visit to America.

SURELY you recognize this lady, if you ever went to the theater. She's Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, otherwise known as Billy Burke, photographed at her winter home in Palm Beach, Fla.

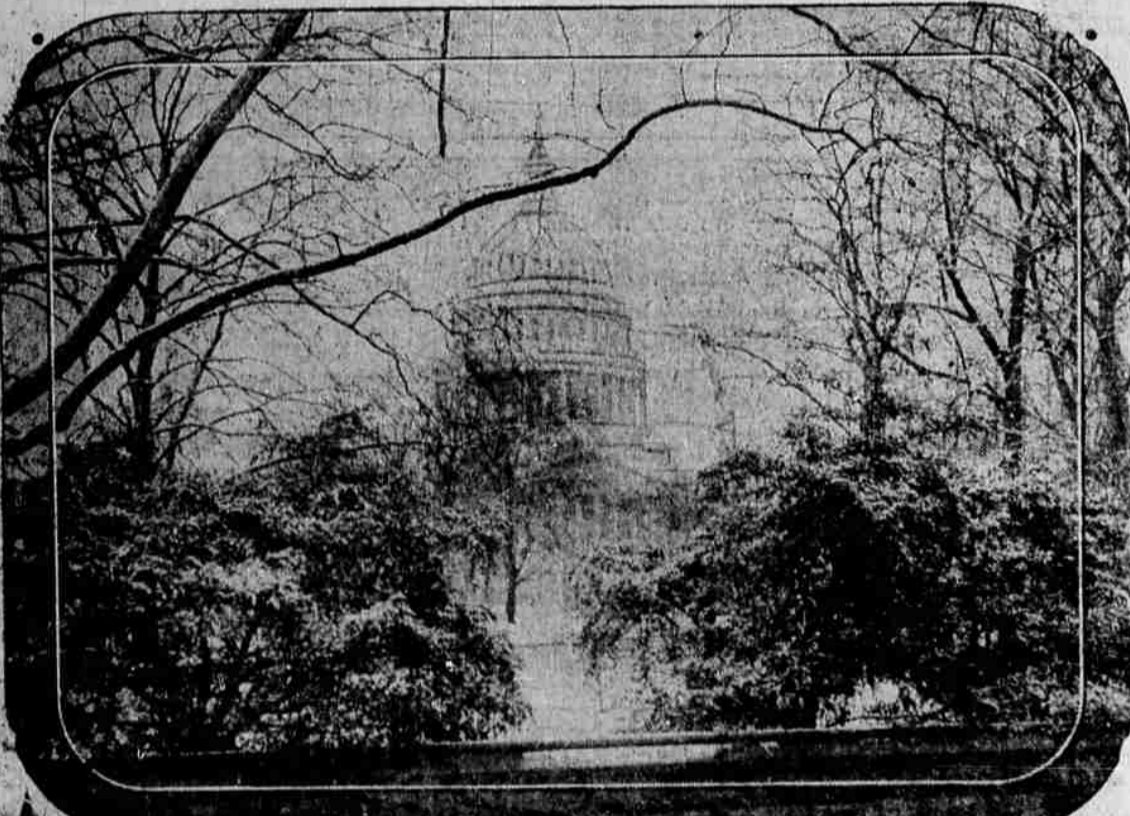

THE SUNSET PEACE OF THE ANCIENT EAST ENFOLDS RESTLESS WAR VESSELS lying at anchor in Manila Bay. In the background at the right are two U. S. warships; at the left is a merchant vessel, and in the foreground is a naval barge from one of the fighting ships.

THEY'RE 200 FEET BELOW SEA LEVEL, even if they are on the surface of the water, are these speeding outboard-motor yachtsmen. How come? They're piloting their craft on Salton sea, in the desert of southeastern California, and that body of water is below the level of the ocean.

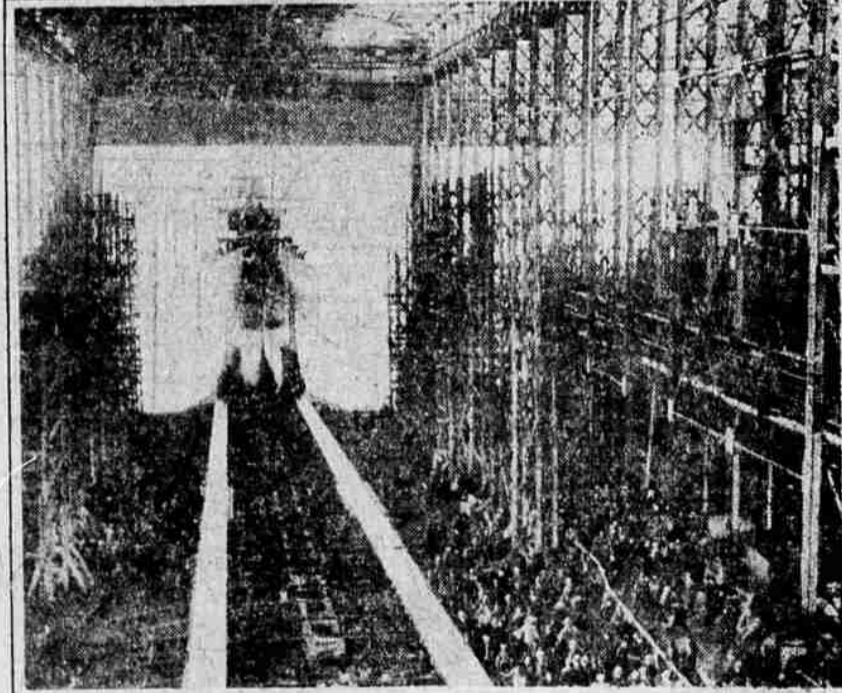

HEADING INTO A STRONG WIND, GIRL FIRE FIGHTERS OF JAPAN'S CAPITAL parade before the Emperor Hirohito at a grand review of all Japanese fire brigades. This detachment is known as the fire brigade of Aome, Tokio-fu.

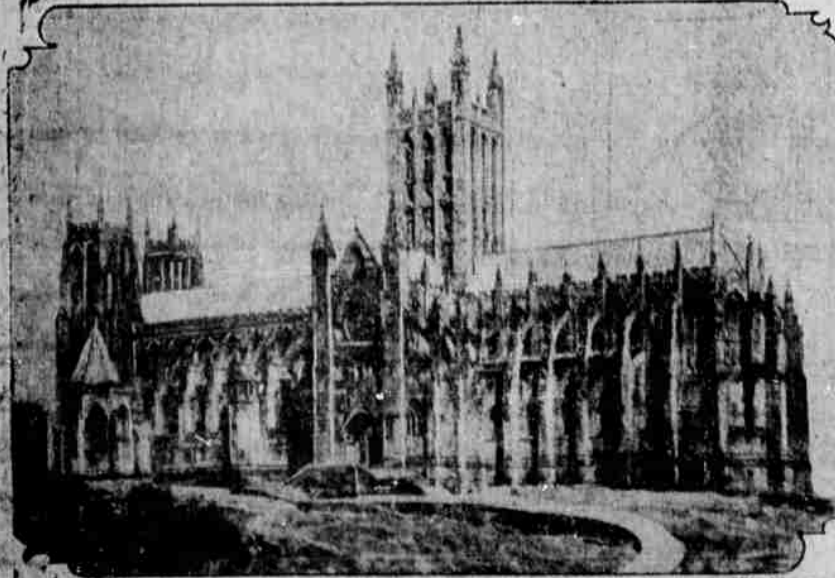

RISING MAJESTICALLY ABOVE A SNOWY CARPET, THE U. S. CAPITOL BUILDING at Washington presents a picture of striking beauty after a heavy snowfall—especially when framed by the snow-laden trees and bushes in the foreground.

TWENTY FEET tall is this new statue of the Italian dictator, Mussolini, which will soon be unveiled in the great stadium at Bologna, Italy.

SLIDING OUT FROM A SKELETON OF TALL GIRDERS, the United States Navy's first 10,000-ton cruiser takes the water at Camden, N. J., and is christened the U. S. S. Salt Lake City. This unusual photo shows the vessel just as it struck the water.

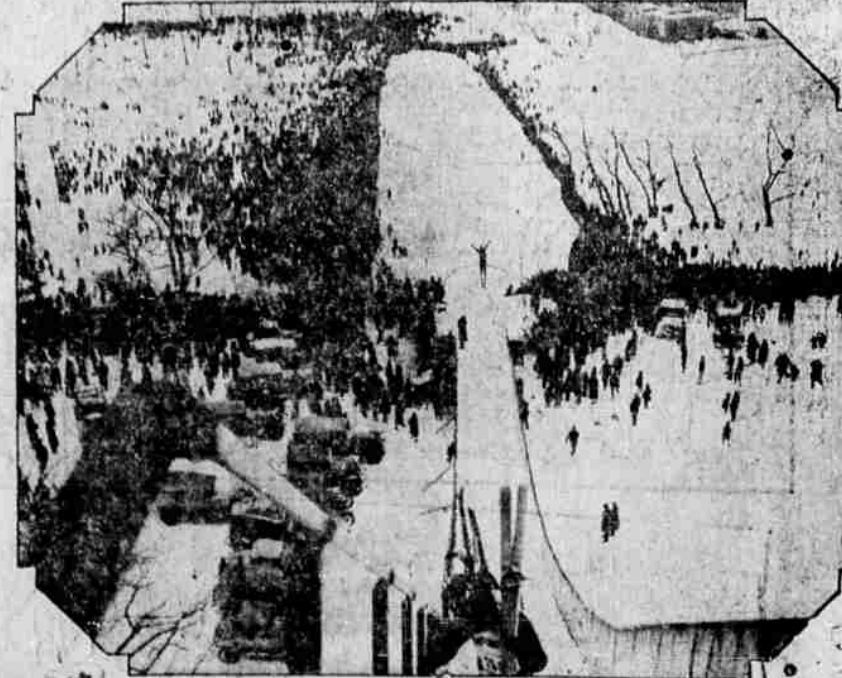

STATELY IN GOTHIC BEAUTY ON MT. ST. ALBANS, the great Washington Cathedral will look like this when completed. Designed as a "national cathedral," the building will contain more stained glass windows than the famed Cathedral of Chartres in France.

DEMON Tsuchigumo, of old Japan, is a fearsome chap. This shows how he looked, as portrayed by Prof. T. Ninomiya in a play given by Japanese residents of Los Angeles.

ONE STRAP on the bathing suit is all the rage now, according to word from southern resorts. This suit, worn at Miami Beach, Fla., by Mrs. Earl Salomon of Chicago, is reversible, and enables the wearer to get first one shoulder tanned and then the other.

THIRTY THOUSAND PEOPLE WATCHED AS SKI-JUMPERS SOARED into the air at the first international meeting of the Milwaukee Ski Club. This picture shows one of the 80 contestants just as he took the air at the foot of the slide.