

WILLIAM HURLEY, TALENT PIONEER, SUCCUMBS TODAY

William Henry Hurley, pioneer of southern Oregon, died early today at his home in the Valley View district near Talent, aged 75 years, seven months and 15 days at the time of his passing. Death was due largely to infirmities of old age.

Mr. Hurley was born June 15, 1849 near old Fort Defiance, Ohio. His parents, Leven and Cecelia Van Horn Hurley both were from the early pioneer stock in Ohio. When the deceased was five years of age the family moved to Clinton county, Iowa where he resided until December 4, 1872 when he married Miss Sara K. Clark at Milton, Wisconsin. After the marriage he followed pioneer movements to Nebraska and Kansas, moving west with the great pioneer advance.

He settled with his family in Columbia county, Washington, establishing himself on what is now known as Hurley Pt. in the Astoria district. The pioneer life of Oregon again lured him and in 1891 he moved with his family to the Rogue River valley, settling in the Anderson Creek district and having since made his home in this section. He was prominently identified with the development of the fruit industry of the valley and was widely known throughout.

COLLISION ACTION IN CIRCUIT COURT

Arising from an auto collision last April, resulting in the death of Mrs. Eleanor Sanders on a highway near Chowchilla, Calif., a damage action directed against Dr. E. H. Porter of this city by E. F. Sanders of Chowchilla, was begun in circuit court this forenoon. The sum of $12,825.00 is being sought by the plaintiff for personal injuries. Sanders also has another law suit of $15,400 against Dr. Porter for the death of his wife and this case will probably come to trial tomorrow.

The collision took place April 24, 1928, when Dr. Porter, motoring on a main traveled highway, crashed into the Sanders car, coming onto the highway from a secondary road. Mrs. Sanders died almost immediately as a result of the crash and Dr. Porter sustained injuries from which he is still suffering, including a broken hip.

EXPECT JAPANESE TO SHOW ROBERT HOW TO WRESTLE

Terrible Taro Miyake, the big Japanese wrestler, is expected to arrive tomorrow from Portland for his match at the Armory Wednesday night with Bob Kruse, husky Portland grappler, well known in this city as the result of previous appearances. The yellow menace to Kruse's aspirations of throwing all whom he meets is said to be an exceptionally fast man, capable of wrestling the American style as well as the Japanese. The men have never met before, and fans are promised some choice bits of action should the temper of the German-Irish wrestler become aroused over any excessive roughness on the part of his yellow-skinned opponent, reputed to know as much about roughness as Kruse himself. In the special event finish match between Tommy Ryan and Jack White, Medford's wrestling tiler is expected to have his hands full with the Portland man, who is not expected to be like other opponents Ryan has met in Medford. A preliminary between Eddie Welch of Gold Hill and Carly Woods of Medford will open the program.

$50,000 ONLY BUYS FLYING FIELD, SALEM

Salem's $50,000 expenditure for an airport will in reality provide a flying field rather than an airport, as such, believes B. E. Sisson, president of the chamber of commerce, after hearing evidence offered at the Eugene conference of chamber representatives. An airport, according to Mr. Sisson, includes a standard size hangar, a beacon light, full lighting equipment for the field, a restaurant, housing facilities for overnight use, a machine shop and a hospital among its list of needed facilities. These can scarcely be provided with the funds at hand, in Mr. Sisson's opinion.—Salem Statesman.
