

NEWS of the DAY in PICTURES

THERE HE GOES! Up and over the bar at 12 feet 6 inches, is the athlete's feat shown above. The vaulter is Colyer of Cornell, showing his powers during the dual meet between Penn. and Cornell.

ONCE THIS SPOT WAS TOUCHED by the waters of San Francisco Bay—in fact it was here that American forces landed to take possession. Now, however, Portsmouth Square is a mile inland, in the heart of Chinatown. The square was a favorite lounging spot for Robert Louis Stevenson, and this monument, crowned by a galleon, is his memorial.

TAKING IMPORTANT ROLES IN WASHINGTON'S social drama are these wives of members of the cabinet of President Hoover. They are: (1), Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the interior; (2), Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor; (3), Mrs. James W. Good, wife of the secretary of war; (4), Mrs. Walter F. Brown, wife of the postmaster-general, and (5), Mrs. William D. Mitchell, wife of the attorney-general.

VACATION TIME IS HERE, but not all the kids are playing. This young citizen of Kansas City, Mo., is going to do a little work on the side.

ONE VAST BED OF BEAUTIFUL TULIPS is the yard of this home in Cleveland, the residence of Mrs. George W. Morse. There are 13,600 tulips in the yard—by actual count.

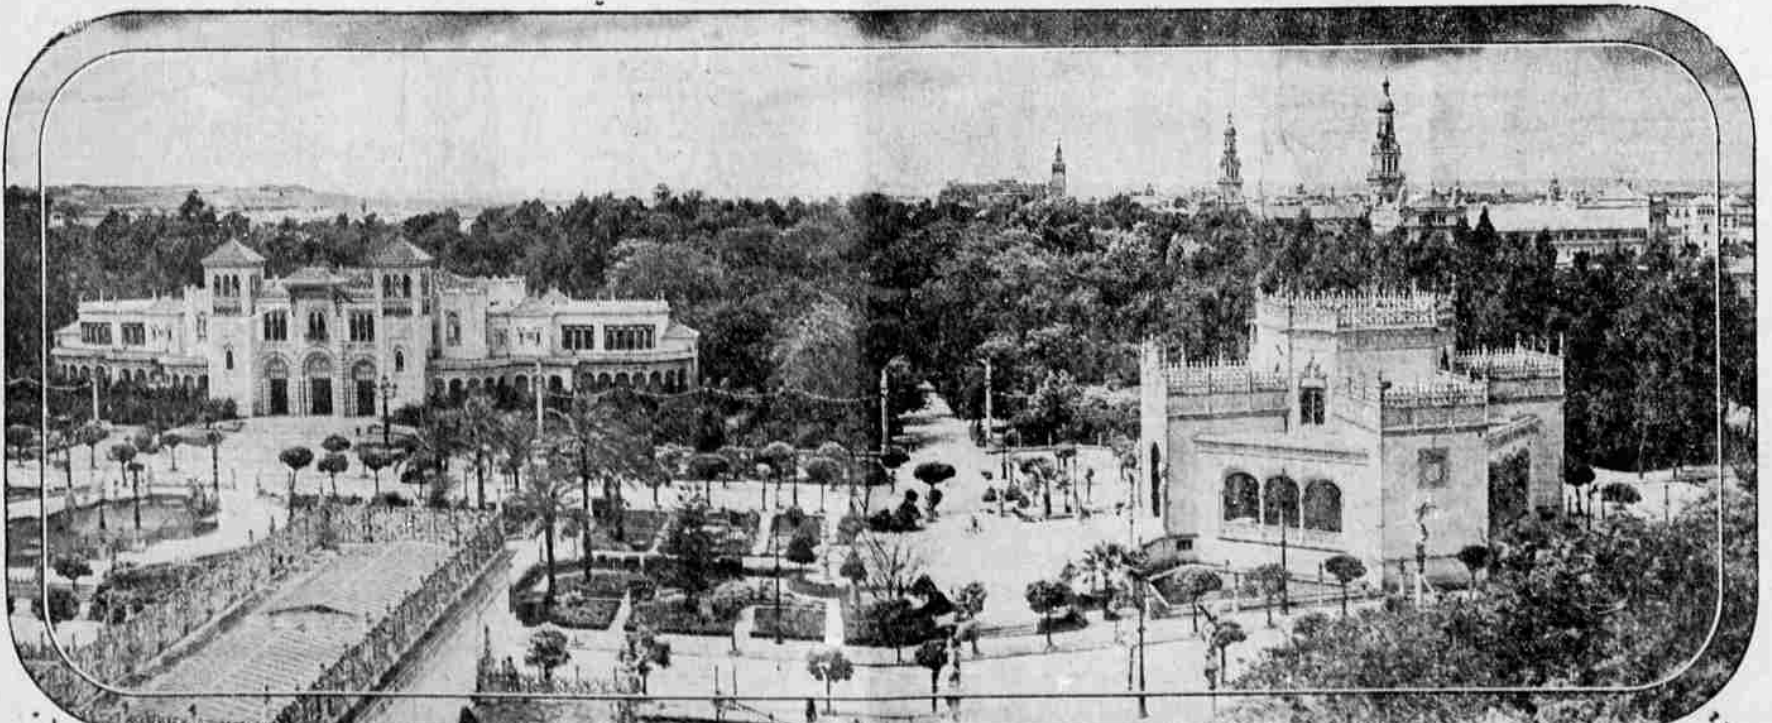

IN SALINAS, CALIF., everybody knows Jean Cosboom. Not only was she voted the most popular student in high school, but her fellow townspeople selected her as queen of the town's annual sweet pea show, one of California's greatest blossom fiestas.

THIS IS THE LAST word—also the tiniest squeak—in organ pipes. It goes into a big movie organ in San Francisco and sounds like a baby chick's falsetto. Ruth Roland of the films is holding it.

HIS SMILE IS NICE, but his jaw is deadly. The boy is Charles "Sonny" Albany, 13-year-old marble champion of Philadelphia, holding the trophy he won recently.

ROMANTIC SEVILLE, SPAIN, HAS BECOME THE SCENE OF THE IBERO-AMERICAN EXHIBITION. The principal buildings of the exhibition are situated in the most picturesque parts of the city and the famous park and gardens of Maria Luisa and Las Delicias are contained in the grounds. The picture shows a general view of the exhibition, with the Palace of Antique Art on the left. In the foreground, to the right, is the Royal Pavilion, while in the central background is Seville Cathedral. In right background are towers and buildings of the Plaza de Espana.

THE NEW ARMY GAS mask, shown here as worn by an infantryman, is much more comfortable than the old one. If there is such a thing as comfort in a gas mask, in this type, the soldier breathes through his nose, instead of wearing a clip over it.
