

NEWS of the DAY in PICTURES

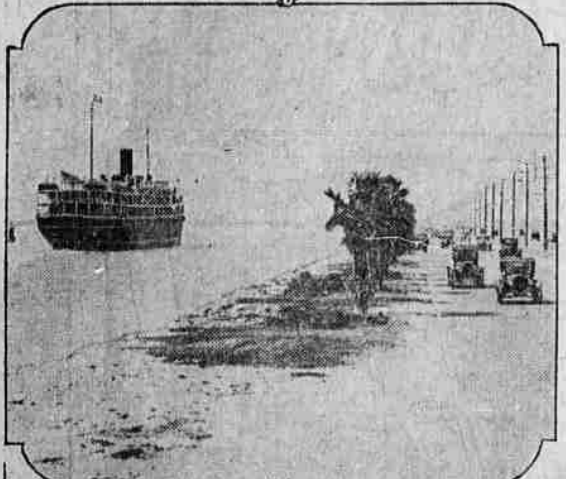

SPEEDY AND GRACEFUL is Miss Georgiana Mackenzie, well known in the New York Skating Club, shown here executing a spectacular figure on the ice at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

CHARMING Miss Jane Swope, daughter of Herbert Bayard Swope, former editor of the New York World, is one of the society buds photographed on the sands of Sea Spray Beach, in Florida.

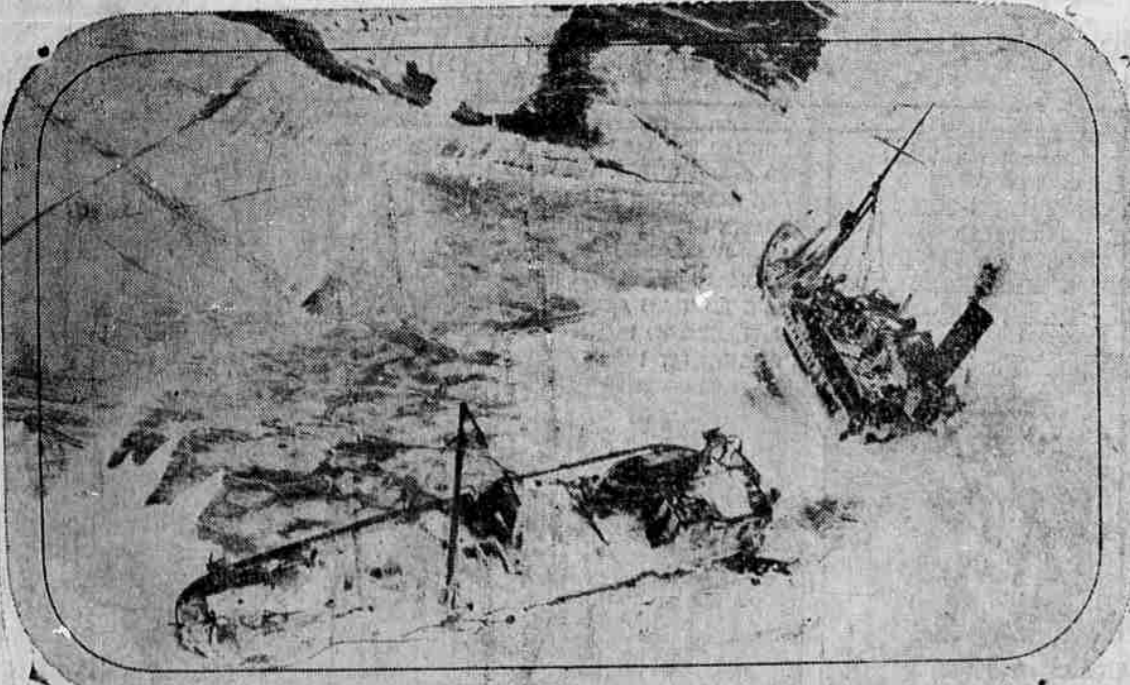

A MAGNIFICENT WASTE OF BARREN CRAGS AND GORGEOUSLY PAINTED PEAKS, the famous Bad Lands of South Dakota have been incorporated into a national monument in a bill recently passed by Congress. Here are two views, showing what this newest publicly-owned bit of scenery is like. Above is Vampire Peak, in Cedar Pass, below is the wild region known as Hell's Ten Thousand Acres.

AUTOS AND OCEAN LINERS travel side by side at the entrance to the harbor of Miami, Fla. A paved causeway parallels the channel for steamers, and motorists frequently drive to its tip to wave farewells to friends who are sailing.

TYPICAL of the rebel troops in Mexico are these two private soldiers, part of the army that captured Juarez, photographed as they stood in line for rations after the battle.

BROKEN IN TWO AND LOCKED IN THE GRIP OF A FROZEN SEA, the steamer Baltara, which ran aground in a storm two months ago at the mouth of the River Weichsel, off Danzig harbor, has been abandoned to her fate. Here is a remarkable airplane view of the wreck, showing the two fragments of the steamer held fast in the ice. Copyright, NEA-London Times.

SAFETY for the worker who works at sandblasting or in an extremely dazzling light is provided by this odd-looking headgear—a powerful pair of goggles and a face mask that can be pushed back like the visor of a cap when not in use.

TO HONOR THE FATHERLAND'S HEROIC DEAD, President von Hindenburg of Germany led in the observance of National Mourning Day in Berlin. He and the guard of honor are shown here in front of the Reichstag Memorial.

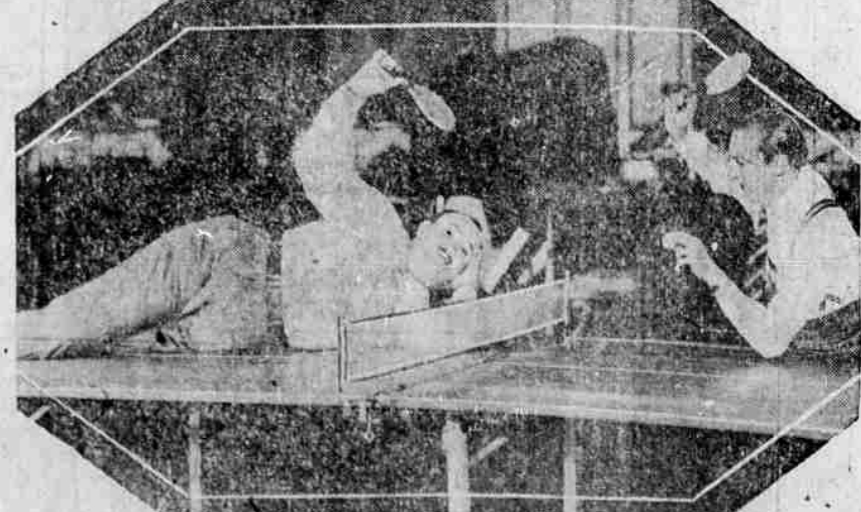

HORSES LIKE THE SURF as well as anybody. So Miss Gertrude Metcalfe, chief aid to Harry Unna, owner of a racing stable at Tijuana, Mexico, takes King Nadi, at the right, down for a plunge in the Pacific ocean at nearby Imperial Beach.

A PROFILE LIKE A CAMEO helps lend especial charm to this unusual picture of Louise Brooks, of the Hollywood film colony, clad in a ballet costume.

BACKLESS gowns for sports wear as well as for evening are popular in California now. Here's Vilma Banky, screen star, wearing one while playing tennis.

PROBABLY IT'LL NEVER SETTLE THE QUESTION—but anyhow, Ben Bernie and Paul Whiteman, famous New York jazz orchestra leaders, got together in a friendly little game of pool the other day to see who was the better musician. Whiteman, in case you don't recognize him, is the recumbent gentleman at the left.
