RADIO APPARATUS KILLS TREE PEST AND AIDS GROWTH

If used on a wide scale with such good results as received in tests at Wenatchee, Wash., a new radio apparatus, as described in Medford by Edwin W. Lovejoy, United States radio supervisor for the seventh district with headquarters at Seattle, Wash., promises to be a boon to Rogue River valley orchardists in the eradication of insect pests from orchards.

Tests have been carried on for two years in Washington by the Electro-Spray company of Spokane, said Mr. Lovejoy, and have been proven an unquestionable success, resulting in a minimum amount of insect trouble and an improved appearance in trees and fruit. Technically, radio activity from a three-kilowatt radio transmitter working on a wave length of 1200 meters, has been found to sterilize the eggs laid by the parent insect, resulting in a high quality fruit.

Antennaes of several wires are placed 12 feet above each row of trees and for three hours each morning, between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock, the wires are energized. For some reason which has never been fully explained, this energy plays havoc with the insect eggs and also increases the growth of the tree in foliage and fruit. The work so far has been a complete success, Mr. Lovejoy said, and the next step is to have the apparatus approved by the United States government.

Later, when the company is fully organized, the apparatus will be leased to orchards desiring the service. He is of the opinion it will be found in great demand, as it will take away the necessity of spraying and the old question of spray residue. Further experiments by the company are being closely watched by Mr. Lovejoy.

He plans to leave Medford this evening for his headquarters in Seattle, following a periodical inspection of KMED, Mail Tribune-Virgin broadcasting station, and KGB, commercial station located at the airport and operated by the Pacific Air Transport company. Mr. Lovejoy's territory includes Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming, and he must make regular visits to each of the states and the one territory.

He reports applications for establishment of radio stations are still being received and that the latest came from Klamath Falls, where three parties are planning on the establishment of a broadcasting station if the government sanctions the move. There are 750 stations in the United States, and only 80 air channels upon which to work. Ten of these are reserved for joint use with Mexico and Canada.

VAN HOEVENBERG FINDS NO CANDIDATE IN CAL.

H. Van Hoevenberg, Jr., named by the Fruitgrowers league directors at a meeting Tuesday a committee of one to determine the choice of California for appointment of the recently created farm board, was in telephone contact with San Francisco agencies this morning, and learned that the state has no definite candidate for the $12,000 federal plum.

Three names have been mentioned, but they do not seek the berth. One is Dwight Swett, a personal friend of President Hoover, and head of the California Pear Growers' association.

The Fruitgrowers league favors a man for the appointment who is versed in the intricacies of the fruit industry.

The three Oregon candidates are conversant with wheat raising and marketing, with no exceptional or trained knowledge of the fruit business.

It was not known today whether this was the beginning of another dry drive or not. He was scheduled to have a hearing this afternoon in justice court.

MONARDH SEED STORE WINDOW FAIRY SCENE

The front window at the Monarch Seed & Feed store took on the appearance of a miniature fairy garden yesterday when the place was transformed into a lovely setting for the new pottery.

Weird little gnomes, colorful flowers, cool green ferns, wobbly toadstools—all the things one would expect to see in fairyland—have been artistically arranged to show Medford shoppers how to make their yards interesting. Then there are pottery bird baths, deer and rabbits, and a number of other attractive articles which must be seen to be appreciated.
