

ATHLETES HAVE DEFINITE IDEAS COLLEGE CHOICE

Champion High School Football and Basketball Stars Select Schools for Higher Learning—Eleven to Leave.

Now is the time for all good high school athletes to try and figure out where they are going next fall for the higher education after graduation, and that is the very thing the stalwart members of the Medford high school state champion football and basketball squads are now doing. Young athletes who win championships in two major sports, receive invitations to decorate the campus, and are not chased away from fraternity houses, and co-eds don't turn up their pretty noses at them.

All members of the Medford champion teams were members of both the football and basketball teams, and subject to change without notice, and whatever the amount of rival institutions may say, have decided about as follows:

Fred (Red) McDonald is pointed for the Oregon State College.

where he can study agriculture. He weighs 180 pounds, plays end in football, and this year was a basketball center. He is over six feet tall, and able to take care of himself. He was the logical selection for all-state center, at least on the second team, but received a scant honorable mention. He was such a weak center, that the all-state second team center was unable to score a single basket against his guarding. A Willamette valley coach told the writer and William Offutt, Jr., that the reason McDonald did not secure an all-state place was because many of the coaches did not like his manner. The boy is cocky.

Al Nelson, all-state forward and football quarterback, is thinking of attending the University of Oregon. He is fast, and tall, and a crack shot. He can throw a football like an apple. He is a little light for heavy work on a varsity football team, so would probably be saved for the indoor sport.

Bernie Favors Oregon.
Bernie Hughes, football center, six feet high, rough and rugged, and rated the best high school center in the state last fall, will probably attend the University of Oregon. He weighs 185 pounds, is strong as a bull and a football player if there ever was one. He is also a boxer of no mean ability. In the summer he works on logging contracts and builds railroads. He will attend summer school to make up a deficit in a study. Medford fans will follow with keen interest the fate of Mr. Hughes, as they have abundant proof that he is the likeliest looking football prospect that has come out of an Oregon or Portland school in many a moon. If he is requested to turn in his suit the end of the first week's football practice, southern Oregon will give up trying to get a favorite son on a varsity squad.

Jack Hughes, brother of Bernie, fighter by 19 pounds, but with all the other qualifications, will also probably attend Oregon. He plays guard.

Al Steehr, a mammoth tackle, is also scheduled to attend the University. Last season Steehr found himself, and was a whale of a player.

Bill Morgan, all-state basketball guard for two years, and a football tackle of cleverness, is undecided where he will cast his athletic fortune, but thinks a lot of three or four Oregon colleges.

Three Like Huskies.
Clifton Garnett, football and basketball player, Bill Bowerman, ditto, and Benny Harrell, football halfback, with an alternate appointment to one of Uncle Sam's schools, will probably attend the University of Washington. They have been assured they will not starve to death, and have located jobs if they decide to get their education outside of Oregon.

Harold (Swede) Anderson, a football and basketball player, does not believe he will go after a college education for another year.

The above completes the list of Callison coached players, who graduate from the high school in June.

Their graduation will eradicate 11 players from the football squad, and already there is a rush of requests for games with Medford next fall. It will be a lean year for the locals, but they will not be entirely helpless, and any opponent will have a busy afternoon. The team will be last year's second squad, and all have been under fire, and know what it is all about. They did most of the plain and rough work last season, and include: Mete, Sprague, Green, Cooke, Applegate, Pater and Dobbins. All are good-sized chunks of kids, well grounded in football fundamentals.

ROSEBURG BROCCOLI SHIPMENTS INCREASE

ROSEBURG, Ore., Mar. 22.—(AP) Broccoli movements from the Umpqua valley are increasing in volume. Three carloads have been shipped and two more cars will be loaded out today. The weather here is now ideal for maturity and growers are hurried to keep pace with development. Sizes are running larger than had been expected. It was thought that because of the earlier lack of moisture the heads would be small.

Asks Annulment For Marriage She Cannot Remember

Suit for the annulment of her marriage in 1921 to Bert Cochran was filed yesterday in circuit court by Mrs. Gertrude Bennett on grounds that she was married at the time Cochran became her husband. The plaintiff claims she was either under the influence of intoxicating liquor or some narcotic when she married her second husband.

She claims further that she remembers no marriage ceremony and did not know she was a principal in a wedding until told so by relatives. In her suit, the plaintiff states she has never lived with her second husband and that she has an official husband living in Yreka, whom she had married in 1919.

The Treasure Chest is open

In it was a GENERAL ELECTRIC ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR Model G40

IN place of diamonds, gold, and finely wrought silver that might have tumbled out when the great Treasure Chest was opened, there stands revealed a thing of greater value still—the new small-family, All-Steel General Electric Refrigerator, Model G-10.

Into this new model have been put the efforts of the scientists and engineers of General Electric Company; the same group of men who perfected the sealed-in mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator. This new achievement of the research laboratories marks the greatest improvement during the past 30 years, in the design and construction of household cabinets.

It's all steel, with electrically welded joints. Bronze hardware is bolted onto the steel. Black faced door edges . . . self-closing latch . . . gliders to protect linoleum . . . these and many other features are built into this new General Electric product.

This new small-family model makes electric refrigeration possible in every home. Its price is remarkably low. Only a small down payment is required. The balance can be paid conveniently over a period of time. Just a few dollars a month will do it.
