TABLE ROCK COWS GIVEN CLEAN BILL BY HEALTH TESTS

TABLE ROCK, Ore., March 1.—(Special)—Dr. Gluzen, the wide awake Medford veterinarian, who made the rounds of this district some time ago testing for tuberculous symptoms, reports a clean bill of health for cows in this end of the county.

Efforts are being made to start a thrift campaign here among the school children similar to those already in operation in other schools of the county. This plan would encourage children to save and deposit small amounts of money with their local bank, which would draw interest from the time of deposit.

The Lewis brothers moved their sheep Thursday from the Miller place to the Desert camp northeast of the Medford orchard.

After one of the longest protracted cold spells known in these parts, spring seems to be just around the corner. The robins are returning, China roosters are indulging in their customary spring fights, crocuses and other early plants are popping out of the ground, and a few members of the frog and have tuned up and are complaining about the dryness of the country as far as weather is concerned. As further evidence that spring is nearly here today a pretty girl gave us a bouquet of home grown violets, which was very sweet of her, as the blossoms were exceedingly fragrant and she gave us nearly half of what she had, which we highly appreciate as everyone will the spring season when it is finally ushered in.

Ralph Wilson sold a truck load of cows to the Binn meat market last week.

Lester Hamilton is still suffering from the after effects of the flu, which he contracted early in the year.

Two salesmen from a Medford nursery were canvassing this section one day last week.

Vern and Melvin Hayes have returned from Yakima, Wash., where they worked in a fruit dryer during the winter. They report two feet of snow and bitter cold weather when they left the northern city.

The Beagle district is reported to be infested with scarlet fever, many of the people being afflicted with the disease.

The last meeting of the Community club was well attended, there being present besides the local population, people from several other districts of the valley. The program, which consisted wholly of home talent, was well carried out and won much applause, especially the last number, which was a little five-scene play entitled "How the Story Started."

The funeral of E. F. Nichols Wednesday afternoon at Medford was attended by several from this place. Mr. Nichols was for many years a resident of this place, having homesteaded and cleared a tract of land on the north side of Table Rock which was later known as the Harry Wilcox place, and is now a part of the Medford orchard. During his residence here he proved himself a good neighbor, kind hearted father and husband, and a hard working, energetic citizen, who during the years when he was trying to clear his land, build his home and rear his family with scarcely any income except what he could get by days' work now and then, necessarily went through many trying hardships. But always his cheerful disposition was in evidence and a hearty laugh was ready at a second's notice.

Farm and orchard work is in full swing here at present, everyone being anxious to get as much done as possible before a looked for change in the weather takes place.

FOOTS CREEK SCHOOL PATRIOTIC EXERCISES AND MUSIC PROGRAM

FOOTS CREEK, Ore., March 1.—(Special)—On February 22 the school gave a splendid patriotic program in honor of our country's great men. The school showed that many of the great men who have shaped up this country were born in February. The harmonica club gave a good recital and Mrs. Lamb's class in instrumental music gave its first performance.

Mrs. John Biles is now convalescing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lane, with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Laner, attended the new Klondike play last Wednesday afternoon.

Ed Koster made a business trip to Roseburg February 21.

Mrs. Bessie Anderson is just recovering from a severe attack of the flu.

Bert Zimmerman, who broke his leg recently is able to leave the hospital and his sons took him home to Prospect last Saturday night.

Mrs. Clay Biles and her children spent last Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. B. Short.

Clay Biles is gradually getting the use of his injured hand.

Ten new hymn books have been purchased by the Sunday school. Mrs. J. B. Short gave a reading of a new piece of poetry, "The Man With the Hoe," written by W. M. Carle. It was much enjoyed by all. Mr. Carle is a foreign resident of this community.

John B. Short is spending considerable time inspecting the real estate of his county. He is looking for a home and alfalfa land.
