SHE THOUGHT:
"I'll never invite you again"
Yet, to be polite,
SHE SAID:
"It's nice to have you here, Ruth"

Charming—yet Ruth is so unwelcome

. . . can it be "B. O."?

(Body Odor)

"I DID enjoy Alice Cole's bridge," Ruth was thinking some weeks later. "But she's never asked me again.

"Same old story—people like me at first—but quickly lose interest."

Then Ruth began to suspect the trouble. Read what she learned about "B. O."

"I'd never believe a person could be guilty of body odor—and not know it—except that it happened to me.

"'B. O.' fools us like that, my doctor explained, because we become insensitive to familiar odors. But even on cool days the pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste.

"Now, thanks to Lifebuoy, I never worry about offending. Its wonderful antiseptic lather is so purifying, you feel 'like a million dollars' after a Lifebuoy bath. Lifebuoy even removes cigarette odors from the hands, my brother says."

For healthier skins, too

"I think Lifebuoy's a marvelous complexion soap, too. And it safeguards us all against germs. You can tell Lifebuoy purifies from its pleasant, extra-clean scent that vanishes as you rinse."

News Notes of Pomona and Subordinate Grange Chapters Given by Official Reporters

The Lesson Learned
By Gatle

When I was still a youngster
At my mother's knee;
She taught me many lessons,
A good man I must be.

My mother was a Christian
As mothers all were then;
It was her God-given duty
To raise God fearing men.

She said that I must never—
The penalty was shame—
Take advantage of another,
No, not for any gain.

I must not value earthly goods
Above a conscience clear;
And I must hold my honor
Above all things, most dear.

And now I've grown to manhood,
Mother's teachings are my guide;
I will not harm my neighbor,
Nor will I him deride.

I'd suffer great privation
E'er I'd cause my neighbor grief;
If I'd profit by his failure
I'd think I was a thief.

I've had life's great experiences,
Both the bitter and the sweet;
But I've ne'er forgot the lessons
I learned at mother's feet.

I've had some great misfortunes
And grief has laid me low;
But I've never harmed another;
Mother would have it so.

Grange Program for Week

Eagle Point, Tuesday, May 21, 8 p. m.
Lake Creek, Thursday, May 23, 8 p. m.
Jacksonville, Friday, May 24, 7:30 p. m.
Pomona, Central Point, Saturday, May 25, 8 p. m.

Pomona Grange

Pomona members should not forget the special called meeting to be held in Central Point on Saturday evening, May 25, at 8 p. m.

This meeting has been called to vote on some resolutions which are to go to the state Grange. These resolutions are important and the members should be interested in hearing the discussion of them.

This is not the meeting at which the fifth degree will be conferred. The degree work will be put on at Rogue River, at the evening session of the regular business meeting in July.

Eagle Point Grange

Eagle Point Grange meets tonight, Tuesday, at 8 o'clock.

There will be a short business session at which the building plans committee will present other plans or modifications of the previous plans.

The home economics committee will have charge of the program. The program promises to be unique and interesting. Refreshments will be served in connection with the program.

After the program the evening will be turned over to the young people of the grange.

Visitors always welcome.

Eagle Point Juvenile Grange

The Juvenile met on Saturday in regular business session and after the close spent an hour in practice. There was a good attendance.

There will be no juvenile next Saturday. The next meeting will be on Saturday, June 1st at 2:30 p. m.

The juveniles are all urged to be present at that meeting.

The Grange and the Community
(By Gertrude Haak)

We believe we can say without danger of being contradicted, that there is no organization, or ever has there been, that has proven of such inestimable value to rural communities as has the grange.

The grange is essentially a rural community organization, although it is state and nation wide. Altho many questions of state and national importance have had their inception in the subordinate grange, yet it has its greatest activities in community work.

All the world is organized in a commercial way, but all the world is not organized in a social way. Possibly the grange leads in social organization, for the grange definitely places a moral responsibility on its members to work for the interests of the community in general, and the people in it in particular; to work together, each for the good of all.

The grange was organized, not only to work for the financial interests of the farmer, but for their social (moral and educational) interests. And is it not a fact that our moral and intellectual self is our real self? What we have on our backs or in the bank can easily slip away, but what we have in our minds and hearts no man can take from us.

And to the lecturer in particular, but to all in general, is assigned the task to "develop and direct to greater usefulness, the latent abilities of our members."

Extract from Address of National Master Tabor

"No grange can live through the years and hold its membership unless it is vitally interested in the local problems of the community. The grange that is not concerned about its own locality, that is not a real force for improving the roads, churches, parks, drains, schools and other affairs that vitally affect the welfare and health of the community, is not a grange that is going to hold a membership of the right kind thru a long period of years.

"Home-loving men and women, and especially the latter, have a real desire to improve their surroundings; to add to the beauty, attractions and prosperity of the place they call home. Home today is more than four walls; it is more than an 80 acre farm; it is the community in which your life's lot is cast. That community will affect your health, your happiness, your prosperity, and especially will it affect the future of your children.

"It is allright to be concerned about the earthquake in Japan; about the famine in Russia, or the underfed children in Austria and Germany, but it is more important that you be concerned about the sick or unfortunate family in your community, or the under-nourished children near home, the lack of educational opportunities of the poor family that has just moved into a remote corner of the township.

"The grange should enlarge the vision and expand the imagination of its membership, and it is proper and right that sometimes at grange we discuss the probability of Mars being inhabited, or whether or not there may be canals on the moon; but it is more important that the grange take steps to improve a piece of roadway in the community; to beautify the grounds or put a new fence around the old cemetery; discuss ways and means of improving church attendance, strengthening Sunday school work and supporting the parent-teacher movement.

"The grange that is studying its own community problems, that is alert to the social and educational and financial and moral values of its community, will not require some community club or some get-together meeting or any group composed of a number of local agencies, to help work out its problems or solve its difficulties, because they have been a part of the daily life and work of the organization.

MRS. M'CRACKEN READS REPORT TO ASHLAND D. A. R.

ASHLAND, May 21. — (Special) —Mount Ashland Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs J. P. Dodge at 500 on the Boulevard. The afternoon was filled with the usual business of the chapter. The regent, Mrs. Jennie Gilbert, presided over the business hour. Mrs. Gordon MacCracken read an interesting report of the last session of the Continental congress at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Grace E. Andrews also made an interesting talk in regard to having some provision made for securing more data in regard to Revolutionary ancestors of a number of possible candidates for membership. The chapter voted to have four pictures framed for presentation to the four public school buildings of the city. The pictures are handsome reproductions of a painting of "Old Ironsides," a vessel that has a history fraught with historic interests.

At the close of a very pleasant social hour, the hostess served tea and cakes from the dining table, which was attractively decorated with California poppies and lighted with yellow candles. Mrs. Jennie Gilbert, regent of the chapter poured. A large attendance of members was present to enjoy the very pleasant afternoon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. H. C. Galey and Mrs. Carl Murphy.

Mrs Nellie Loomis who has been spending the winter in southern California, is expected to arrive in Ashland early in the week. Mrs. Loomis will be accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Geo. King.

Miss Frances Shroeder, teacher in the Ashland high school, left Friday noon for a week-end visit to her home at Eugene.

Mrs. Lottie Hash on Fifth street has returned to her home after spending a week visiting in Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hale and their two children have arrived from Chiloquin, Klamath County, where Mr. Hale is principal of the public schools. Mr. Hale is a graduate of the Southern Oregon State Normal.

W. H. McNair has been spending a few days in San Francisco where he was in attendance at the Rexall convention.

W. A. Brown, clerk in the new Ashland hotel, has resigned his position to accept a position with the California-Oregon Power company at Roseburg. Mr. Bond has been employed in the hotel for the past six and a half months

NEMATODE QUARANTINE ORDER PROMULGATED

SALEM, Ore., May 21.—(AP)—Nematode control areas in Yamhill, Clackamas and Washington counties, previously created by proclamation of the governor were abolished by a new proclamation.

This was at the request of the state board of horticulture. In place of control areas protection against the nematode evil will be afforded by quarantine restrictions. Under the quarantine order all strawberry plants or clover seed shipped or sold in Oregon will be accompanied by certificates signed by a member of the state board of horticulture showing that the plants or seeds are free from the pest.

Railroad will soon be completed to Quartz Valley, less than 30 miles from Lakeview, in order to ship timber from that territory to Klamath Falls.

Safest Way to Stop Pain

It is not necessary to take heart-depressing drugs or dope of any kind to relieve nerve torture caused by neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Just apply Tysmol over the part that hurts and see how quickly you will be free from discomfort.

Tysmol is a soothing, healing absorbent that goes in through the pores and drives out inflammation which has settled in the nerves. The minute you rub it on you can feel it beginning to relieve. Pains and aches soon stop, congestion is removed, and soreness and inflammation gradually disappear.

Although Tysmol is put up especially for nerve pain and inflammation, sufferers have found it equally good for taking the misery out of stiff, swollen or aching joints. Also fine for lame back and muscular soreness. Pleasant, harmless, easy to use. Sold by leading druggists. Always on hand at

What Famous Users Say About Richfield

HARRY MILLER

"In my opinion, Richfield Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil is the ideal combination for every car. It is a combination that will give greatest efficiency in the operation of the car, both from the standpoint of power, speed and dependability as well as in economy of operation. I have used them exclusively for many years in racing motors and in my own private cars and can conscientiously recommend them to every motorist as the finest products of their kind that are made."

Harry Miller is credited with many of the great improvements in engine design of the past decade...the builder of automobile, hydroplane and aviation motors that hold many of the world's existing records for speed and endurance. His endorsement is the highest recommendation that any motor product can possibly have.

Richfield products are also used and endorsed by many other famous pilots and designers, including Fred Duesenberg, Anthony Fokker, Art Goebel, Allan Loughead, Harry Hartz, Captain Wilkins and Ralph Snoddy ...men whose achievements are internationally recognized.

Richfield really is better! Its qualities...proved in grueling competitive events...are the same qualities you need in your own motor car...power, speed, mileage and dependability.
