Thou Shalt Not Drink. To Teach Thinking. Hail Miss Goldarbeiter. Thoughtful Bourbon.

The government is employing 200 new men in a determined effort to prevent shipping whiskey from Canada to Detroit. They will find it difficult, according to a reliable person, who says whiskey is sent across now by torpedoes, dragging cases attached to a buoy, which are picked up later by waiting boats, guided by a flare.

An official of the Canadian government, traveling on a rum running boat from the Canadian shore to Detroit, was assured by the bootleg commander that government officials "never happened to be just where the rum boat landed, and never would happen to be there, for good reasons."

Enforcing prohibition is hard, and is not made easier by the rather frequent killings by prohibition agents.

A youth recently shot by prohibition agents has just died. A man driving an automobile with his wife and two children was shot dead by prohibition agents.

Such incidents might worry sincere prohibitionists. Too many such killings will arouse antagonism.

The new commandment, "Thou shalt not drink," has not yet eliminated the older commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," as Mr. Harding points out in a forceful cartoon.

Dean Hutchins, soon to be head of the University of Chicago and youngest president of any big college in the United States, says the teachers' real work is teaching students to THINK.

"A university is not made to reform or amuse young men, but to teach him to think, to think straight, if possible, but to think always for themselves."

No educator ever said anything more important or expressed more accurately the purpose of education. But how can you teach them TO THINK? That is the question. You must take them young, Professor Hutchins says. "It is sad but true that at 18 of 19 it is too late to take a boy and make a man of him and interest him in his studies. He is solidified too often in"

FRENCHMEN TAKE WING FOR PARIS

AMERICANS IN TROUBLE ON TAKEOFF

Yellow Bird Makes Fine Start 10:08 A. M. Today —Green Flash Ground Loops When Wheels Give Way—Propeller and Other Portions of Plane Badly Damaged By Mishap.

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, June 13.—(AP)—Rumors that a youth stowed away in the "Yellow Bird" before it took off for Paris today received some credence this afternoon.

Arthur Schreiber, 22, of Portland was said by two other youths to have crawled into the big plane while the motor was being warmed up.

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, June 13.—(AP)—One of two trans-Atlantic airplanes got away to a good start today for Paris, but the second, destined for Rome, crashed before she left the ground.

The "Yellow Bird," huge French monoplane, manned by a crew of three young Frenchmen, made a beautiful take-off at 10:08 a. m. and sped away to the east accompanied by a coast guard amphibian.

The "Green Flash" American plane, with an American crew, nosed over on the beach and swerved into a ground loop about midway of her run.

The ground loop turned her nose directly about.

Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams of the American plane were not injured.

The "Green Flash" nearly duplicated its accident two weeks ago today. At that time one of the wheels dropped into sand and caused it to ground loop, but only the wheel and a few stay wires were damaged.

The French plane got away two weeks ago but was forced to return after 20 minutes because of a leak in the main fuel tank.

Using Mixed Fuel The "Yellow Bird" today was using a mixture of benzol and gasoline. The benzol was put in the fuel to reduce the detonation and vibration which caused the leak on the first take-off.

The mixture will be about 10 per cent benzol for the first two hours of flight. It will then be cut to 30 per cent and later to 20 per cent.

The crew of the "Yellow Bird" are Armano Lotti, Jr., sponsor and co-pilot; Jean Assolant, pilot, and Rene LeFevre, navigator.

Assolant, a 23-year-old pink-cheeked youth, was married three days ago to Miss Pauline Parker of New York.

She accompanied him to the beach this morning and was very grave as she bade him goodbye and saw the plane roar down the hard-packed sands of the beach.

The Frenchmen carried two automobile inner tubes for use as life preservers. Lotti ordered a good-sized rubber boat discarded because of the added weight.

One-half of the propeller was broken when the "Green Flash" nosed over, the left wing strut was broken and the landing gear was smashed.

Yancey said the right wheel let go beneath them and the ship twisted to the right at that moment and centered into a nose-over.

The rear part of the fuselage near the tail assembly was badly dented and the left wing torn. The cowling over the motor also was badly dented.

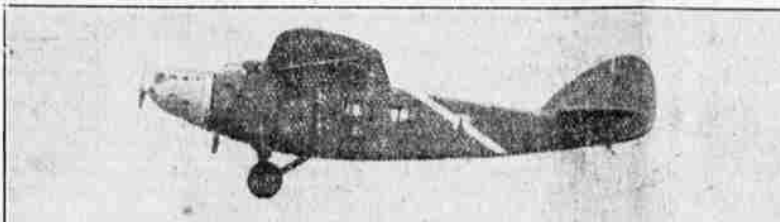

Gasoline leaked from the tanks and spread about the ground and the throng about the plane was pushed back for fear someone might toss a lighted cigarette or match on the ground and ignite the fuel.

The coast guard amphibian, piloted by Lieut. L. M. Mallin, which accompanied the "Yellow Bird" at the start, returned above the beach 10 minutes later.

The coast guardman in charge of a porthole short-wave receiving set here said that Mallin had reported the "Yellow Bird" at 160 miles out 2000 feet up and going strong.

Suspend Bus Fare SALEM, Ore., June 13.—(AP)—The public service commission today extended to and including November 23, this year, its suspension of the Portland Electric Power company's proposed increase in street car fares from 5 to 10 cents.

WOMAN AVERS CAL NOT KEEN HOME INVADERS ABOUT WRITING BY RADIO MAN AS LIFE WORK

Hollywood Intruder Described As Much Sought Tallman—Gains Entrance By Ruse—Place Ransacked—Guard Vicinity.

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—(AP)—Police announced today that fingerprints photographed in the apartment of Mrs. Harry Stern, Hollywood, who reported invasion of her home by a man answering description of William L. Tallman, were not those of the former radio operator.

Mrs. Stern reported to police late last night that she had been bound and gagged by a man who entered her home. She identified pictures of Tallman, wanted in connection with the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty as the intruder.

"I am a radioman," Mrs. Stern told police the man said as he entered her apartment, "and the police are looking for me."

Mrs. Stern said the intruder was dressed in a blue suit, which was mudstained and had been apparently watersoaked. His face was covered with several days' growth of beard.

The fingerprints taken in Mrs. Stern's apartment were said by police to be very "sloppy" and somewhat uncertain in detail. They expressed belief that the intruder had worn cloth gloves.

Mrs. Stern reported that the man gained entrance by a ruse. She said he told her he was a radioman, and thinking he had come to repair her radio set, she admitted him. He said he had been in an automobile accident and asked to wash his hands.

Showing him to the bath room, Mrs. Stern said he reappeared with several bath towels with which he bound her hands and feet, then gagged her and forced her into a telephone closet, locking the door. She succeeded in freeing herself sufficiently to be able to telephone police. Shown pictures of Tallman, Mrs. Stern identified him as the intruder, police said.

Officers arriving at the apartment found furniture and fixtures in disorder, indicating the man had ransacked the place thoroughly.

QUESTION SANITY STUDENT SLAYER

PORTLAND, Ore., June 13.—(AP)—Sanity examination of Walter Pinkie Jr., 18, charged with the murder of his student rival in love, Herbert Beem, 18, started today in juvenile court. The examination is customary in cases before this court. Circuit Judge Gilbert has under advisement the question of whether Pinkie will be tried as a juvenile or turned over to circuit court for trial.

Casualties of the Air Service

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 13.—(AP)—Cadet L. H. Troup, 24, student in the advanced flying school at Kelly field, was killed and Capt. Floyd Bernard Wood, 21, escaped death by taking to his parachute when their plane looped wings over Kelly field today.

DEBENTURE BEATEN ON ROLL CALL

House Backs Hoover By Rejection of Export Plan in Farm Relief—Leaders View Vote As Paving Way for Senate Action—Conferees to Meet Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—A meeting of the senate and house conference committee on the farm relief bill has been called for tomorrow morning, at which time they will take up the question of eliminating the debenture plan from the measure.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—The house today backed up the views of President Hoover by rejecting the export debenture plan of farm relief.

The vote was 250 to 113. The debenture proposition, which Mr. Hoover had attacked twice in public statements and which he had termed a subsidy, was voted down on a roll call vote taken at the insistence of the senate, which had approved it on two occasions.

A number of senators had been represented, however, as demanding the inclusion of the plan in the bill in order that the house members could be recorded on it.

Today's action was regarded by administration leaders as paving the way for a recession by the senate in its stand and a quick transmittal of a relief measure, minus the debenture, to the White House.

A few minutes after the house clerk had announced the outcome of the ballot, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic senate leader, indicated he would carry out his announced intention of abiding by the decision of the house.

Speaker Longworth immediately appointed conferees to take up consideration of the question with the senate once more.

They were Haugen, Durnell of Indiana, Williams of Illinois, republicans, and Aswell of Louisiana and Kinchloe of Kentucky, democrats, who served on the first conference committee.

It was indicated the conferees would seek an immediate meeting with senate conferees, and Tilson, in the event an agreement should be reached late today, obtained permission for the house group to file a report until midnight. This would enable a vote in the house tomorrow on whatever agreement might be worked out.

Honesty Worth Ten Grand

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—What a thrill for honest Lauretta Olson, clerk for a piano company. She found a diamond ring in the lobby of the company's building, notified the elevator man that she had found it, put it on a dazed and jittery blond, and then she took it to a jeweler for appraisal. He valued it at $10,000. The thrill was bigger than ever. But Lauretta was afraid of such wealth. She left it in the jeweler's safe. Now she is to get a reward from the owner.

PEAR RATE OF $1.63 ORDERED UNTIL DEC. 31

Rogue River Traffic Association Announces Recommendation of S. P. Accepted By Other Routes —Prof. Hartman Engaged

It was announced at the meeting of the Rogue River Traffic association today that the Central Freight association had ordered the emergency rate of $1.63 per hundred on pear shipments, as recommended six weeks ago by the Southern Pacific, and accepted by other railroads. The rate will be in effect until December 31, next.

The association voted to cooperate with the Fruitgrowers' league in securing the services of Prof. E. T. Hartmann of the Oregon State college, to go to New York City the coming fruit shipping season, and advise the board of regents on a tour of inspection. A fund is being collected among the fruit growers for the sending of Prof. Hartmann to New York City, if arrangements can be made.

The regents and Prof. Hartmann will be guests of a Fruitgrowers' Tariff association luncheon next Tuesday noon.

A committee composed of Messrs. Hamlin, David Rosenberg and Newbery was appointed to report as soon as possible and as briefly as possible, upon the practicability of packing houses keeping packers on the same day by the day instead of rotating them every hour. It is claimed that by keeping the packers at the same size fruit for a day at a time, the quality of the pack would be increased.

The abrupt elevation on South 6th street, where once steamed the Rogue River Valley railroad, will soon be no more. Next Tuesday evening the city council will be asked to eradicate it. Packers aver that the "big bump" is detrimental to pears being hauled to the packing houses. Much of the pear hauling traffic passes over it.

Attorney Rawles Moore explained to the association the changes in the state marketing law passed by the last legislature. The secretary was instructed to get a copy of the law for each packer and they in turn, were urged to comply with the provisions thereof before July 1 next, or suffer the penalties therein provided.

Jack Griffiths informed the meeting that he was busy putting up the machinery for the R. W. Harvey paper and factory on South Front street and would start making paper pads within a few days.

The usual telegraph facilities have been relied upon in the past. Route officials said, but increased use of its service has necessitated a more private communication system.

The equipment at the local airport is expected to be in operation by July 1, and will be located in the present Pacific Air Transport headquarters at the field.

SEATTLE, June 13.—(AP)—Two Oregon points, Medford and Portland, and four California cities, will soon be linked by automatic printer telegraph with the Seattle office of the Boeing Airplane company. Officials of the company have announced that the printer telegraph units will be installed on these airports to insure instantaneous communication between airports. The California cities are Los Angeles, Bakersfield, Fresno and Oakland.

M'DONALD IS WARNED BY LIBERAL

Liberalism—Not Socialism—Must Be Policy, Says Lloyd George—Await Declaration With Interest—Jowitt Defection Produced Universal Condemnation, Is Charge.

LONDON, June 13.—(AP)—Liberalism and not socialism must be the keynote of the new labor government's policy, its career will come to a summary conclusion, declared David Lloyd George, liberal leader, in outlining this afternoon the policy of the liberal party would pursue in the coming parliamentary sessions.

The Hon. Weichman, who holds the balance of power in the house of commons which meets June 25, told a meeting of the liberal parliamentary party that the country had given a liberal and not a Tory or labor mandate.

"We shall await with interest the forthcoming declaration of ministerial policy," said Mr. Lloyd George, "but we must declare that as far as lies in our power, the mandate of the government ends when it fails to pursue the liberal policy."

"At the very hour that the ministry decides to become a socialist administration, its career ends. For it has no authority from the nation to embark upon socialistic experiments. It could only, if kept in power by Tory votes or Tory indulgence."

Mr. Lloyd George dealt summarily with the defection of William Allen Jowitt from the liberal party to become attorney general of the new labor government.

His reference could hardly be misunderstood when, without mentioning Mr. Jowitt by name, he remarked, "We have had no defection. I shall make no comment on it or on the unparalleled circumstances under which it took place. I leave it to the universal nausea felt and expressed in every circle."

With reference to Anglo-American relations and disarmament, Mr. Lloyd George said he assumed that the new labor government would take immediate steps "to act upon the approaches made by the United States regarding naval disarmament."

"If the government insists upon the solemn obligations of peace treaties, as to disarmament being carried out, then they can rely on the whole-hearted support of the liberal party."
