

YALE LAW SCHOOL RESEARCH REPORT ENFORCEMENT AID

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—President Hoover gave further consideration today to the general law enforcement inquiry to be made by his national commission, conferring with Robert M. Hutchins, dean of the Yale law school, and Professor Charles E. Clark of the same school.

Official information was received that he had made no selections for the commission and had not even approached any of those whose names have been submitted for consideration.

The Yale law school recently made an exhaustive study of law violations in the country and it was understood that the Yale men presented some of this information, elaborating upon it at a later conference with Attorney General Mitchell.

No Parking Worries Bother Mary

Southern California has scores of these open-air markets, where everything from soup to doughnuts may be purchased within a few moments. It's just a matter of driving in, getting out and buying. And in some of these places one needn't get out of his Silver Anniversary Buick—the customers are waited on from their cars. Mary Brian, screen star, conducts a survey in her 1929 sedan.

PIONEER OF RADIO PRODUCER OF 350 PLAYS OVER MIKE

BERKELEY, Cal.—(AP)—When the radio drama has lived long enough to be entitled to its historian, chroniclers would consider the name of Mrs. Wilda Wilson Church of Berkeley for the position.

MRS. WILDA WILSON CHURCH

Mrs. Church produced her first play before the microphone in 1921. Since then she has produced and directed more than 350 plays. For nearly seven years the Berkeley woman educator kept her original end virtually intact.

The production of stage plays, however, and the radiophonization of literary works eventually brought the complications and grief that are the lot of the producer. Producers and writers combined to demand payment for the right to reproduce their works.

Mrs. Church recognized the justice of their demands, but she was helpless to comply with them, for no method of raising the revenue was open to her.

The publishers of Bernard Shaw went that under no condition was any work of his to be radio dramatized. Those of Sir James Barrie put a minimum price of $500 for any microphone rights.

At 6 o'clock on the evening of the night on which the play of a famous California author was to be presented came a long distance telephone call from Los Angeles forbidding the presentation of the drama that had been announced to start at 8 o'clock that night.

In desperation a play on which the copyright had expired was sought, and with only 30 minutes for rehearsal it was presented.

For three years Mrs. Church's cast never missed presenting a play each week. She is authority for the statement that the opening of a play has never been delayed by the lateness in arrival of a player. No member of the cast received for any production more than $5 each, and this included three rehearsals.

Numerous law suits forced the abandonment of copyrighted plays or published articles. Mrs. Church then put on the air an appeal for original plays. The response was generous.

REFUSED VACCINATION, ENTIRE FAMILY SICK

Refusal to be vaccinated was a reason given by the county health unit yesterday why smallpox has stricken the entire Charles Swift family of east Medford, following the affliction of one of the children, Louise. The father and mother, while not fully diagnosed as having the disease, were suspicious cases yesterday afternoon. Other members of the family of several children are in bed with the affliction.

Attempts were made to have the family vaccinated, after the youngster took sick, but the offers of vaccination were refused.

Scarlet fever still offers a problem for the unit, according to Dr. Emily Holcom, medical director, who said this forenoon there are several cases in Central Point, including several "missed" cases. Warning was again issued against the holding of week-end parties to eliminate personal contacts.

MEDFORD CITIZENS SHOULD INVESTIGATE PROPOSED AIR PORT

(Contributed)
Headquarters for information regarding the proposed air port have been established in the chamber of commerce and it will be a pleasure to furnish all information desired and to answer all questions regarding the port, according to the airport committee which has at hand data showing what the air port means to every citizen of Medford, the small increase in taxes that would be required to pay for the same, the payroll of $80,000 in salaries yearly it will bring to Medford, besides the net returns from the port itself, the expenditure of over $100,000 by the government in radio station, weather bureau office and equipment and beacon lights already located here—provided the new airport is established—and other general information should be studied by every one interested in Medford's welfare before they vote on the bonds on April 2nd.

If the port is authorized by the people, Medford will be a "key city" on the Pacific coast always.
