

SHINY NOSE FAVORED FOR ORLEANS COPS

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 24.—(AP)—Superintendent of Police Theodore Ray today barred cosmetics for New Orleans policemen. A superior officer of Patrolman Jules Reinhardt walked into a soft drink stand just in time to see the attractive proprietress reaching over the bar and powdering the officer's nose. Reinhardt was suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer.

SEAL ROCK LOTS IN SUDDEN BOOM AS ROAD LOOMS

PORTLAND, May 24.—(AP)—The Seal Rock section of the Oregon coast highway in Lincoln county may or may not be constructed. This was as much as the state highway commission could say today in commenting upon a discussion late yesterday at the regular meeting of the commission. A right of way is necessary. The commission says, however, that it is faced with the spectacle of soaring land values.

Property at Seal Rock, south of Yaquina bay, the commission said, was taken over by Lincoln county some time ago and sold for delinquent taxes at as low as $1.35 a lease lot. This property is now valued by its owners at what the highway commission says is an inordinately high figure. Prospects of a highway in the district has wrought this change, engineers declared.

New projects to be advertised at the June meeting include: Douglas county: Ten and one-half miles of grading on the Umpqua road from Drain west to red bridge and the approaches to the bridge at Scottsburg. For further information the commission will look over the ground next month when it goes to the dedication of Smith River bridge, near the California-Oregon line.

BUTTER FIRSTS DROP ONE CENT

PORTLAND, Ore., May 24.—(AP)—A drop of one cent to 41 in firsts in butter and an advance of half a cent to 26 in medium first eggs were the only price changes today. Butter receipts were reported unusually large and there was a consequent easier tone in the market. Storage of both eggs and butter is progressing well. Larger receipts of poultry may mean a slight price decline before the week is over.

The demand and the limited supply of strawberries tend to keep the price firm. Country dressed meats and pork were steady. The lamb demand was still weak and easier in price, as reported Thursday.

THE MARKETS

Portland, Ore., May 24.—(AP) Butters—Firsts cent lower.

MRS. TUNNEY HAS FEVER INCREASE

LONDON, May 24.—(AP) An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the island of Brioni in the Adriatic says that the condition of Mrs. Gene Tunney, who recently underwent an operation, is stated to have grown worse, but not to be desperate.

The former heavyweight champion was said to have become alarmed at an increase in the temperature of Mrs. Tunney and had called a doctor, Cadro, from Rovigno. The doctor had not arrived today.

FISH FACING EXTINCTION

T. E. Daniels outlined the plan of placing business men of Ashland, Medford and other county towns on a budget, with each pledged to contribute a sum in keeping with his individual ability. With an association supported by a large number of members and backed with good finances, sportsmen of southern Oregon would find more power in the state legislature, explained Mr. Daniels.

Efforts to have legislation passed in favor of recreational sporting interests would as a result be centralized and great results could be expected in the passage of beneficial legislation.

In reviewing the work and program of the Jackson county association, Mr. Daniels told of the passage of the bill in the state legislature preventing the construction of further power dams in the Rogue river below the mouth of Butte creek. He described a special investigation of law violations reported on the river, resulting in the confiscation of 30 nets and in some cases arrest and prosecution. The Rogue River committee of the association was also instrumental in increasing the warden service from one man to three at the mouth of the river.

The association, continued Mr. Daniels, has received assurance from the United States bureau of fisheries of an appropriation in the near future of $25,000 for the construction of new buildings and improvements at the Elk Creek fish hatchery. The installation of experimental electric fish screens at the Gold Ray dam was cited as another accomplishment, with the expense divided between the California Oregon Power company and the government.

The entire output of the Butte Falls fish hatchery, said Mr. Daniels, is being turned back into the Rogue river, meaning approximately one million steelhead will be planted in the river, an assurance of a sufficient number of fish for restocking purposes.

Add Game Bird

Other committees of the association have also been doing good work and under the chairmanship of Chester Fitch, the committee on game birds and animals is working to add another game bird to Jackson county—the Hungarian partridge. It is a bird successfully propagated in other sections of the state and a shipment of the birds has already been received.

The committee on small streams, under the chairmanship of Dr. R. E. Green, said Mr. Daniels is planning to restock a number of creeks and streams, badly depleted of fish in the past few years. These streams include the Applegate river and Butte creek, which would be restocked with brook trout, a beautiful gamey fish now being hatched for distribution by the state game commission.

In conclusion, Mr. Daniels reported the passage of a law providing for the organization and also dwell at short length on the fact no member of the fish or game commissions lives in southern Oregon. He declared at least one member should live in this section of the state. This suggestion met with general applause.

Following the passage of two resolutions by the association—one to increase the monthly salary of Deputy Game Warden Roy Parr from $155 to $165 and the other to appoint a special game warden to assist Deputy Parr—Mike Lynch of Redmond, member of the state game commission, declared the funds of the commission were in such condition the requests could not be promised full cooperation. However, when the resolution are officially referred to the commission, they will be given due consideration, Mr. Lynch said.

Commission Problems

The speaker reviewed the number of requests from all parts of the state for special wardens, increase in salaries and various other expenses, and declared they offered a big problem to the commission with its limited funds. State Game Warden Harold Clifford told of recent beneficial legislation for sportsmen and said the fishing situation took up 43 per cent of the commission funds, with game wardens using another 34 per cent. He urged sportsmen to cooperate in reporting violations. C. M. Ridley of San Francisco, connected with the California Game association, explained the formation of that association in the hope a similar organization will be formed here.

Joe Wharton of Grants Pass, declared southern Oregon has received widespread publicity thru the fishing in Rogue river, and cited several letters from distant points asking for information on fishing in southern Oregon. He said two-thirds of a recent Zane Grey book was devoted to the Rogue river and that book has a result has brought inquiries from England in regard to the river.

The meeting was opened by a speech of welcome by Mayor Pipes. Other speakers during the course of the evening included C. A. Lockwood of Roseburg, president of the State Game Protective association; Stanley Jewett, in charge of predatory animal work in Oregon; Bert Anderson, George H. Mosser, secretary of the Ashland chamber of commerce, and others.

Interesting moving pictures were shown by Gus Perst of Eugene, and these closed the evening's program. President O. O. Anspizer was chairman of the meeting, at which a large number of out of town visitors were present, including sportsmen from Grants Pass, Ashland, Roseburg and Jackson county points, outside of visiting game officials.

Included among the guests were Joe Wharton, Wilfred Allen, Senator Ed Miller, Dr. Fraser, O. Robertson, E. C. Gutzlow, D. M. Perry and Rainbow Gibson of Grants Pass; E. W. Gallier and W. Mynatt of Bandon; John Ewell, president of the Douglas County Game Protective association; C. A. Lockwood president of the State Game association; Charles Stinton of the Roseburg News-Review and A. C. Masterson of Roseburg; Dr. Starbuck and Mr. Allgood, Dallas; Gus Pete of Yoncalla; Harold Clifford and Mike Lynch of the state game commission.

earthly temple of an omnipotent, omniscient God require lightning rods? Modern religion believes, very wisely, that Nature's laws works regularly and know no favorites.

The senate voted to confirm Lenroot as judge, and being ashamed of the job, did it in secret. As usual, some senator told some reporter how the senators voted. Now senators, ashamed AND angry, would oust news agencies from the senate floor. That would be ousting the people, for after all, it is the people's senate. They elect the members and pay their salaries.

Why not abolish secret sessions and secret voting, except in matters involving this nation's relations with other countries? The senate fails Sinclair for keeping information from senators. What right have senators to keep from the people knowledge of their own public business?
