

TAMMANY WILL LOOK TO SMITH IN CHIEF CHOICE

Former Governor and Party Leaders to Pick New Chief for Wigwam—Man From Ranks' Plan Has Poor Success.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Having failed to pick a man "from the ranks," Tammany today was looking to former Governor Alfred E. Smith and other party leaders to help choose a new chief.

After accepting the resignation of George W. Olvany yesterday, the executive committee was appointed to consult Mr. Smith, Mayor Walker, Surrogate James A. Foley and United States Senator Wagner.

The decision to invite the titular head of the Democratic party into the council of the wigwam was an about-face on the part of the district leaders. During a week of intensive campaigning a man in themselves they had ignored Mr. Smith in their determination that no "outsider" should have a voice in the picking of the new leader.

Until the committee of confidence has had time to act and a new leader is named Olvany will continue to discharge the duties of the position from which his sudden resignation a week ago threw Tammany into a turmoil of internal strife.

Although the week's campaign under the slogan "a man from the ranks" had brought forward John F. Curry and Martin G. McCue, district leaders, as outstanding candidates, no vote was taken at the executive committee meeting.

OAKLAND SHRINERS CHARTER SHIP FOR CEREMONIAL HERE

Word has also been received from Ashley Temple of Oakland that they will charter one of the large tri-motored biplane planes of the West Coast Transport and fly to this city for the ceremonial on April 27. Members from Oakland who will make the trip are enthusiastic looking forward to viewing the Shrine at Crater Lake and the Rogue River valley from the air. Oakland is spending considerable time and money in establishing their city as the aeronautical center of the West, and the chartering of the plane mentioned is another feature in their activity along this line.

Merchants of the city have promised their co-operation in decorating windows and business blocks and the streets will be decorated in the Shrine colors, somewhat after the fashion of the American Legion convention held here last summer.

Visitors are expected from all sections of the coast and candidates for initiation into the mysteries of the Mystic Shrine will come from all parts of the Domain of Hillah Temple which covers the entire state of Oregon, other than Multnomah county.

Events of the SCREEN

Coming Tomorrow.

A nation-wide search for the ideal film vehicle for that popular pair, Dorothy Mackall and Jack Mulhall, resulted in the purchase of "Children of the Ritz," a $10,000 prize magazine serial, which was made into the picture of the same title, coming to the Hialto theatre tomorrow.

Cornell Woolrich, 21-year-old author wrote "Children of the Ritz."

For the first time a story was judged for its combined merits as a film plot and a magazine serial. Excellence in both divisions, as adjudged by a board of competent critics.

JAPS BOOST TARIFF ON LUMBER IMPORTS

TOKYO, March 23.—(AP)—Both houses of the Japanese diet today passed a new and higher tariff schedule on lumber. The schedule will affect principally pine, cedar spruce and hemlock, most of which comes here from the American northwest.

It is expected to increase revenue in this country by about $500,000 a year (about $2,500,000). It will affect an American-Japanese lumber trade of about $100,000,000 annually. The bill was opposed strenuously by Japanese consumers and American exporters.

Flying Finn Can't Fly

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 23.—(AP) Pavo Nurmi, flying Finn of the Pavo path, found the airway impossible of navigation today but was waiting at the Salt Lake airport for a cessation of a snowstorm that would permit him to resume an interrupted flight to Los Angeles.

Medford One Best Natural Airport Cities of Country

When the United Air Express inaugurated its air schedule on the Pacific coast, February 15, one of the principal cities selected on its route was Medford. Many reasons have entered into the choice. Principally the officials of the company considered the importance of Medford in the commercial and industrial life of southern Oregon, and Oregon as a whole. Another important consideration was the fact that the people are "air-minded."

Offering the most favorable wind and landing conditions, Medford presents one of the best natural airport cities in the country. For this reason, it was chosen as a station for air mail planes and for the air transportation of many private companies, and by the United Air Express.

With the increase of plane arrivals and transportation, Medford would experience a stimulation of business activity in all lines.

One difficulty, however, presents itself in the situation, and that is Medford's present limited and inefficient airport facilities. Increased air transportation demands increased provision for landing planes and caring for them at the port. Air travel is advantageous only because of its speed. This speed is seriously impaired by improper or inadequate airport equipment.

At present, there is before the people of Medford the consideration of a bond issue for the purpose of establishing a new and modern airport to safeguard the lives of passengers and pilots and to handle the increased air traffic. The proposition is a big thing for Medford.

Its passage will mean the necessary impetus for a great future growth and progress.

Its passage will mean the inclusion of Medford on the schedule of every large air transport company operating over northwest territory.

Its passage will mean the accompanying recognition of Medford by the government and the entire United States as one of the country's most important air capitals.

As the center of southern Oregon's agricultural and business activity, Medford indeed occupies a unique position in the northwest. Medford's enterprise and foresight in aerial matters has placed it in the esteem and respect of all who are acquainted with aviation affairs.

There can be no doubt that the people of Medford will continue to occupy that position and pass the bond issue now before them for the construction of an efficient and modern airport to care for their city's present and future air traffic requirements.

UNITED AIR EXPRESS.

The United Air Express is using Union Air Lines planes that do not stop in Medford, owing to the inefficient field, and packages sent now by this company have to come from Montague, Calif., by mail. If the bonds are voted and the new field is constructed, these planes will establish Medford as a terminal and the packages sent over Pacific Air Express will not only greatly reduce present charges, but will mean rapid delivery of packages.

GOLD HILL JUDGE AIDS PARTING OF MEDFORD COUPLE

Under the caption, "Gold Hill Judge Solves a Mystery," the Gold Hill News of this week plays up the troubles of an unnamed Medford married couple as follows:

Judge Reed was called upon Tuesday morning to decide whether or a man had the right to force his wife to travel with him. A man brought his wife from Medford to this city en route to Portland and the wife thought too much of southern Oregon and made her getaway at the Livingston service station. Hubby brought her back and put her in the auto but upon a plea from the lady, Manager Livingston intervened and suggested that the pair go to Judge Reed and receive a Solomonic judgment, which they did. The good judge, knowing the way of women, decided that the lady could not be forced to accompany her husband, whereupon the husband allowed his wife 50 cents for a return ticket to Medford and resumed his trip to Portland, sans wife.

VERDICT AWARDED IRRIGATION CASE FAVOR ED SMITH

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff was reached yesterday afternoon in circuit court in the jury trial of Ed Smith against Frank Cameron, Miles Conrall and others. Interested in an irrigation canal known as the Farmers' Ditch supplying water to several Applegate ranches, Smith was given the right to widen the ditch six inches and was ordered to pay the defendants the sum of $420 for damages. The verdict was signed by Jack H. Van Praag of Ashland, foreman.

Circuit court will resume sessions next Tuesday forenoon when the civil action of the Southern Oregon Credit Bureau against Samuel Bertelson of Medford to recover money, will be tried. The case involves the collection of $229 which the defendant claims he does not owe. It will be completed in one day and will be followed by the $10,000 libel suit of Harry Young against the Daily News Publishing company of Medford for the publication of alleged slanderous news matter.

California Guests Send Medford Hosts Box of Oranges

During the California newspaper men's convention at Crater Lake last summer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wakefield drove Mr. and Mrs. David J. Reese and daughter of Ventura to the lake.

The visitors were delighted with the scenery enroute and with the lake, as well as the courteous treatment of their hosts. This week the Wakefields received a box of exceedingly large, delicious oranges from the Reese's. The writer knows, because he had a sample of them.

Mr. Reese is president of a local building and loan association in Ventura and is connected with one of the papers.

California Man Is Delighted With Southern Oregon

Woodhington Ames, of Marysville, California, recently visited Crater Lake and the Redwood Forest, and is making his first visit to Medford—and to the dealers in southern Oregon, who are handling his company's product. Oregon motorists will be glad to learn that the Crater Lake company plans to make this scientific blend of de-gummed castor and mineral oil even more available for their use in the future than in the past.

Mr. Ames speaks very highly of the metropolitan appearance of Medford, the general conditions of the country and the good roads.

FOUR CLUBS IN FIRST DIVISION NATIONAL RACE

First Quartet Last Year Expected to Lead Again—Chicago, New York and Pittsburg to Menace St. Louis Cardinals.

By Brian Bell, Associated Press Sports Writer.

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 23.—(AP)—Unless the unexpected happens in baseball, there will be no drastic upheaval when all the 129 returns are in for the National League. Spring indications point to four clubs in a fight for the first division places, and the favored quartet is made up of those finishing in the first four places last year. Rearrangements of the order in both upper and lower brackets seem likely. The champions, the St. Louis Cardinals, will find their high position definitely menaced by Chicago, New York and Pittsburg. Some students of the game have concluded that St. Louis is not greatly improved, while the Cubs, Giants and Pirates are definitely better.

The outlook for the clubs who finished in the second division last year is not promising, in view of the improved condition of their rivals who were more fortunate last season. The Phillies, chronic tail-enders, have perhaps taken the longest strides and with a break in luck should get out of the cellar.

See Bitter Battle.

A majority of baseball's close observers forecast a long and bitter struggle with the competition continuing to the stretch. Each of the four first division clubs of last year has made a definite addition to its strength. The Cubs have Rogers Hornsby and his devastating bat; the Giants expect Fred Leach to strengthen their outfield; the Pirates have Jas. Patey, a star left-hander, and the Cardinals' infield has been boosted by the acquisition of Charlie Gehringer, a great young shortstop.

Supporters of the Cubs believe that the addition of Hornsby has made the club. The batting leader of the league will add a punch and his strong offensive is expected to carry his mates with him. If Manager Joe McCarthy gets satisfactory results from his pitching staff his club should have a serious part in the indicated finish fight. His infield reserves have so been strengthened but an all-ready strong catching staff has been bolstered by a hard hitter in Tom Amley, the former cracker and Georgia Tech star.

The New York Giants have been gratified to find Andy Reese, a greatly improved performer at second base, and if he carries his terrific spring hitting streak into the regular campaign, it will be difficult to oust him from the infield. Carl Hubbell, who showed himself a capable left-hander on his first appearance, is better now and Leach, Ed Roush, apparently recovered from his indigestion of last year, will form a stronger outfield combination.

Pittsburg is conducting an infield experiment and has been retarded in its outfield arrangements by the absence of the Wagners. The signing of one of the poisonous hitters, reliever Tom Louden in a hard hat, but the Pirates will not be happy until they have the elder as well.

VETERAN OARS OF CAMBRIDGE DEFEAT OXFORD

Sixth Consecutive Victory for English University Sweeps Over Famous Course—Each Now Has 40 Victories.

LUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England, March 23.—(AP)—Cambridge, with a veteran aggregation of oarsmen, scored its sixth consecutive victory over Oxford in the 8th annual boat race between the two famous English universities today.

The Cambridge crew, taking an early lead, crossed the finish line seven full lengths ahead of their rivals from the Isis.

Cambridge's veterans, pulling a strong and steady stroke, jumped into a half length lead at the end of the first half mile, increased this advantage to three-quarters of a length at the mile and then pulled away from their rivals during the rest of the struggle.

The winners covered the four miles and a quarter in 19 minutes and 21 seconds, well behind the record of 18:29 set by Oxford in 1911.

Although Cambridge won by a decisive margin, the Oxford crew, outweighted five pounds to the man, put up a gallant battle throughout the first half of the race.

Cambridge had jumped into a two-length lead at the two-mile mark when the Oxford stroke boosted the boat. Slowly the dark blue shell crept up, cutting down Cambridge's lead. The spurt was short-lived, however, and another quarter mile of rowing saw Cambridge increase its advantage to five lengths and to seven lengths at the finish line.

The struggle today was the 81st between the rival universities since 1828, and the victory of the light blue crew of the Isis, a century on the river at 40 victories each. The race of 1877 resulted in a dead heat.

At the finish the whole Oxford crew with the single exception of the No. 5 man, collapsed. The victorious Cambridge oarsmen on the other hand finished in fine condition, all smiles over their decisive triumph.

The 1929 renewal of rowing's oldest rivalry was rowed in near-perfect weather.

COLLEGE ATHLETE RUN TO COLLAPSE

CUSTOMERS GET FEW THRILLS IN M'LARNIN BOUT

Jimmy Outpoints Ray Miller in Slow Bout—Hard Hitters Fail to Unlock Socks—Big Crowd Boos Many Clinches.

By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—The boys who pay "the freight" may be expected to view with little amusement any future pugilistic encounter between well advertised sluggers.

Having understood that Jimmy McLarnin and Ray Miller could hit with the lethal power of a stick of dynamite, 21,000 of the frisky faithful trustfully paid $111,000 to see McLarnin outpoint the blonde Chicagoan last night in a dull 10-round bout as Madison Square Garden has seen in recent months.

Miller, possibly best of the light-seventy left hook punchers in the business, stopped McLarnin in a remonstrational and bloody scrap at Detroit some months ago, despite the fact that McLarnin seems definitely to have outgrown the 135-pound division, there was almost unimpaired interest in their return meeting.

The crowd came to cheer a slugging feat they remained to boo a non-ten-guon boxing exhibition, marked by as many clinches as there were in any of the heavy-weight eliminations of a year or so ago.

Jimmy and Ray had developed such a healthy respect for each other's soaking ability that each felt uneasy unless the fighting was at close quarters where a clean punch is next to impossible.

In justice to the Chicagoan, it might be pointed out that he conceded too many pounds and tired badly toward the finish. He sealed 153 lb. McLarnin 138 lb.

There was little, if any, disagreement with the official decision. The Associated Press second card gave McLarnin eight rounds and Miller two, the first and the fourth.
