

Local and Personal

News of interest to the anglers of Medford and the valley is the following in the Grants Pass Courier of yesterday: "A small run of Chinook salmon has reached the Savage Rapids dam, according to reports from Rainbow Gilsen. Through an arrangement with D. H. Ferry of the Rogue River Gold company's dredge on Fooths creek, the river will be clear at the dam from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 at night. This will make the clearing of the lower river several hours later but insures clear water during the afternoons for several miles below the city."

Installation of machinery in the mill at the town of Lincoln, on Green Spring mountain, being financed and developed by J. H. Henry of Hollywood, is being made at the present time. Actual operation of the mills will probably not be started before midsummer, Mr. Henry said today. The town of Lincoln has been developed with an idea of permanency and particularly typical of this are the homes which have been built on the hill directly opposite the location of the mill site. Hauling of the finished product to railroad terminals, etc., is at present occupying the attention of Mr. Henry. Installation of a water system and construction work is practically completed.—Ashland Tidings.

Coyotes are becoming scarce in the Copper district, according to N. M. Cripe, who collected bounty on this forenoon at the county clerk's office for one coyote and six bobcats. He reported deep snow in that section of the county has made the trapping of the varmints difficult. Deer, very plentiful in that section, also bother the trappers and usually have them sprung before coyotes can come near.

THE HOME OF BREAD LIKE MOTHER MADE

Saving Without Self-Denial

The usual idea of saving is doing without—depriving ourselves of many of the things we want—or making drastic changes in our mode of living.

Not so if you save the Groceteria Way—Buy as you have always bought—the same foods of the same quality—in the same quantity—yet buy for less.

Store expense never made any food better, yet it adds materially to its cost.

Cut the store expense and you cut the cost without sacrificing quality or quantity—clerks, credits, and small deliveries are a big factor in store costs and it's by saving them that we make our prices lower—Start now to save the Groceteria Way—and increase your savings without self-denial.
