

LITTLE HERE FOR AIRWAYS STATION ESTABLISHMENT

The airways field organizer for the Pacific coast states with headquarters at the Oakland, Calif., airport, Delbert M. Little, government meteorologist and formerly in charge of the Medford weather office, arrived here this morning in a plane from the Oakland airport on a special official errand.

His business was to visit Hill, over the California line, preparatory to establishing a weather station there for the airways route between San Francisco and Portland, and which will be a sub-station in connection with the Medford airways station. The weather airways stations thru this section were all laid out some time ago, with the nearest station or sub-station south, up in the Siskiyou, and it was only very recently decided to establish another one at Hill.

Mr. Little left by train this noon for Hill, from which point he will return to Medford after a couple of hours stay, between trains, spend the night here and depart in the morning by plane for Oakland.

NORRIS PLAY ON KMED TONIGHT

Tonight will be a big night for local radio fans, many of whom are planning to tune in on Copco hour at 9 p. m. to hear the latest Norris drama, "The Irish Melody," presented by the Copco Players. This will be the first time this clever new drama has been given before any audience.

The play is built around the sacrifice and self-denial of a little Irish mother, who gives up everything for her son. The seven scenes are full of sustained human interest and the play is particularly seasonable just at this time, because of Mother's day, which will be universally observed on May 12.

A fine cast of Copco Players has been selected by Director Davis for this evening's rendition, including many old favorites. Appropriate Irish music will lend much to the enjoyment of those who listen in at 9 p. m. to hear this attractive Copco program.

WEATHER SHARPS LOOK FOR STORM TO SPITE SCRIBE

Apparently resenting editorial and columnist interference with the government method of running the local weather, L. Walter Dick and his assistant, Kenneth Anderson, of the Medford weather bureau, have reinforced to show "those newspaper fellows just what's what."

At least, when a Mail Tribune reporter called on his usual forenoon rounds at the weather office today, he found assembled there with them and poring over weather maps, Delbert M. Little of Oakland, Cal., former meteorologist here and now airways field organizer for Pacific coast states, and Floyd Young, the frost expert, and his assistant, Roy Rogers, as fine a bunch of federal meteorologists as ever lifted a tobacco pouch from a poor reporter.

Their concentrated and cooperative efforts of poring over these maps while they uttered some mysterious words that sounded like "Einee, meene miny mo," were evidently successful, for as they straightened up and saw the reporter, Mr. Dick remarked, "That's quite a storm."

"Yes, a whole of a storm," echoed Messrs. Young and Little.

Then, in answer to the interviewer's excited questioning as he kept his hand on his watch and tobacco pouch, the assemblage of jealous weather sharks explained that there was a big storm in the Behring sea section, which might or might not reach here, and if it did, might come Wednesday night or Thursday. On the other hand, they said the storm might be shunted off en route and never reach here. Their remarks were entirely unofficial. Any time that group gives out anything official, it must be a lead pipe cinch.

As to the official weather forecast, they pointed to what had already been written, although at the same time, Messrs. Dick and Young glanced at the barometer readings and remarked absent-mindedly, "Not starting to fall yet." This official forecast says: "Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, and mild temperature."

Today was alternately cloudy and sunny with a minimum this morning of 41.

WAR VETERAN VISITS WITH COUNTRYWOMAN

Like the second act in a play was the meeting Monday evening in a Grants Pass cafe between Mrs. Earl Wallace, attractive German-French war bride, and Adolph Dorr, a young blond German professional swimmer and actor, who was en route to Crescent City to train for a big swimming event, which will take place in California on Decoration day.

Guests forgot their dinners and became interested in the excited little group at a corner table. Speaking first in English, then lapsing into German, the man and woman talked and there was much laughter and pointing. The waitress explained to one diner after another that Mr. Dorr had come into the restaurant as soon as he arrived and asked if there were any native Germans in Grants Pass. She called Mrs. Wallace, who until eight years ago was a resident of Coblenz, the home town of the handsome swimmer.

Mr. Wallace was in the U. S. aviation service during the World war and was in the same squad as Seelye Hall, Newell Barber and several other Medford men.

ASK MERCHANTS PUT OUT FLAGS

All local business houses are urged to display their American flags tomorrow in honor of the national commander of the American Legion, Paul McNutt, who will stop here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. Commander McNutt accompanied by many prominent legionnaires of the state department including Ben Fisher, state commander, will be entertained at luncheon tomorrow noon at the Lithia Hotel in Ashland after which he will drive to Roseburg, stopping off here to greet local legionnaires and other Medford citizens. It is planned to hold an informal reception at the Chamber of Commerce building at 1:30 p. m., to which all members of the Medford post and local people are invited. He will then visit the Legion playground before continuing his trip north.

Motion pictures and photograph of the national Legion executive and his party will be taken while here.

PAY GUARDSMEN AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Over $1400, the largest payroll received by the local unit for some time, will be distributed tonight at the regular drill of Company A, Oregon National Guard, Captain Carl Y. Tengwald this afternoon urged a 100 per cent attendance to facilitate a complete distribution of the checks. The Medford guard unit is reported in the best condition it has been for some time and is looking forward to an active summer, a feature of which will be the annual encampment at Camp Clatsop on the coast in Clatsop county.

ADVANCE FORCE MASIACA CLASH EXPECTED SOON

General Talamantes Leading Cavalry Advance On Rebel Stronghold—Ambush Feared—Rear Attack Is Also Planned.

MEXICO CITY, April 23.—(AP)—News was expected hourly today of initial clashes near Masiaca, Sonora, between the principal rebel army entrenched there and federalists.

Last reports from General Talamantes, commanding 2000 federal cavalry several miles in front of infantry and the main army said he had advanced cautiously as far as Luis, 12 miles south of Masiaca, but had found no enemy.

He was advised to be careful of ambush and not to move too far ahead of the main army, lest the 6000 or 7000 rebels at Masiaca and Sanantonio cut his force to pieces before reinforcements arrived.

Moving of the principal federal column, containing more than 8000 men with artillery and baggage was proving slow work, with further trouble on the newly constructed bridge over the Rio Puerte, north of San Blas, Sinaloa, causing some delay.

With the outposts of the two armies so close to each other, however, long delay in initiating the clash—in which General Calles hopes to repeat his devastating victory over the army of the north at La Reforma, Chihuahua—was not believed probable.

General Juan Andreu Almazan, "hero" of La Reforma, sent word to Chapultepec castle that he was beginning the movement of his 10,000 troops through Pilpito Pass into Sonora, and would shortly be in a position to attack the rebel army at its rear.

SEEK PARDON FOR PORTLAND BANKER

PORTLAND, April 23.—(AP)—Executive clemency alone can save Emory Olmstead and John E. Wheeler from prison, the mandate of the United States supreme court ordering the two Portland men to prison, reached San Francisco yesterday. The pair lost their appeals in the United States court of appeals there, and in the United States supreme court.

Mrs. Olmstead, who is in Seattle, announced last night that efforts are being made to obtain a presidential pardon for her husband. Business men and political leaders in Portland, she said, started the pardon movement.

She urged Ralph A. Williams, Republican national committee chairman, Mayor George L. Baker, and Franklin T. Griffith and Guy W. Talbot, utility company presidents, as behind the movement to secure a presidential pardon for Olmstead.

AARON SCHOLLARS IS CONFINED BY ILLNESS

Sickness has prevented Aaron Schollars from making his daily visits to the Mail Tribune editorial offices, calling on members of the staff and reading exchanges of parties, interest to himself. He was stricken April 7 and has been confined to his bed ever since.

In a note he wrote to the force yesterday, he said: "I am denied meat and eggs, forced to a diet of weak broth, no butter cakes, butter and honey. The only comfort I have is an occasional chew of tobacco and the Mail Tribune, Burns and the Bible." Mr. Schollars is 85 years of age and had been in the habit of walking from his home on the outskirts of Medford to the business section.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Broad scale buying operations carried more than a score of issues to record high levels in today's stock market. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 8 points, with a few high priced specialties marked up 10 to 20 points in a thin market. The rally was slowed up in the early afternoon by stiffening of call money rates.

One of the features was the opening sale of a block of 100,000 shares of Standard Petroleum at $30, representing a turnover of $3,000,000. This is believed to be the largest individual transaction ever recorded on the exchange, although a few smaller transactions have exceeded it in dollar value.

A GASOLINE THAT IS Totally Different

Richfield-Ethyl is totally different from any other gasoline on the market... vastly superior to ordinary motor fuels as well as all other Ethyl gasolines. If you want the performance of which your car is really capable, have your spark advanced* and fill up with genuine Richfield-Ethyl. At any station where you see the blue and gold Richfield-Ethyl pump.

*To secure maximum results from your motor advance the spark at the distributor to a point where the "knock" is greatest with ordinary gasoline; set the carburetor to a leaner mixture, and then use Richfield-Ethyl exclusively.

How the Laws Protect Your Neighbor But Overlook You

The state recognizes the dangers of medical practice by the unskilled and consequently demands capability as expressed by years of study in a recognized medical college and by the further passage of an examination by the state board.

It thus prevents medical practice at large by those unqualified—but it cannot prevent self diagnosis and self medication by the individual, which, if generally practiced, would be equally dangerous.

Why attempt to do for yourself what you are thus prohibited from doing for your neighbor?

When you are ill, don't take dangerous chances by practicing on yourself.

Go to your doctor and obey his directions. Let us fill your prescriptions. You will find our service unsurpassed.
