In the supreme court at Salem last week City Attorney John H. Barkin, for the city, and Attorney W. E. Phipps, representing Ray Spencer and W. H. Witty, argued the long pending city garbage suit case. It will be remembered that Messrs. Spencer and Witty, who held a contract for hauling the garbage from local hotels, sought to enjoin the city from giving an exclusive contract to the Sankary Service Company, Inc., and losing the case in circuit court, appealed it to the supreme court. A decision will probably not be given in the case for a month or two.

There are still no new developments in the possible establishment of an auto checking station at the Klamath junction of the Pacific highway, as proposed by Sheriff Ralph Jennings some time ago. The checking station is proposed as an effective crime prevention and apprehension measure, as all motorists, either leaving or entering the state, would have to stop at the station for investigation. It would be particularly effective in capturing fugitives from justice, recovering stolen automobiles and locating contraband cargoes of moonshine, according to officers.

Vacation Plans Now that your income tax has been paid, it is time to be making plans for this year's vacation. Just about three or four months now until time to get out the fishing tackle, fill up the gasoline tank, and strike out for the wide open spaces. And what is a vacation without some spending money? Most of us cannot afford to take our entire vacation expenses out of a single month's income, but we can put aside part of our income each month for that purpose.

The best way to insure having an adequate vacation fund is to place a definite sum in your savings account each month. Then when vacation time comes, you will not be embarrassed by lack of funds.
