A grave injustice was done Mr. John Winterhalder and Mr. Carl Bigalow of the Cozy Nook and DeVoe establishments, respectively, in the published account of their alleged hike to the top of Roxy Ann last Friday, as it seems that the accidental discharge of the rifle held by Bigalow was not caused by excitement when a dry stick snapped in two, as published, but the panic arose when a toadstool blew up unexpectedly. Neither did the bullet shatter John's camera. It only splintered the lens and blew out one end—not of John, but of the camera. Indications are for a "full house" at the Craterian theater tonight when the Legion "Whoopee Revue" opens at 8:30 p. m. Quite a number of town people arrived during the day and others are expected for the big show. Although the advance sale is said to be a record-breaker for an amateur production, Manager Davis reports a few seats left for late comers, if not too late. The dress rehearsal Saturday night gave promise of a "big time" performance.

HOWELL AND D'ANJOU ORCHARDS SMUDGING

There was smudging last night and Saturday night by some of the orchards with the Howell and D'Anjou pear trees in blossom, with minimums respectively of 27 and 24. No commercial damage has been done so far by the several frosts, as only the Howell and D'Anjou trees are blossoming at present, and the damage to those varieties only ranges from 25 to 50 per cent in orchards where damage has been suffered.

It will be at least a week yet before the other varieties of pears will have reached the frost danger period in their development.

RELIGIOUS DRAMA MOST EFFECTIVE IN PRESENTATION

PHOENIX, Ore., April 1.—(Spl.)—The Phoenix Presbyterian church was filled to overflowing Sunday night as 400 people gathered to witnesses the Easter drama, "The King's Highway." A large number of friends from Medford and Ashland were present to enjoy with the local people one of the best Easter programs ever given in the Phoenix church and which would have been a credit to a much larger community and church.

The drama was very beautifully presented, each member of the cast entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of it, tending to make it more interesting and impressive.

The stage was very prettily and tastefully set with trees, shrubbery, flowers and vines represented the outdoor scene on the first Easter morning. The open tomb at one side and the cross at the back of the stage added the finishing touches to the setting and carried all onlookers back to the first Easter morning, and tended to make the story told by the players more realistic and vivid. The different colored lights thrown on the stage at intervals of the drama added greatly to the beauty of the stage settings and the effectiveness of the drama. The music and the singing, under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Frame, added the final climax to the drama in making it the success which all pronounced it to be.

Much credit is due the pastor, Rev. W. O. Johnson, each player and each one that helped, for the presentation of the drama.

FAKE DETECTIVES LEVY PROTECTION FEE IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., April 1.—(AP)—A "detective" bureau that raided gambling dens and brothels on Portland's waterfront, extracted "protection money" and split the proceeds among the "operatives," had been broken by the police and sheriff here today. Police headquarters announced that signed confessions had been made by E. R. Martin, 21, and Clifford Hayes, 44, who said they were "operatives" of the "state detective bureau."

The state detective bureau is unlicensed by the state and has no official status.

Martin and Hayes said E. N. Forsythe, 57, ex-policeman and former ship's carpenter, was head of the bureau. Police were searching for Forsythe today.

The confessions of Martin and Hayes revealed the operations of the bureau and told of three "raids" made by the men during the past week.

ANXIETY FELT FOR MISSING AIR CREW

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 1.—(AP)—Considerable anxiety is felt here for Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, his pilot, Charles T. Ulm, and a crew of two who were reported to have made a forced landing 100 miles from Wyndham, on the northwest coast of Australia, while flying from Sydney on the first stage of a flight to England.

Rescue planes have been sent in search of the missing airmen, who are thought to be down in a rugged, inhospitable country.

The first messages received here said that the men were safe and merely were awaiting gasoline to replenish their rapidly decreasing supply, but confirmation of this was lacking and the exact whereabouts of the men was not known today.

BYRD AUTOGRAPHED MAPS ARE AVAILABLE

A map of the Antarctic circle, personally autographed by Commander R. E. Byrd, and bearing valuable aviation data, as well as notations on the explorations of the recent expedition, was presented this morning to the Medford library by Cy H. Pruner of Portland, manager of the Pacific department Tide Water Oil corporation, publishers of the map.

Copies of this map are limited in number, but a few of them will be placed with C. E. Gates at the Gates Motor company, and may be obtained upon request, according to Mr. Pruner.

Mr. Pruner, who was a visiting Kiwanian at the meeting of this service club at noon today, is one of the charter members of the famous Portland Breakfast club, and has arranged to send them a telegram from here in regard to the outcome of the airport bond election here tomorrow.

TUBERCULOSIS CLINICS TO BE HELD MEDFORD ASHLAND WEDNESDAY

Big free tuberculosis clinics will be held in Medford and Ashland next Wednesday as part of an "early discovery" campaign sponsored by the Oregon Tuberculosis association, with the help of the Oregon State Medical society, the state board of health, and county medical and public health societies, which will be launched in the state today. Every county health and school nurse in the state has been supplied with educational material on prevention of tuberculosis.

Dr. Ralph C. Matson and Dr. Harold C. Bean, specialists of Portland will hold the clinics to be held Wednesday in Medford and Ashland and they will speak before the Jackson County Medical society on Wednesday night.

The series of free tuberculosis clinics will be held in various parts of the state by prominent physicians with special training in this work, who have volunteered their services. Wednesday's clinics in Jackson county are a part of this state-wide special campaign.

MANY WITNESSES NIGHT AVIATION

Hundreds of local people witnessed the second demonstration of airport lighting and night flying put on through the courtesy of the California Oregon Power company and the Sanders Aeronautical School last night.

The efficiency of modern lighting equipment for airports was forcibly impressed on those who saw the demonstration in which only a 5000 watt floodlight was used. Plans for the illumination of the new airport will probably call for a 20,000 watt installation which should give ample light for landing the large three-motor ships. A number of local people took advantage of the opportunity to see Medford by air again last evening and were well pleased with their experiences. The city shows up beautifully from the air and the street lights and electric signs present an impressive spectacle. Main street glitters like the "great white way" according to those who made the trip. It is anticipated that sightseeing trips over Medford by night will be very popular after the new airport is completed and illuminated.

PARK ATTACHES LEAVE FOR TRIP TO SOUTH

Colonel and Mrs. C. G. Thomson left by auto this forenoon for Red Bluff, Calif., from which place the colonel will depart for Yosemite national park, taking with him A. C. Moen, chief clerk of Crater National park and Fred Conner, field supervisor of accounts of the national parks system; and Mrs. Thomson will come back home with Martin Palmer, Crater park mechanician who took Messrs. Moen and Conner to Red Bluff yesterday for a short visit at Lassen National park. Mr. Moen will visit Yosemite park for a few days before returning home.

Superintendent E. C. Solinsky of Crater National park will remain here until the last of the week before going to Yosemite for a conference with Horace Albright, director of the national parks system, from which he will return to Medford about April 17. This will be his last trip back to Yosemite park.

ELECTION RETURNS ON COPCO HOUR KMED

Last minute returns of the airport election tomorrow will be broadcast during Copco hour from 9 to 10 p. m., according to H. L. Bromley, advertising manager for the company. In connection with the routine a "whooper" program will be presented by the Copco Syncopators, consisting of popular song and dance hits. It is expected that many people will tune in on Copco hour to enjoy this peppy program and to hear the final returns of the airport election.

MEDFORD SPIRIT IMPRESSES PORTLAND BUSINESS MAN

Cy H. Pruner, manager of the northwest Pacific department of the Tide Water Oil Co., was in Medford today conferring with their local salesman, A. B. Thornton and looking after business interests.

Mr. Pruner is a Kiwanian and attended the noon luncheon. He is also interested in aviation and being so highly impressed with the air-minded spirit of the people of Medford and the desire to put over the bond issue tomorrow, he wired Mayor Baker today complimenting Medford people on their progressive spirit.

Mayor Baker will reply on the Portland Breakfast club hour over radio station KGW tomorrow morning at 8:15 a. m., addressing his talk to Mayor Pipes and the people of the city. Mayor Baker knows of the Medford spirit and it will pay to listen in tomorrow morning.
