

NORMAL STUDENTS WILL DONATE DAY TO CAMPUS WORK

ASHLAND, May 15.—(Special)—Campus day at the Southern Oregon Normal school will bring out the students today, dressed in every sort of utility garment, prepared to serve a day of service to the school by doing chores on the campus. There will be no classes during the day, so the faculty will celebrate with the student body.

At noon a picnic lunch will be spread on the campus lawn and a program will be given while the meal is being eaten. Irving E. Vining will be the chief speaker. In the afternoon, when the chores are done, there will be a program of athletic events. Tennis, volley ball and base ball will be on the program of events. As a final flourish, a matinee dance will be held in the normal school auditorium, with music furnished by the normal orchestra.
