

ASHLAND SENIORS TO PRESENT PLAY ON FRIDAY NIGHT

ASHLAND, Ore., May 16.—(Special.)—May 17 will witness the presentation of the senior high class play, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," at the senior high gym. Miss Althea Dwyer is directing the production, which is said to be of unusual excellence and interest. Proceeds from the play will be used for the "Annual" fund.

Miss Nora Ward, one of the faculty of junior high, left Friday morning for a week-end visit at Gold Hill. Saturday evening at 9:30 o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Margaret Perrine, daughter of Mrs. Jennie B. Perrine of Nob Hill street, and Frank Boardman of Prospect. The Rev. G. V. Fallis, pastor of the First Methodist church of Ashland, performed the ceremony. The rooms were beautifully decorated and a delicious supper followed the ceremony. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Boardman left for a short honeymoon spent in the north. Upon their return they will make their home in Prospect, where Mr. Boardman is employed.

Mount Ashie W. chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its May meeting Friday of this week with Mrs. J. P. Dodge, Mrs. H. C. Galey, Mrs. Loomis and Mrs. Murphy hostesses. The program is in charge of Mrs. Grace E. Owens-Andrews, chairman of historical research and preservation of records, and will deal particularly with the work appertaining to that committee. It is hoped that there will be a large percentage of the membership present, since it is at this meeting that the election is held. Mrs. Ann Hill Russell, who has but lately recovered from a serious illness, and more recently celebrated her 92nd birthday, will be principal speaker at the mothers' meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. James Boyd on North Main street. Mrs. Russell is a charter member of the W. C. T. U. in Ashland, and is particularly fitted to speak informatively at this meeting of that organization.

Among those who spent the week-end in Eugene the guests of their children who are students there were Mrs. Hugh T. Mitchell, Mrs. P. D. Wagner, Mrs. Louisa Dodge, Mrs. H. C. Galey, Mrs. R. E. Dietrick and Mrs. E. H. Wagner. Chester Woods, Elliot MacCracken, Marvin Shaw and Clarence Haan, students at the State college, spent the week-end visiting their parents and friends.

Miss Ellen Taylor, and old-time resident, belonging to one of the pioneer families, passed away at the home of her relatives Saturday evening. Miss Donna Earl, student at the Southern Oregon Normal, spent the week-end with friends in Medford.

MUSICIANS TO MAKE HOME ROGUE VALLEY

John R. Knight, teacher of violin from Vancouver and Pendleton, Ore., who, with Mrs. Knight, well known vocal soloist, have been visiting in the valley for the past two months, has definitely decided to locate here, according to Mr. Knight.

Situated for the summer in Jacksonville, where he agreed to take a few students during his stay, Mr. Knight has now decided to open a studio in Medford in the fall, beginning September 1.

A teacher of violin since 1908 in Vancouver, the local visitor was in constant demand on programs, and had built up a large following in his profession. Due to falling health on the part of Mrs. Knight, who had received considerable recognition as a soprano soloist in the north, the couple moved to Jackson county two months ago to recuperate. Improved in health and impressed with the climate and beauties of Rogue River valley, they recently made up their minds to remain here permanently.

TRIBUNE BOX CREW WAKENS STROHMEIER

CENTRAL POINT, Ore., May 15 (Special.)—The Mail Tribune disturbance crew was out on the public highways before sunrise this morning, and awakened the better half, who remarked "someone broke down in a car." But lo and behold, after the pounding had ceased, a bright golden Tribune receptacle was found installed. This will be appreciated by the subscribers as some have a hard time finding the paper in the dark and after this with the patience of the carrier, the Tribune will be in the same place each evening.

"Quick starting, snappy pickup" — says CONSER, of Medford

Driving a Pontiac coupe, Elder Conser, of Medford, has found that Associated Gasoline gives him the results that he wishes in a motor fuel.

"Quick starting, snappy pickup and 'More Miles to the Gallon' are features that are very evident in this splendid product"— he writes. "I am pleased to state that in my experience with different motor fuels I find Associated Gasoline far superior in quality."

Drive in at the red, green and cream station and fill up with this finer motor fuel. Associated Gasoline is a clean fuel, refined to insure complete combustion and to minimize carbon formation and crankcase dilution. Associated Gasoline starts easily, responds eagerly to the throttle at all speeds and gives amazingly long mileage.

For eighteen weary months the intrepid captains, Lewis and Clark, fought their westward way from the Missouri through a primitive wilderness and along the Columbia River to the then-forbidding waters of the blue Pacific. Romantic bits of western history such as this are revealed in the Associated Oil Company radio program, "Roads to Romance." Listen in each Wednesday evening, 8 to 8:30 p. m., on stations KFO-San Francisco; KGO-Oakland; KFI-Los Angeles; KGW-Portland; KOMO-Seattle; KHQ-Spokane.

PRESBYTERIANS TO AIR DISCORD OVER PRINCETON STUDY

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP)—Discord, rooted in the Princeton Theological seminary, has spread to the impending general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the U. S. A., which will convene May 23 and end May 25.

Represented as having grown from personalities, the internal strife in the church's oldest and largest seminary has extended to the institution's two governing boards.

While the controversy will be submitted to the general assembly in search of settlement, some Presbyterian churchmen believe civil courts eventually will untangle it.

The difference between the board of directors and the board of trustees also has been explained as one of doctrine and administration, with a clash of authority in which the seminary's president figures.

Two years ago a committee headed by Dr. William G. Thompson, Columbus, Ohio, president emeritus of Ohio State university, recommended reorganization of the seminary government. This proposal has been arranged again for presentation to the general assembly.

Indications are that the assembly will suggest sweeping changes in the directorate, faculty and board of trustees.

Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of the seminary, classed as leader of the moderate-conservative group, is presented as believing the seminary should be responsive to opinion of the whole church. His opponents assert the seminary stands for an ultra-conservative view.

Churchmen declare the dispute has had an "unwholesome effect on students," and some claim attendance has decreased because of it.

With D. Stevenson as "moderate conservatives" are: Faculty member, Dr. Charles Erdman; directors: Robert E. Spoor, New York; secretary of board of foreign missions; Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, army; W. Beatty Jennings, both of Philadelphia, and Dr. John Finny, M. D., Baltimore.

"Ultra-conservative" are: Faculty members, D. J. Gresham Machen, D. Robert Dick Wilson; directors, D. W. L. McEwan, Dr. Maitland Alexander, Dr. Clarence Macartney, all of Pittsburgh, and Dr. John H. Laird, Philadelphia.
