

"Lest We Forget"

BUY A POPPY!

THE DISTANT ECHO of big guns, which made the whole earth tremble eleven years ago, has long since been obscured by the roar of factories and the hum of busy mills . . . The sunshine of Peace and Prosperity has triumphed over the dark clouds of war . . . the great world conflict is now but a memory . . . a sad memory to countless thousands who have suffered and are still suffering.

Heroes fought and died for the principles of enduring liberty we now have . . . Peace and prosperity is their heritage. The battlefields of France, once torn by bursting shells, trampled by the grim legions of war and red with the blood of valiant heroes, is now crimson with poppies of peace. Tiny poppies, replicas of the poppies of Flanders field and fashioned by the hands of America's heroes, are being sold this week by the American Legion Auxiliary of Medford Post 15. We can pay no higher tribute to the ideals for which American heroes fought and died than to buy Memorial Poppies . . . to express our reverent love and gratitude for the service they rendered.

To buy Memorial Poppies is to do our bit in brightening the lives of disabled veterans and their families . . . We must keep faith . . . We must wear a Memorial Poppy this week!
