

Fruit cocktails are delicious and good to serve

EVERY time you serve a fruit cocktail, you bring enjoyment and health to your table. Every time you cut up, say a grapefruit, some pineapple, an orange, a banana—sprinkle it all with powdered or confectioner's sugar, and let it stand a little—you make that cocktail so delicious that it can mean even more to health.

The sugar dissolves and blends the flavors of the fruits.

It is this blending power of sugar that families rely on so much. Sugar adds to the enjoyment of combinations of the health-foods. Then a sprinkling of sugar accents the flavor of a single health-food... accents the flavor of strawberries, for example... sharpens up the flavor of peas when they cook.

Two fruits, two vegetables, are the daily rule. Use these two powers of sugar to give zest to their flavors—to make them more inviting. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

For Salad Dressing

Finely diced cucumber, mandarin oranges, Tokay or Malaga grapes (skinned and seeded) on Water-crest... and, of course, French Dressing made with Wesson Oil.

The new Spring fruits and vegetables give you so many chances to get away from the tedium of Winter salads. And tempt you to experiment with all the delightful ways in which you can vary your French Dressing and make it your own individual creation.

To two parts of Wesson Oil, add one part vinegar or lemon juice, salt and pepper. Then whatever your imagination suggests: Chili sauce, pimientos, mint, a little strained-honey, a dash of Tabasco. Paprika of course for color. Your own instinct will guide you in combining ingredients to make a piquant and unusual dressing.

Do you like French Dressing? There are eighteen varieties in the Wesson Oil recipe book. If you want us to send you a copy, address the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift People, 112 Market Street, San Francisco, California.

Contrary to the general belief, many orchardists in this section who made no attempt at frost protection, claim that up to the present time they have prospects for a fair crop of fruit.

It seems that the frost hit in spots as the fruit on one tree was almost totally destroyed while trees 30 feet away is hardly touched.

The following school notes were handed in by the fourth graders: Last week the Table Rock primary room put $24.40 in the bank. This week we saved $7.27.

Umeta Hughes was absent Tuesday and Charles Anderson was absent Monday.

We are practicing for the track meet which is to be at Medford soon.

We are getting ready for the community meeting a week from Friday. We are going to have some songs and a folk dance.

GRAIN BUYERS AT TABLE ROCK FOR WHEAT PURCHASE

TABLE ROCK, Ore., April 19.—(Special.)—Dr. Heckman of Central Point was a professional visitor here Wednesday evening. A large number of buyers from many parts of the valley were visitors at the Nealon ranch last week where several hundred bushels of wheat were disposed of.

Recent visitors at the county fair grounds report that more than 700 additional shade trees have been set out there this spring, which will, some time in the future, make a wonderful picnic ground and a valuable addition to the valley.

The rain which fell here Sunday was of great value. Besides the general stimulating effect on all crops and the storing of moisture in the ground, plants, trees and flowers were cleansed of the sooty condition caused by the long siege of heavy smudging.

School children here are practicing for the field day meet, April 27, at the fair grounds.

A good program is being arranged for the next meeting of the Community club, Friday night, April 28.

Hay buyers who drove from Merlin in a large truck were here Wednesday in search of hay which they claim is hard to find at any price.

At a meeting of the school board Friday night, Miss Eva Coy of Gold Hill was hired to teach the lower grades for the next school year.

Miss Coy is a graduate of the Ashland Normal, is highly recommended and has had two years' teaching experience in rural schools.

Con Devore of the City meat market gathered up a truckload of beef in this section last Wednesday.

Last Tuesday seemed to be pedestrians' day in this district, these knights of the road being so numerous that, in the language of baseball, we would say the bases were full, and those at the rear end had to wait until the next man moved up.

Arthur Sellers of Agate was a business visitor here the first of the week.

J. C. Pendleton was joyously reminded that it was 70 years ago last Saturday that he first saw the light of day, as that day's mail brought him nearly half a hundred birthday greeting cards. All of which caused Mr. Pendleton to feel very grateful to his friends for their kind remembrances.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardman are busy tearing down and remodeling many of the old buildings on their ranch, which when completed will make quite a change in the appearance of things there.

Try This—Watch the Kiddies' Cheeks Glow With Health

Children have voracious appetites. It seems almost impossible to fill them up. And with good reason. Youngsters are constantly on the go. They play hard. Burn up about seven times as much bodily energy in a day as a grownup. That, precisely, is why your growing boy or girl needs such strength-building foods as

Tru-Blu Honey Grahams

These delicious Honey-Sweetened Graham Crackers provide all the health-giving and muscle-building elements that growing, active children NEED. Made with western-grown whole wheat flour, they are rich in the vitamins, natural iron and lime—for the replacement of burned out body-tissue and the building of bone structure.

Start today. Serve them to your children regularly for a month. With milk between meals. In milk for breakfast, lunch, dinner or at bedtime. Spread with butter, peanut butter, jelly. TRY THIS—and watch the glow of health return to the kiddies' cheeks.

Better Because It's FRESHER

BACON'S best when it's just fresh from the curing process. That's why Frye's "Delicious" Brand Bacon always comes to you so smacking good, mild and wholesome. The great Frye plant is within a few hours' distance from most of the territory it serves, and the daily production is carefully regulated to the daily demands.

Try four crispy slices in the morning and watch that laggard "just up" appetite leap in response.

You get the same freshness in your biscuits, pastries and fried dishes when you use Frye's "Wild Rose" Lard.

The ways and means committee will have charge of the quilts and fancy work, while Miss Jamison, with her able assistants, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Clements and Mrs. Taylor will stage with the primary pupils, a three-ring circus, which, according to reports, will be the hit of the evening.

Miss Altken, teacher of the intermediate grades, will have as her assistants Mrs. Cowden, Mrs. J. E. Stowell and will put on their marionette show.

Mrs. Bonham, teacher of the upper grades, assisted by Mrs. Philbrook and Mrs. Walker, will put on a coon town frivolity, which promises to be a scream.

Miss Burt, high school teacher, assisted by some of the high school students, will have charge of the high school exhibit. All kinds of baby articles can be found at that booth.

The reserve committee, on the job to put on a few finishing touches here and there are Mrs. H. E. Campbell, Mrs. Hanscom, Mrs. Stowell and Mrs. Royal Brown. The announcer for the evening will be W. C. Clements.

Committees will meet at the school at one o'clock Friday to prepare for the evening's entertainment and the public are cordially invited to come and help make this a success.

CHARIVARI GREET WILLIAMS CREEK HONEYMOON PAIR

WILLIAMS CREEK, Ore., April 19.—(Special.) Mr. and Mrs. Homer House moved to their home on the Wisecarver ranch Friday. They were welcomed home that evening with an old fashioned charivari. Guns, bells, pans, dynamite, anything to make a noise, were loaned by neighbors and friends were present and a delightful social evening was spent. Treats of cigars and chocolate bars were passed around. All departed at a late hour wishing the young people many years of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lewman were business visitors at Medford Saturday.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pixley are contemplating moving to Medford in the near future.
