SUMMER SEASON BEGINNING TODAY

It will be a surprise to most Medfordites who thought yesterday was quite warm with a maximum of 86 in the afternoon, and in view of the gradually rising temperature for several days past, that according to the astronomers the summer season only began at 2:01 p. m. today, which is called the time of the summer solstice when the sun reaches its most northerly point and apparently begins a retreat southward. L. Walter Dick, head of the local weather bureau, calmly studied this information this noon, along with a lot of high sounding words calculated to mystify, although not claiming that the U. S. weather bureau had anything to do with this solstice episode. He language, reduced to common words, imparted the information that the summer season, which began at 2:01 p. m., ends at the time of autumnal equinox, which this year comes at 4:52 p. m. on September 23, next. The reporter interprets this to mean that the autumn season begins at the latter hour. The winter solstice, the government weather sharp went on to relate, will occur at 11:03 p. m. December 21 next. Of course the times mentioned are all Pacific coast time. However, the U. S. weather bureau considers June, July and August as the summer months; September, October and November as the autumn months; January and February as the winter months, and March, April and May as the spring months. Contrary to general supposition, yesterday's maximum of 86 was not the highest of the season so far, as the maximum of 91 on May 21, last, holds this record. There were ten consecutive days, from May 14 to May 23, inclusive, when the maximum temperature was over 80 degrees.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—A brisk demand for U. S. Steel common stock, and Anaconda Copper, coupled with the buoyancy of a few high priced industrials, featured the resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market. Trading showed a marked expansion in breadth and volume, which was construed as an indication of increasing public participation. Call money renewed at 7 per cent but the supply at that figure was small and there was a possibility that the rate might work higher. The close was strong. Total sales approximated 3,200,000 shares.

UNKNOWN SURPRISES FRENCH RING HOPE

PARIS, June 21.—(AP)—What looked like a sure spot for Spider Pladner turned out to be a very hard one, and as a result the little French fighter is in the hospital today instead of preparing for a trip to the rings of the United States. Pladner entered the ring last night against Gene Hunt, an all-moose, unknown French bantamweight. He came out with the worst beating of his career, being knocked down 18 times before the referee stepped in to halt the slaughter.
