Go Slow On Court House
There is already talk of building the new court house. I hope the project is not rushed through too fast.
Many buildings of a public character have been built in Medford in the seven years or so that I have lived in the valley. I think that all of them show evidence of haste in planning and of insufficiency of money. In most of them you will find, somewhere, a scamping of materials and details. Many are defective in plan. Hardly one is a completely beautiful composition.
