WATER CARNIVAL ENDS RED CROSS SWIMMING CLASS

Old Father Neptune held court in the Natatorium yesterday afternoon from 2 to 4:30, when the annual water carnival observed by the Red Cross as the climax of the free swimming school, was staged before an enthusiastic crowd of spectators.

The participants in the carnival ranged from beginners of four years old to full-grown young men and women. One beginners' class with children from four to eight demonstrated to the crowd just what it was like not to be afraid of the water, some of them even showing considerable skill in swimming and floating.

George Huchling, who has conducted the swimming school for the past few weeks, assisted by Golda Boone, announced the various events of the carnival, while W. W. Allen, Lee Bricker and Mrs. McDonald of the Natatorium acted as judges.

The grand prize for the most accomplished swimmer was awarded to Evelyn Swanne. This was a permit from Merricks, owner of the Natatorium. The other awards follow: Free style seniors, Don McLaughlin; junior boys' relay, Walt Young, Phil Quisenberry and Stanley McKinnie; senior relay, Mollie Huchling; diving for plate, Stanley McKinnie; watermelon polo, won by the pirates; novice race, boys, Herbert Neilson; girls, Dorothy Wilson and Bertha Paute; disrobe race, Helen Patton and Marjorie McNeil; balloon race, Bob Fowler; egg and spoon race, Evelyn Swanne; candle race, Evelyn Swanne; freed swimmers, Phil Quisenberry and Don Wood; free style boys under 12, Perry Crawford; free style girls under 12, Helen Patton.

Demonstrations in resuscitation and life saving were also given by the young students of the school, as well as various swimming strokes and high diving.

A comedy feature of the program was a bathing beauty contest, the prize winner being determined by the applause of the audience. Boyish forms predominated, and the "girls," chewing gum and profusely painted, paraded as follows: Miss Toib, Charles Barner.

NO INTERFERENCE FROM HAMLIN IS EDICT ON MATCH

If Vicat Hamlin, Portland wrestling instructor and manager of Bob Kruse, Portland wrestler, carries out plans he has voiced, it is likely there may be trouble at the Armory next Monday night when Kruse meets Jack Romona, Los Angeles heavyweight, in a return match. Hamlin has telephoned from Portland that he will accompany Kruse to Medford, coach him from the corner and more or less act as a second referee. The match will be given under the auspices of the Medford American Legion post.

However, Sailor Jack Wood said today Hamlin's plans will go unfulfilled as no coaching will be allowed and Hamlin will keep his place as an ordinary spectator. Wood has already seen Chief of Police McFreddie and has enlisted his cooperation in keeping Hamlin quiet. The Portland promoter's plans indicate he is worried over the welfare of his charge when in the ring with Romona, as the latter is determined to take two straight falls, after losing a match to Kruse last Tuesday.

Interest is high in the match among Medford wrestling fans and is a popular topic of discussion, with the majority agreed that Kruse has a decisive defeat coming to him. It probably would not take much encouragement for fans to take a part in the match themselves Monday night if Kruse continues his rough work.

Bonanza is a clean wrestler and resorted to roughness only when Kruse became rough. He has the physique of a Greek god and in his last match was an object of general admiration.

Two good preliminaries will precede the main event, presenting local boys.

Miss Ashland, Paul Turner; Miss Gold Hill, Don McLaughlin; Miss Medford, Bill Woodford; Miss Talent, Stanley McKinnie; Miss Phoenix, Harry Robinson; Miss Central Point and Miss Jacksonville were represented respectively by Margaret Turner and Golda Boone, the latter getting the greater amount of applause.
