WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—Production of movies with five heroes, five heroines and five villains is regarded as a possibility by N. D. Golden, assistant chief of the motion picture division of the department of commerce. "Hollywood may have to come out of that," he said, "if the United States is to preserve her foreign markets for films." It is all on account of the talkies. It seems that residents of Paris, Buenos Aires, Rome and, for that matter, London, can't always understand what it is that the gunman hero calls his moll. And if they can't understand, Mr. Golden reasons, there's always a possibility that the foreigners don't care to hear the films. People are like that. So the idea is that separate companies speaking American, French, Spanish, Italian, German and, possibly, English, will rotate on the expensive Hollywood sets, cutting out a many language versions of each photoplay as there are markets.

VATICAN DOUBTS MEXICAN SCHISM WILL BE HEALED

VATICAN CITY, May 30.—(AP)—The entourage of the pope considers it extremely unlikely that his holiness has approved a plan of action with regard to a settlement of the religious question in Mexico. If he has, it was said in competent quarters, he has kept his own counsel about it. The presumption here was that his silence could be interpreted as indicating that developments had not reached a head. Reports from Washington that vatican approval had been given a projected plan of settlement excited some interest but were discounted. Vatican attaches considered Monsignor Ruiz y Flores, archbishop of Michoacan, reported last in Washington, as the likeliest source of news regarding moves for a settlement.
