PROTEST BY A. P. SENT TO CURTIS

Associated Press Should Not Be Penalized for Blunders Other Association, Vice- President Told — Could Have Shared So-Called 'Beat' On Senate Roll Call

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—The following letter was sent to Vice President Curtis today by the chief of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press:

The Honorable Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, Senate Chambers.

Dear Mr. President: As a result of an announcement yesterday by the president of the senate, the Associated Press finds itself deprived through no fault of its own of the privilege of access to the senate floor—a privilege which has been accorded it continuously for many years and which it never has abused.

Naturally the newspapers making up the Associated Press have received this announcement with surprise and regret. Many of them have inquired by telephone and telegraph why the Associated Press should be penalized because of an incident in which it had no part whatever. Under the circumstances I know I voice the sentiment of the Associated Press of the entire country in making formal protest, and asking that this protest be made a part of the senate record.

I am sure that most senators already know that the information regarding a secret senate session recently published by the United Press should have been obtained by us, but that no effort was made to compile it for publication. We refrained from such publication because we had reason to believe that the information available was likely, in the nature of the case, to be inaccurate, and we felt that under no circumstances should we publish a roll call which would misrepresent the position of any senator. It now has appeared that this surmise was correct.

I invite attention to the fact that accuracy was the compelling consideration, and that the Washington bureau of the Associated Press never has and does not now subscribe to any theory that publication of secret proceedings, if the publication is accurate, is in any wise beyond the legitimate function of a free press.

What action the senate may see fit to take against a press agency which describes senate proceedings inaccurately is, of course, a matter between the senate and that particular agency. The Associated Press, therefore, expresses no opinion on the merits of the case involving recent publication of a purported senate roll call, but it does protest vigorously against sharing, even by implication, the blame for an incident in which it deliberately declined to have any part.

Respectfully yours,
Byron Price,
Chief of bureau.
