CONDITIONS GOOD AT CRATER LAKE FOR BEETLE MEN

A phone message received at the Crater National park offices here this morning from Anna Springs camp, sent by Martin Palmer and John Beck, mechanic and temporary ranger respectively of the park, who left here yesterday for the park to begin preliminary preparations for the pine beetle eradication campaign today to be performed there before the summer begins, stated that they found conditions good for bringing out the caterpillar tractor and two big hoisted from that point to Union Creek.

They expect to bring the tractor and sleds through the deep snow, six feet or more, from Anna Springs camp to Union Creek by Friday so that the sleds can be loaded with supplies and equipment for use by the first of the pine beetle destruction crews, who will enter the park that day or the next day.

It will be remembered that months ago it was announced that $9000 had been appropriated for the eradication of this pine beetle pest within the park confines which is destroying so many of the trees, and that the work would be rushed by crews to the total number of 50 or 60 for completion before the hot summer weather begins.

From Friday on the crew will be augmented gradually until the above total are employed in the work.

All the men to be engaged in this work have been engaged by the park headquarters office here, and no more will be employed.
