

Local and Personal

This will be one of the great weeks of the year, and a short one with most people because of the Fourth of July coming next Thursday, and therefore being a holiday. The coming of the Fourth in the middle of the week presents a double holiday for the majority, but many who are tied up with their business will not be able to enjoy a double holiday. In general the local people will attend various Fourth of July celebrations held in cities to which roads have been made in one day, or on family outings or fishing at the river and other streams.
