

BAREFOOT BOY IN QUEST OF PARENT AIDED BY COUNTY

Any one might mistake him for the original Tom Sawyer, this barefoot lad of 12, in tattered overalls patched over the knees, who spent the morning reading in the cool luxury of the J. E. Daniels front porch next the court house. He might be taken for the immortal Tom, come to life, only his name is Wallace Woodard, and he arrived in Medford under the care of the deputy sheriff, after several days and nights spent on the road from Portland as far as Louie River.

BIG FRANCHISE IS AWARDED TO LOCAL DRUGGIST

Local citizens who have heard of the amazing results which have been accomplished by Sargon will be interested in the important announcement that this new and scientific formula can now be obtained in this city.

Manufacturers of this revolutionary formula have followed out the policy of selecting outstanding firms as exclusive agents in every city where the new medicine has been introduced.

Never before in the history of the world has the progress of Medical Science been so rapid. One important discovery after another has been made which will have a far-reaching effect upon the health and well-being of mankind.

As a result of this world-wide medical research, Science has discovered that good health is largely governed and maintained by three vital organs and fluids of the body. These are the liver, the blood and the endocrine glands.

What is more important, we have learned that these organs and fluids can be stimulated and invigorated by certain basic elements.

Having knowledge of these important discoveries, one of America's leading bio-chemists succeeded after two and one-half years of laboratory research, in combining these basic elements in one formula.

It is called Sargon. This formula and the formula for Sargon Soft Mass Pills, which are an essential and integral part of the treatment, are the property of the Sargon Laboratories and can be obtained by no other firm or individual in the world.

This new scientific treatment, which represents much of our latest knowledge on modern therapy, has been acclaimed by druggists throughout America as a triumph in the field of medicine.

With the needs of their customers uppermost in their minds, leading druggists everywhere have been eager to be among the first to supply it to their trade.

Although introduced in the West only a few weeks ago, Sargon has already become a household word. In Portland, Seattle and Spokane alone, over 65,000 bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have been sold and distributed by local firms. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

As a matter of fact, the marvelous success achieved by this remarkable medicine actually staggers the imagination. The demand for Sargon has been positively phenomenal and is probably unprecedented in the history of the drug trade.

In the state of California alone, the astounding total of eight, one-tire cartloads was required to supply the tremendous demand during the first sixty days this remarkable medicine was on sale. Six solid cartloads were ordered by Texas firms the first ninety days after its introduction in that state.

The success of Sargon in Minnesota has been so overwhelming that the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, are selling it at the rate of $200,000 a year through retail channels alone, to say nothing of the immense wholesale distribution.

One of the large users of newspaper space all over the country that has just recently placed its popular products on the market in the west and is using a selected list of coast newspapers, including the Mail Tribune, is Sargon. The first ad appears today with the Mail store as the dealer.

Sargon is advertised as "The new scientific treatment, which represents much of our latest knowledge on modern therapy, has been acclaimed by druggists throughout America as a triumph in the field of medicine."

care of a man named Higgins, according to the story, while she returned to Los Angeles where she was to undergo a major operation at the county hospital. That is the last he heard from his mother. Getting up at six in the morning and doing strenuous farm work before breakfast, especially when a fellow is growing and gets "awful hungry" didn't set so well. Mr. Higgins' son didn't have to do that, he said. So Wallace gave sufficient notice that he was going to leave and try and find his mother. He had received word from one of his other half-sisters that she was starting north and would probably be at Medford.

Wallace says he left Portland at 7:20 a. m. Friday, having been given a dollar and a half and a lunch by Mr. Higgins. The first night the 12-year-old boy was chased by a half dog, and climbed up onto a haystack to escape him. The dog was still after him, when its owner came out of a farm house and called it off. The boy was allowed to sleep in the loft of the barn.

The next two nights he slept in fields and last night was picked up on the road by a kindly-looking man, near Rogue River.

"It wasn't scared exactly when he told me he was a sheriff—but I was a little startled," Wallace admitted grinning broadly over the top of his head. "This man phoned to Medford to a man named Ralph, and he sent somebody out there after me."

The boy was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniels, the latter putting him to bed after giving him a nourishing soup supper last night. The local sheriff sent a wife to an acquaintance whose name was given by the boy, in an attempt to locate his mother.

In the meantime, Wallace hopes he may get a job of some kind locally, so that he can earn his "board and keep" and something to help with his expenses at home.

He is in the seventh grade at school, and wants to return to his classes in the fall if everything goes well.

Since his arrival at the Daniels home, the name of his mother has entered frequently into his conversation. He did not want to go to sleep last night until the local officials had called the standard agencies and inquired as to whether his mother were there by any chance.

"When I grow up, I'm going to be an electrical engineer and make lots of money for mother and me," he said.

BACK SCRATCH COSTS LIFE OF RANCH HORSE

An aged horse at the Three Oaks orchard this morning rubbed so hard against a power line pole in the barnyard that the pole fell down, killed the horse and three high-power wires across the roof of an oil building, a barn and a machine shop. The grass about the building caught fire from the wire but the flames were extinguished before they reached any of the nearby structures. The horse was valued at $150 and was buried where he fell.

KMX TO DEDICATE RADIO BROADCAST STATE OF OREGON

A program dedicated to the state of Oregon is to be broadcast from station KMX Friday evening, July 5, at 7:30 o'clock, Pacific standard time. Songs and music typical of Oregon, together with descriptions of familiar landmarks, will make this radio program of unusual interest. Radio vision, if perfected, would bring the actual scenes of this state before the eyes of the country—but in its place words and music will recall former residents of Oregon to the cities of their childhood.

KMX, the most modern 5000-watt station in western America, is located in Hollywood, California and broadcasts on a wave length of 1050 kilocycles or 285.5 meters.

Each Friday at the same hour KMX broadcasts a program dedicated to one of the 48 states. This is the first time a radio station has attempted to acquaint the nation with the cities and towns of other states, and no other program has met such general popularity all over the country.

It should prove especially enjoyable to residents of Oregon to hear Friday evening's program, which will originate in the Paramount motion picture studios set in the main studio of KMX.

VISITING EDUCATORS PRAISE ROGUE VALLEY

Two well-known Pacific coast educators, Miss Liddies, the retiring head of the Hanson school for girls at Berkeley, Cal., and Miss Tolle, who succeeds her in that position, spent Sunday in Medford while motoring north to Seattle for a visit with Katherine Caley, who has a school for girls in that city.

The visitors, who drove through a large part of the valley on a sightseeing trip and had dinner at the Blue Flower Lodge, expressed themselves as delighted with the city and valley, its wonderful location and advantages. They told a prominent resident, who was their guide on this sightseeing trip, that while they had often heard much praise of Medford and its environment, high quality of citizenship, general liveliness and up-to-date appearance, they were most agreeably surprised at what they saw and were very profuse in their praise of city and valley.

HARTMANN DECISION UP TO NEW REGENTS

It is not expected that a decision in the matter of securing the services of Prof. E. T. Hartmann of the Oregon State college to go east to study fruit marketing and storage conditions will be made by the present board of regents of the institution, as they would do, when they returned from their present tour of the state institutions.

They will retire July 1 to make way for the recently created board of higher education and the matter probably will be decided at the first meeting of that body in July.

The board of regents were favorable to the plan, provided a teacher could be secured for Professor Hartmann's place, and the new board will regard the question in the same light.

ALIMONY PLEA MADE BY GRACE MERRITT

In the circuit court yesterday afternoon the plea of Grace Merritt, former well-known valley resident, for the collection of $8000 alimony, alleged to be due from her divorced husband, George Merritt, was heard. No action was taken.

The Merritts were divorced several years ago and Mrs. Merritt was granted $30 a month alimony. She avers this has not been paid since May, 1927.

Merritt asserted that he was unable to make the payments because of a lack of work and because he was caring for his aunt, Miss Isabelle McChilly of Jacksonville, who has been in poor health for some time. Miss McCully is a widely known Jackson county pioneer.

CENTRAL POINT YOUTH IS INJURED BY CRASH

Lloyd Kline of Central Point lies in Community hospital suffering from injuries sustained last evening when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile driven by John Lathrop of Central Point. Kline was resting easily, and the full extent of his injuries had not been determined by Dr. Charles T. Sawney.

The accident occurred at a street intersection in Central Point. Traffic Officer Charles Tolant and Herbert Moore investigated and reported that the motorcycle Kline was riding was struck broadside. The auto swerved, knocking off a wheel.

MRS. VERA HALL IS NEW LEADER LEGION LADIES

The American Legion Auxiliary met in regular business session last evening in the armory club rooms. Mr. Chaney was introduced early in the evening and outlined the plans of the Legion for rebuilding the Boy Scout camp on the Applegate, asking the Auxiliary to co-operate by bringing lunches on Sunday, June 30. Many of the members present indicated their intention of going and it was believed that many more not present would attend. The president expressed the wish that there might be a large turnout, saying that when the Legion built the camp the first time it was a very enjoyable affair.

Electron of officers was then held with the following results: Mrs. Vera Hall, president; Mrs. Ruth Parker, first vice-president; Mrs. Graybill, second vice-president; Irene Humphries, recording secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Inez Nichols, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Minnie Bryant, historian; Mrs. Norman Martin, sergeant at arms; the executive committee—Mesdames Louise Brecker, Helene Willson and Elizabeth Fluhrer.

It was voted to send the five incoming officers to represent the unit at the state convention to be held in Salem August 8, 9 and 10, this making Mesdames Hall, Parker, Graybill, Humphries and Nichols as delegates, with alternates as follows: Mesdames Brecker, Garlock, Fluhrer, Hatch and Daily.

Mrs. Helene Willson explained the plans of the Girl Scouts for the summer and stated they would need funds, concluding with the motion that the unit give them the $10 which the budget provides to help the girls defray the expense of going into summer camp. This motion was heartily approved by the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Garlock told in a few words how the Medford unit had been honored by having a state vice-president the past year, and to assure Mrs. Mary Chaney of their whole hearted support in her candidacy for department president, president in with a little token to wish her well.

Ian Keith plays opposite the star with Otto Matiesen in a role of almost equal importance. In "Prisoners" Miss Griffith has the role of a Hungarian girl who is first an entertainer in a gay Viennese night club and later a waitress in Koré's pastry shop in the picturesque little town of Trovador near Budapest. The part affords Corinne an excellent opportunity for contrast, as she is just an adventurous coquette leading a very Bohemian existence and later an awakened woman fighting for a great love and for freedom from the past which has enslaved her.
