Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Ryan are at the Heathman from Medford, where the orchardists are preparing for the next year's crop. The government agent has arrived and will be on the job until after the danger of frosts has passed. The government man has finished with the orange growers in California and is now on the job to help the people of the Rogue River valley. The thermometers used in the orchards are being taken in for the expert to test. These thermometers are in the orchard and when the cold point of danger is reached they sound an alarm and the sleepy but anxious fruit grower, rolls out of bed as fast as a fireman and hurries out to the orchard and stands his smudge pots going. The smudge pots are being arranged for the emergencies which will come later, these smudge pots being used to raise the temperature in the orchards so that the fruit is not destroyed. A few warm days and a rain and the pear trees will start to blossom.—The Oregonian.

City of Grants Pass will not undertake any extensive improvements for the next few months at least. The market for bonds of all kinds has bumped badly and there is little chance to sell. Recently the city advertised the sale of a small issue and only one bid was received. Other cities have been experiencing the same difficulty. Roseburg having received only one bid for their airport bonds, and that very unsatisfactory. No one seems to know when the bond market will be revived, and until that time this city will refrain from efforts to sell.—Grants Pass Courier.

SHRINE OFFICIALS VISIT MEDFORD IN CEREMONY BEHALF

Their first trip into southern Oregon, a group of officers from the Ben Ah Temple of the Mystical Shrine at Sacramento, Calif., were visitors in Medford yesterday, accompanying E. C. Jerome, potentate of Hillah Temple, Vernon Vavter and Carl Y. Tengwall to this city, Yreka.

The following were included in the party: Arthur W. Gluckman, potentate; Walter Everson, chief sabbat; Forrest Langenour, assistant rabban; George Barr, second ceremonial master.

All will be present at the local ceremonial and indicated that California from Redding north will be represented 100 per cent, in addition to many shrines from points south, including Sacramento, Oakland and San Francisco. Plans are under way to charter a special train to bring 200 Shriners to this city and in Oakland, efforts are being made by the Ahimmes Temple to charter an airship to bring 15 members to southern Oregon.

The ceremonial is planned to be the largest ever staged in southern Oregon and at the present time has over 40 committee members making preparations. It is expected to bring scores of visitors to this section, who have never been here before, as well as many prominent business men from all parts of the Pacific coast.

Map New Airport in Paper Tonight

See the map and plans for Medford's new airport on another page of this paper.

The routes to the port landing off the Pacific hwy, way near the Crater Lake highway near the former National Guard camp grounds are plainly marked. Take the map out and see the location for the best investment Medford people have had a chance to take part in for years.

Next Tuesday the people of Medford are to decide whether to be on the railroad or the future—airly transportation—or to get off the map.

It's up to the people.

Willys-Overland Factory Man Praises Medford

F. M. Daugherty, factory representative of the Willys-Overland Pacific Co., with headquarters in Portland, was in Medford today conferring with Gen. Trechler of the Trechler Motor Co., local dealer.

This is Mr. Daugherty's first visit to Medford. He said he had always heard people boasting for the metropolis of southern Oregon and after a day spent here he is satisfied that it is one of the best and cleanest cities on the coast.

Mr. Daugherty predicts a big year in the auto business and says his company has a far better line of cars than ever before to meet every demand of the public.

COPCO PRESENTS BETTY BROWN IN RECITAL TUESDAY

A radio program of unusual merit will be presented by the California Oregon Power company tomorrow night over station KMED between the hours of 9 and 10 p. m.

The program will consist of a pipe organ recital by Miss Betty Brown, popular local organist, broadcast by remote control from the Presbyterian church.

Miss Brown, who is recognized as one of the leading organists in this section of the coast, returned from California about a year ago, where for two years she was engaged as feature organist for the Arkush Peninsula Theater company. During this time she studied concert organ at Stanford university under Warren D. Allen, who is considered one of the most brilliant organists of the United States.

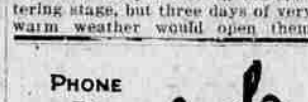

Tomorrow night's Copco program has been especially arranged by Miss Brown to include a pleasing variety of high-class selections which should appeal to every local music lover. It is anticipated that a large radio audience will be tuned in on station KMED to hear this attractive recital program at 9 p. m. Tuesday.
