

HONORS GIVEN HEALTHY YOUNG AFTER PARADE

One thousand school children of Medford, wearing the colors of their respective schools and carrying banners announcing their right to enter the moving exhibition of 100 per cent health, marched through the downtown section of the city this afternoon at 1:30. The streets were lined with interested and enthusiastic spectators who applauded the school children as they passed.

The parade was led by the high school band under the direction of Wilson Walte, which furnished spirited numbers for the parade. Then followed the large body of junior high school boys and girls who have passed the test of perfect health.

Roosevelt school, with its orange and white caps, was next in line, and then Lincoln, with its blue and gold, Jackson with its green and yellow, and Washington with its blue and white. Many of the little girls in the latter group wore Red Cross symbols across their heads. Small yell lectors, dressed in white costumes and wearing jaunty caps, led the various groups in yells that demonstrated by volume as well as by sentiment that they were anything but frail.

The primary grade children beamed their 100 per cent perfection out at the spectators from the trucks which carried them through the long line of march and waved their hands to their admirers on the streets below.

The trucks were followed by several long buses which carried additional small school children. Each school was accompanied by its own teachers who guided the children through the streets, with the assistance of Medford's traffic department and members of the health unit.

At the exercises at the city park Superintendent of Schools Hedrick acted as chairman. He introduced Mayor A. W. Pipes, who addressed the youngsters and implored the boys to "always keep their hair combed" and the girls "to keep their hair curled."

Carl Swigart, chairman of the board of education, presented the prizes and Miss Josephine Jones, school nurse, presented the health trophy.

At the conclusion of the exercises the health children were given ice cream through the courtesy of the Jackson County Health association.

Children Earn Free Circus Tickets on Saturday

That the children appreciate the free tickets to Barnes main show, side show and wild west shows, three in all, being given away by the Mail Tribune, is proven by the happy, bright-faced boys and girls who have brought in an order for a new subscriber to this paper for two months at $1.50. The circus tickets we are giving free will cost $1.25 at the circus grounds.

Any live-wire boy or girl can secure a new subscriber if they try and thereby see the circus free.

Tomorrow, Saturday, is the day to get busy. If your parents do not take this paper, get them to subscribe. If they do take it try your neighbor or someone else.

This offer is good for all children under 16, anywhere in the city or country. You don't need a coupon.
