Gangsters Finish a Job. Make Your Vows a Movie Reporting Is Easier. Eight Big Men.

New York gangsters finished a job on Monday night. After the usual "ride" Frank Marlow, prizefight promoter and all-around "racketeer," according to the police, was thrown from an automobile with shots in the temple, the jaw and the neck—he died soon after the police picked him up.

Such killings are commonplace features of our interesting crime wave. The only unusual feature is the finding of a stab wound in the victim's side, partly healed.

An attempt to kill him about two weeks ago had failed. The killers returned to their job and finished it.

They are "diligent in their business."

Judge Rhoades, of the Omaha court of domestic relations, suggests to discourage divorce: "Make a talking moving picture of each marriage."

"When a divorce is talked of later, make the husband and wife listen to their voices making solemn vows of eternal fidelity, 'til death do us part."

The judge thinks that would touch their hearts and make man and wife say "No, we don't want any divorce."

It might, perhaps, but not certainly.

There are men and women, too, that cannot even bear to think of those vows, much less to hear them over again, especially when they were made without reflection.

An Associated Press reporter, flying through the clouds above New Jersey Tuesday, talked by trans-Atlantic wireless telephone to Miss Dalrymple of the Associated Press staff in London.

That's an improvement on old days when Bogart was city editor, and Charles A. Dana, boss editor of the New York Sun, and the Pennsylvania ferry house burned down across the river from Cortlandt street.

A Sun reporter had to cross by ferry to Hoboken, run all the way to the Pennsylvania ferry in Jersey City to get the facts, and run all the way back to Hoboken. No taxis, no electric street cars, no telephones or wireless.

Different, also, was the day when S. S. Carvalho, a young reporter, went out to find a big negro murderer, found him, cornered and covered him with

REVOLT OF DAWES AGAINST KNEE BREECHES PRESENTATION IS PROBLEM FOR LORD CHAMBERLAIN—EIGHT DEBS PRESENTED BY MRS. DAWES—WALES CHATS WITH PRINCESS INGRID.

LONDON, June 27.—(AP) The revolt of Ambassador Dawes against the knee breeches custom has inspired much comment in London.

"We think General Dawes was probably right. At Rome one does as Rome does, within limits, but we see no reason why an American diplomat should change the costume in which he would wait upon his own president for the family of the country to which he is accredited. If he were a foreign general on the active list, he would appear at court in the uniform of his rank and the uniform of his rank as an American ambassador is ordinary evening dress."

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, attending his first court last evening, appeared in sombre black evening dress. His predecessors, George Harvey, Alanson Houghton and others on such occasions wore the silk knee breeches and slippers demanded by English custom.

The general and Mrs. Dawes paid their respects to Queen Mary and others in the royal circle, after which Mrs. Dawes introduced eight American women to her majesty.

Queen Mary wore a gown of green and gold, with a diamond crown, the famous diamonds known as the "Lesser Stars of Africa," and the Order of the Garter. The Prince of Wales, in the scarlet uniform of a colonel of the Welsh Guards, walked with his mother, taking the place of King George, whose illness prevented attendance.

The Prince of Wales chatted long with Princess Ingrid of Sweden, whose name, despite court denials, recently has been linked with his for a possible royal marriage. Others in the royal circle were the veteran Duke of Connaught, Prince George, the Duchess of York, and Lady Patricia Ramsay.

Eight debutantes and young matrons will be presented by Mrs. Dawes tonight at the fourth Buckingham palace court. Those making their bow will be Misses Annie E. Nourse, Boston; Mary E. Riddle, Cambridge, Mass.; and Misses Elizabeth Stuart, Cambridge, Mass.; and Misses Elizabeth Stuart, Cambridge, Mass.; and Misses Elizabeth Stuart, Cambridge, Mass.

Those introduced last night were Misses Frances M. Barclay, New York; Rosemary Baur, Chicago; Dorothy Chase, Waterbury, Conn.; Natalie Cox, New York; Pauline Fenno, Boston; Lillian Sanger, New York, and Aymar Johnson of New York.

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Ambassador Hugh Gibson discussed methods of approach on the naval disarmament problem with Premier Ramsay MacDonald on Tuesday, but reached no definite form. Ambassador Dawes announced this afternoon at a press conference.

Announcements regarding matters of procedure in attacking the naval problem must be made by those in authority in the countries concerned and not by ambassadors, "who are merely agents," he said.

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—The Right Hon. Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, is entitled to attend the levee of the Prince of Wales next Tuesday. Knee breeches and cocked hats are prescribed by custom on the occasion. Miss Bondfield has decided to be absent.

DRUNK DRIVER UNCLE SAM TO CAUSES DEATH END YEAR WITH 'FRISCO WOMEN LARGE SURPLUS

Palo Alto Hospital Attendant Crashes Into Crocker Limousine—Widow of Capitalist and Mrs. Mont-eagle Are Killed.

REDWOOD CITY, June 27.—(AP)—Investigating officers announced today that formal charges of manslaughter and driving while drunk probably would be filed against Carl Flannigan, Palo Alto hospital attendant and driver of the automobile that crashed into a limousine and killed two San Francisco society women near Menlo park yesterday.

Muttering and otherwise acting queerly, Flannigan was brought here yesterday and put into a padded cell after he had been examined by Dr. Harper Peidicord. The physician declared Flannigan had been intoxicated.

The victims of the crash, Mrs. Henery J. Crocker, widow of a San Francisco capitalist, and Mrs. Louis Montague, prominent in philanthropy in the bay district, apparently were killed instantly when Flannigan's car, coming suddenly out of a cross road, struck the Crocker automobile and jammed it into a tree at the side of the highway.

Officers said they had located persons who would testify that Flannigan's car had been moving along the lateral road at 40 to 50 miles an hour just before the crash.

TEST AIR BRAKE ON S. P. GRADES OF SO. OREGON

Most Extensive Tests in History of Transportation to Be Made By Railway Association—Hornbrook to Eugene Is Site.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 27.—(AP) Northern California and southern Oregon will be made the proving ground in one of the most extensive tests of air brakes in the history of transportation, Harley A. Johnson, general manager of the Chicago Rapid Transit company, yesterday told the mechanical division of the American Railway association. The mechanical division is holding its tenth annual convention here.

"The tests will be under way by August 1 and will cost more than $1,000,000," said Johnson, reporting on safety appliances.

"After making an exhaustive survey of all railroads in America and Canada, the association selected 260 miles of the Southern Pacific railroad between Hornbrook, Cal., and Eugene, Ore., as being the best adapted for the tryout."

The test section of road includes a level stretch near Walker, 25 miles south of Eugene, and 25 miles of steady average grade from Grants Pass to Ashland, Ore., and heavy mountain grade between Ashland and Hornbrook, over the Siskiyou mountains.

D. ROSENBERG ELECTED HEAD TRAFFIC ASSN.

W. H. Hamill, Vice-President—C. T. Baker, Secretary—Rawles Moore, Counsellor—Directors Re-elected—Banks Gives Views.

DAVID ROSENBERG, co-owner of the Bear Creek Orchard, and long active in the development of the Rogue River valley, as a grower and shipper, was elected president of the Rogue River Traffic association, at the annual election held this noon, at the regular weekly meeting.

He declared there was little difference in meaning between "co-operation and conspiracy, and are so darn close together, it depends on which way you are looking."

Mr. Banks claimed that by using a printer in his packing house, he was able to save $1000 per month on labels, etc. He told the packers that the label that looked pretty on their desk, or on a lone box might not appear so magnificent with 500 other boxes on the dock in New York city.

He said that he intended to start off the Bartlett price at "around $2.50 to $2.75, and that he had figured on from 35 to 40 cents as packing charge. He said last year on this base price, "I showed a margin of $11,000."

David Rosenberg, upon taking the chair as the newly elected president, thanked Mr. Banks for his frankness, and invited Mr. Banks to present his figures on his 40 cent per box packing charge. He said the committee that fixed a tentative packing charge were experienced growers and packers, had studied the problem for weeks, and that the Banks figures would be interesting and helpful, and an aid to re-adjustment.

WILL ROGERS SAYS: BEVERLY HILLS, CAL.

June 27.—See the Lindberghs are flying west. They have their camping outfit with 'em. If somebody lands in your back yard and you smell bacon frying, it won't be a soul but Annie and Charley. He is the first aviator and his own cook. Lucky for aviation that he picked that sensible girl. Where would we have been if he had married some girl that thought her husband was too valuable to fly?

See where Fletcher, our ambassador to Rome, is retiring. He always struck me as being about the best man we had in that service.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

PROHI PLAN IN SCHOOLS IS HALTED

Hoover Intervened to Stop Use of Schools for Dissemination of Prohibition Propaganda—First Information Gleaned From Newspaper—Disapproval Voiced.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—President Hoover personally intervened to halt the plan of the prohibition unit to use the public schools of the country for dissemination of prohibition law observance propaganda.

The president's first information concerning the issuing of a pamphlet proposing a course of prohibition study in the public schools was gleaned from the newspapers. He immediately signified his emphatic disapproval to treasury officials, who said that they themselves were unaware of the proposed campaign.

Using proceeds from a fund of $50,000 made available by congress for the dissemination of prohibition literature, Miss Anna D. Snitter, of the statistical and educational division of the prohibition bureau, had caused the pamphlet to be prepared for general circulation at the meeting tomorrow of the National Educational association at Atlanta. She had gathered together other literature in her proposed campaign of education.
