True Heaven Today at Rialto Theatre

From the angle of real drama, superlative acting, pretentious production and all the other requisites for entertainment, "True Heaven," at the Rialto theatre today has been acclaimed one of the outstanding hits.

In the production, with George O'Brien and Lois Moran co-featured, the story is a human drama that came out of the world war, involving a young British officer and a mysterious beautiful girl, "Judith," who proves to be a spy in the enemy service.

Within British territory the young officer meets the girl, falls in love with her, she reciprocates and later, when he penetrates enemy lines he is captured—by the girl. She then has to decide whether to give him up to be shot or allow him to go free.
